NEW GERMAN OFFENSIVE EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 2.—The British armies were waiting today for the next move along the extended battle front. Possibly the enemy also was waiting for the British to show their hand, but the probabilities are that the Germans were not quite ready to begin the struggle anew in the north.

In any event, the infantry on both sides were resting on their arms in most places up to noon of Tuesday.

Notwithstanding the inactivity along the British line, no one doubted that the STORM would BREAK again WITH GREAT VIOLENCE, and FURTHER ACTIVITY is EXPECTED at ANY HOUR. Meanwhile the delay is working to the advantage of the Allies, who are rapidly perfecting their plans to meet the next onslaught.

Lenroot Leads in Wisconsin

TRIUMP FOR LOYALTY IN SENATOR RACE

State Overwhelmingly Defeats Victor Berger, Socialist Candidate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) April 3, 2 a.m.—On the face of returns to this hour, Lenroot is expected to carry the State by 12,000 to 15,000. Partial returns from fifty-six out of seventy-one counties gave Lenroot 92,677; Davies, 82,775, and Berger, 55,006.

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—On the face of newspaper returns tonight Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot, Republican, was elected today to the United States Senate by a plurality of from 8000 to 12,000 over Joseph E. Davies, Democrat, and choice of President Wilson for the office.

On the basis of Republican and Democratic assertion that the disloyal vote would go to Victor L. Berger, the Socialist candidate, now under indictment for alleged seditious utterances, Wisconsin has voted herself loyal by three or four to one.

The midnight returns were from forty-three counties out of seventy-one. They gave Lenroot 69,372; Davies, 64,810, and Berger, 44,154.

The missing counties are all normally Republican except one.

The strength of Davies in the northern and western part of the State came as a surprise to the Lenroot managers, who rapidly scaled down their claims as the returns dribbled in. Early predictions of a landslide for Lenroot were based on high strength in Democratic communities, which were, as usual, the first to report.

In the northwest the plea, "Wilson wants Davies," cut into the normal Lenroot strength.

Berger led the field in Milwaukee county and Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist candidate for Mayor, was re-elected.

The increase in the Socialist vote, which totaled but 38,564 at the primary election, was said to have been recruited from the German element in the La Follette faction which opposed Lenroot at the primaries.

DUTCH SHIPS EN ROUTE WILL NOT BE TAKEN.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The American government has decided that Dutch ships en route to the United States from Holland at the time the Dutch shipping in American ports was requisitioned will not be taken over on arrival here.

The War Trade Board announced tonight that inasmuch as the requisitioning had been done according to President Wilson's proclamation, to restore the ships laid up in American harbors to their normal activity, it was not intended to take the use of those which were in service from Holland, when the proclamation was issued.

The American government is expected soon to reply to Holland's formal protest against the ship seizure. It is expected that the reply will go more fully into the legal phases of the question and will cite additional reasons why the action was justifiable.

L. A. Bandits Use Trap to Rob Victims

Three men early today and late last night were robbed at the point of a gun by bandits who operated a "hold-up trap" in front of an alley near Sixth and Crocker street, stripping victims of money and valuables and compelling them to remain quiet while they robbed others.

Stepping aside to evade one man he noticed standing behind a telephone pole near Sixth and Crocker street, Thomas S. Cook of No. 624 Crocker street late last night walked directly into a trap laid for him by the lone man's companion and was held up and robbed of $27, his watch, chain and a few trinkets.

The two bandits were armed with guns and stood in a doorway of a house, where they were out of sight. When their companion, who was stationed opposite them, made a move toward Cook he caused the victim to step directly into the muzzles of the waiting guns, Cook reported to Detectives Houston and Curtis of the flying squadron. The bandits were youths of not more than 20 years each.

As the bandits completed the robbery of Cook, another man was seen approaching. "Step back here," was a curt command to Cook from one of the gunmen, who pressed a revolver against his side and made him keep still.

The next victim was H. J. Broderick of No. 625 San Julian street. He was held up in the same manner and relieved of $43 and everything of value in his possession. Then Cook and Broderick were told to go and warned not to make an outcry. As the men reached the corner they saw a third victim approaching the trap, but were unable to learn of his fate or give the police any other detail.

MACHINE SHOP BLAST KILLS SIX, ONE WOMAN.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) April 2.—Six workmen, one of them a woman machinist's helper, are dead, seven others are in hospitals recovering from severe injuries and nearly a score of workmen are slightly hurt, as a result of an explosion today in the machine shop of the Flannery Bolt Company's plant at Bridgeville, a suburb. Ignition of several hundred gallons of oil was responsible for the explosion, which showered burning oil on all the employees of the machine shop.

Jeanette Barnwell, 19, one of the victims, was the first of several thousand women who have taken up work in plants in the Pittsburgh district to meet death in an industrial accident.

THREE KILLED BY MISSOURI TORNADO.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) April 2.—Three persons were killed, several were injured and a number of houses demolished by a tornado which struck New Florence, Mo., eighty-five miles west of here, tonight, according to a telephone message received here tonight. New Florence has a population of 500.

THREE DEAD, TWELVE INJURED BY CYCLONE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ESSEX (Mo.) April 2.—Three persons were killed and twelve injured tonight when a cyclone, traveling in a northwest direction, struck Hunterville, a small town east of here. Grayington, two miles further east, was also struck by the storm, but no lives are reported lost there.

ATTACKS OF TEUTONS DIE OUT ON THE ENTIRE FRONT, HAIG REPORTS

LONDON, April 2.—The report from Field Marshal Haig's headquarters in France tonight says: "Except for minor enterprises which we carried out in the neighborhood of Serre, and as a result of which we captured a German post, the day passed more quietly on the whole battle front."

The general situation at the moment, as described by Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters, is that the main movement of fresh enemy troops and others that are moderately fresh continues to be toward the zone between the Somme and Montdidier. North of the Somme the British have succeeded in stabilizing the line, at any rate for the time being.

There has been a considerable increase in the artillery fire against the British positions at Passchendaele and on the Goeberg ridge in Belgium, northeast of Ypres. The correspondent says, however, that the Germans were committed so heavily to the present battle front that it is not easy to believe they will try an offensive elsewhere.

The War Office announcement this evening says:

"The day passed quietly on the British front. There was no serious fighting on the French front."

PRISONERS TAKEN.

In the sector between the Avre and Luce rivers yesterday the British took fifty prisoners, the War Office announces. Thirteen machine guns were captured.

Near Hebuterne the British made a successful stand, capturing machine guns and prisoners. A German counter-attack was repulsed. The statement follows:

"In the course of the fighting yesterday in the area between the Avre and the Luce rivers we captured fifty prisoners and thirteen machine guns. A large number of German dead were found and two counter-attacks attempted by the enemy later in the day were broken up with heavy losses by our artillery.

"A successful local enterprise carried out by us in the neighborhood of Hebuterne resulted in the capture of seventy-three prisoners and three machine guns. Many Germans were killed in this operation also and a hostile counter-attack during the afternoon was completely repulsed."

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN (via London) April 2.—"Enemy counter-attacks near Hebuterne and against the heights captured by us between the Luce and the Avre," says the report from general headquarters today, "broke down with heavy losses." The text reads:

"Western theater: The position on the battlefield is unchanged. Counter attacks made by enemy near Hebuterne and with special stubbornness against heights captured by us between the Luce and the Avre broke down with heavy losses. Minor infantry engagements took place between the Avre and the Oise.

"The French have continued to shell Laon and numerous of the inhabitants have fallen victims. Reconnoitering engagements occurred on the eastern bank of the Meuse near Handlomont and southeast of Thiaucourt; some prisoners were brought in.

"Twenty-two enemy airplanes and five captive balloons were brought down. Lieut Kroll won his twenty-third aerial victory. By the energetic carrying out of long-distance observation from the coast as far as south of the Somme aerial detachment No. 23 under Lieut. Fricke, rendered extraordinary service.

"In the other theaters there is nothing new."

AUSTRIANS CAPTURED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, April 2.—"Our patrols were active in the Tonale area and in Val Arsa, capturing a few prisoners," says today's official report from headquarters. "In Giudicaria and east of Ponte Della Priula enemy parties were driven back by rifle fire.

"Along the whole front there has been slight artillery activity. Bad weather has hindered aerial activity."

PARIS OFFICIAL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 2.—The War Office announcement tonight says:

"The day was marked by quite spirited artillery fighting, particularly between Montdidier and Lassigny. Our batteries caught under their fire enemy concentrations east of Cantigny. A strong German reconnaissance attacked by our troops on the left bank of the Oise, southwest of Servias, was repulsed.

"In the Woevre and Upper Alsace enemy attacks were without result."

ONE ARMY FACES FOE.

Our Men Fill up Depleted Units.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—While the battle in Picardy halted today in a lull that may only foreshadow the breaking of a new and more terrible storm, American troops were hastening to join in the fray with their French and British comrades.

Formal announcement from London that these units would be merged with the Allied war machines indicated to officials that losses of the Allies would be immediately made good with vigorous, young Americans, keen for battle, and the stage set without delay, not only for a counter-offensive, but for aggressive warfare without pause until the German invader shall not only be checked, but hurled back to ultimate military defeat.

President Wilson has predicted that this will be the decisive year of the war. In the opinion of the military officers here, he has now taken the decisive step toward making his words good.

NO EXPLANATION.

No explanation of the announcement from London was made today at the War Department. Probably not more than a very few of the highest officials know precisely what method is to be adopted to rush additional forces to France.

Instead of an explanation, Maj.-Gen. March, acting chief of staff, made public an order from Secretary Baker, now in Europe, directing that hereafter all information regarding the activities of American troops overseas be centralized in Gen. Pershing's hands. The War Department will not give out any statements relating to those forces. Presumably, under the new plan of merging American units in the Allied armies, and also because of the creation of a supreme commander in the person of Gen. Foch, it has been found advisable to provide for a uniform system of reporting military operations.

Reviewing the meager information that has been available as to the great things that have been accomplished since the German drive began, many officials were convinced tonight that Mr. Baker had been sent to Europe by President Wilson for the purpose of bringing about just the amalgamation of forces that has been effected. In urging single command for the whole battle front in the west, it was re-

SPORT O'MALLEY AT BALL GAME SEES ANGELS LOSE TO SALT LAKE.

BY EDWIN F. O'MALLEY.

In accents sad and mild—Salt Lake 7, Los Angeles 5; incidentally were big, juicy smiles for his Mormon Majesty, Walter McCredie. Gen. Killefer was beaten, but not disgraced. His undoing was compassed through a tactical blunder just as a flanking movement, which he had ordered at a critical moment, was about to be realized.

Gen. McCredie after five successful attacks had driven the Angels back to their second line of defense. He had captured seven important guns and it looked for a spell as if the Powers' shock troops would be entirely routed. Here it was that Gen. Killefer gave out his famous dictum, "Los Angeles expects every man to do his duty."

The guns were rushed to the rear. In a fifty a murderous fire was centered on Leverens, a salient that had been pushed well forward into the Angel's terrain. Reinforcements were brought up and after a withering barrage, the enemy was driven back and had to straighten out to avoid a flanking turn.

The Angels had captured four guns and were sweeping everything before them. Had Gen. Killefer been up to the machine gun enfilade that would have carried Leverens by storm. Here it was that he ordered the grenades to be thrown. Capt. Chalk threw one, but it missed fire and Corp. Portica did the same. Had Killefer persisted in the machine gun firing he would probably have routed the enemy. Leverens appeared to be in his very grasp. The Angels dug themselves in therefore and clung tenaciously to their new ground.

LOTS OF PASSES.

The opening battle at Washington Park will long be remembered as one of the few the enemy ever won in his early spring drive. But let us have aside and get down to baseball diversions.

Gen. Killefer, not possessing the uncanny magic of McCredie was unable to charm the fit out of Fittery. The fit worked good, early and proper. When the Bees weren't walloping his offerings, they stood still and allowed him to curve the pill almost beyond the ken of Umpire Feary. His passes almost equaled those that Charley McHugh used to carry about him of McCarey's city bull list on July 4th, at Vernon. The elegy follows:

In the first inning Farmer binged one to right. Siglin punted to Fittery, who threw low to Wilson, Farmer tallying and Paddy taking second. Chapelle out, Terry to Fournier; Siglin running over to the third bag. Ryan bounded a beauty to center, sending Paddy across the rubber. Sheeley walked. Orr poled one to right, but Wahoo made a beautiful peg to the plate, nailing Ryan. Crandall assaulted the air. Two runs, three hits.

The visitors added three more runs in the third. Chapelle ambled. Ryan actually whiffed. Chapelle stole second. Sheeley transported. Orr sheiled to Ellis. Crandall bowled one to left, scoring Chapelle. Konnick free passed. Leverens leaned on one to left, putting Sheeley and Crandall over the rubber. Farmer fouled to Wilson. Three runs, two hits.

BATTING STREAK.

The Angels worked themselves into a batting streak in the sixth and very nearly put Leverens out of business. Terry singled. Schick walked. Crawford singled to right, scoring Zeb and putting Schick on third. Fournier singled, scoring Schick and putting Crawford on third. Rube shot one to center, scoring Crawford. Boles put one in left-center, scoring Fournier.

It was here they were smashing Leverens all over the lot, but Wilson, instead of cutting right into Leverens's weak offerings, tried to bunt, with the result that Lev caught an easy pop and threw the ball to Orr, doubling Ellis on second. Portica fanned. Five hits, four runs.

Sam Crawford was a host unto himself. He batted like a demon, was full of ginger and his throwing perfection itself. He nailed a man at the plate and another at third with pegs that would surely have put Irish Meusel to the worries had the former Angel right gardener seen it.

The Bees batted the ball hard and showed up well in the field. The team as it now stands is a corker, but is rather weak in the pitching and catching departments, but leave it to Mac to fill the crannies.

Fittery was undoubtedly not in the best of shape. He should be seen to better advantage at the next outing. Portica did well and appeared to catch on with the crowd. The score:

GERMAN MACHINE IS BROKEN; WHOLE FRONT NOW IS SILENT

With the passing of the thirteenth day of the new battle of the Somme there came increasing evidence that the great German machine with which it was intended to crush the Allied line, has almost utterly spent itself, the dislocated Prime says.

Where previously the Germans had thrown men into the fray, not counting the prodigious wastage in killed or wounded, Tuesday saw them throw anywhere to give battle. On the contrary, in what little fighting there was the British and French have took the initiative.

While admittedly both the French and British armies have suffered rather severe casualties, their reserves have been conserved with the utmost care behind the lines for the fateful time when the withering fire of the Allied guns and machine guns should have brought more equality in strength to the fighting forces. And all along, the British and French commanders have not left outside their calculations the 100,000 Americans, fully trained and equipped, and anxious to lend their aid in defeating the Germans.

Daily the German losses in men killed or wounded continue to augment as details are obtained from the Germans made prisoner. Some divisions lost as high as 70 per cent. of their effectiveness as they charged in mass formation against the British and French machine gunners and riflemen. Companies withdrew from the fighting with their combative strength reduced to forty men.

The latest accounts show no important new change in the battle front. Only minor operations took place on that portion of the line south of Arras held by the British, and little aside from artillery duels occurred between the French and the Germans further south. The fighting between the big guns was particularly heavy between Montdidier and Noyon.

RED GUARD RECRUITED FROM TEUTON DESERTERS.

BERLIN (via London) April 2.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.) The German government has addressed a note to the Russian government, in which it says German and Austrian deserters at Moscow are threatening to take forcible possession of the Swedish and Danish consulates, in the same manner that they have already taken possession of lodgings for war purposes.

"They are endeavoring by violence," says the note, "to put these prisoners into the Red Guard. The civil and military authorities at Moscow are said to be powerless and in some instances to favor such activities. The German government expects immediate energetic measures to be taken by the Russian government, and especially expects the dissolution of the War Prisoners' Committee, composed of these deserters, under the leadership of the Austrian Asenns, and the arrest of all its members.

Hungry Mexicans Neglect Planting Crops to Crowd Cities for Protection from Bandits.

License as Liberty.

RAILWAYS ARE OPERATED UNDER RULE OF RIFLES.

An International Exporter Withdraws from Southern Republic After Investigating Situation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 2.—A leading international exporter of New York told the Wall Street Journal today told why he dropped out of the Mexican trade months ago. He inquired concerning the safety of transportation and found that trains were operated by armed engineers who carried rifles for protection from bandits but who also settled the rules of the iron highway by the rifle.

Trains there travel very slowly, and when one train approaches another on a single track the engineer who gets the first drop with a gun can force the other train to back up to the siding.

Returned travelers bring occasional news from Mexico of the banditry as it spreads over the border into Texas. The fighting in the Tampico oil fields between Carranza troops and the forces of Palaez has resulted in the burning of five bridges on the Mexican Petroleum company's narrow-gauge railroad, with some other depredations and looting.

The people are still crowding the cities, are not planting wheat or corn or raising cattle as they should, and serious times are ahead in Mexico's food supply. It is calculated that food in Mexico City will be practically exhausted by the first of May, and no internal relief can be expected before the wheat harvest in June. That supply may last for three months, and then comes another period of famine until the October corn can be gathered.

FOOD PRICES.

The situation in Mexico City as regards food may be judged by the fact that flour is $50 per barrel in American money, corn $4 a bushel, and rice 16 cents a pound, and potatoes and other food in proportion.

In Mexico City only gold and silver are in circulation, and as the government demands that all export and import taxes be paid in gold, that metal is 14 per cent. premium over United States currency. Washington and Mexico City are still locked in disagreement over the gold embargo. The United States having put an embargo on gold exports, Mexico puts an embargo on exports of both gold and gold ore into this country.

Since the government confiscated railroads, telephones, Wells Fargo & Co. express and bank assets, financial institutions as rather hazardous, and bankers are able to charge 2 per cent. a month to handle accounts, while brokerage loans are made at rates of from 1 per cent. to 10 per cent. a month.

FEAR REPRISALS.

Some returning travelers are loath to give details of Mexican disorders for fear of reprisals upon their properties. It is generally realized that the government is in a bad way financially. Taxes are being steadily increased, and must be further increased, and there are proposals to confiscate foreign-owned properties for the relief of the government.

Seven years ago, Mexico was collecting about $100,000,000 a year in Mexican gold, and paying over $25,000,000 on the national debt. Four years ago the receipts were above $140,000,000 and $27,000,000 was applied to the national indebtedness. Now the expenses are $134,000,000, and there is no provision for payment on the national debt. Huge claims are rolling up against the Mexican government for use of and damages to confiscated properties, and some day there must be a reckoning with many foreign powers.

REPAIRS DEMANDED.

It is said some foreign owners have refused to receive back their property from the government until it has been repaired or put into proper operating condition.

There are now only two operating railways from Mexico City, one to the Rio Grande and one to Vera Cruz, and even these cannot be depended upon for daily service. All the other roads are being stripped of their rolling stock to keep these two lines going, while cars and engines so far as they have not been wrecked or destroyed, are piled up awaiting repairs or rebuilding in the Mexican "tomorrow," which can never arrive under present conditions of disorder.

The Carranza control reaches only so far as his two railroads can reach, and how long these can continue in operation is problematical.

Where the old Mexican Central is near the Mexican National, its rails are being torn up to repair the Mexican National and keep the line to the Rio Grande in operation.

SNOWSLIDE WIPES OUT PACKING PLANT.

JUNEAU (Alaska) April 2.—Private advices received here today say that the Alaska Packing and Herring Company's cannery at Big Port Walter was entirely wiped out by a snowslide. The plant is said to be one of the best canneries in Alaska.

THE AMERICAN FLAG

How to Properly Display and the Frequent Abuses to be Avoided.

When possible, always display on staff. If used as a banner the union should fly toward the center of street.

When displayed on automobiles, the flag should fly from front of radiator.

The flag should never be festooned over doorways, windows or arches. Do not use it as a table cover nor in show windows where merchandise is placed upon it, or over it. Let the flag always hang straight. When hoisted upside down, it is a signal of distress.

When the flag becomes faded and worn, it should be privately destroyed by burning. An act of Congress provides penalties for the desecration, mutilation or improper use of the flag. And anyone so doing is subject to arrest and punishment.

The society, Sons of the Revolution, appeal to the loyal patriotic citizens of Los Angeles to abide by and aid in every way the proper uses and manner of displaying the flag, and by so doing add respect and obedience to it.

FLAG COMMITTEE SOCIETY.
Sons of the Revolution.

William A. Bither, a City Hall "expert," at the head of his campaign committee made him a Thompson man. But the voters were doubtful. They elected Alderman Ulysses S. Schwartz by 2876, giving this Republican ward two Democratic Aldermen as a result of the attempt of the Bither forces to control it.

If there was any solace for the city administration — and that was considered laughingly small — it was in the election of a Democrat controlled by a Hoyne lieutenant, Michael F. Sullivan, in the Eighteenth. In that ward the Thompson people scratched John J. Gorman, whom the Municipal Voters' League declared the preferable man, and aided to some extent in the election of Maurice F. Kavanagh by a margin of 1426. It is now expected he will be a subservient Thompsonite in the Council.

The bitter fight in the Second, where the Madden-Harding organization faced the test of the independent candidacy of former Alderman Oscar de Priest, was won by the organization candidate, Robert R. Jackson, by 621 votes. Kuehne, the white candidate, supported by the Democratic and independent white vote, ran third, but piled up a total of 3196 votes.

DEMOCRATS GAIN.

Considered from a partisan standpoint, the election was a distinct gain for the Democrats, as every election has been since the election of William Hale Thompson as Mayor. Last year the Democrats had forty-three men in the Council, but after April 22, when the newly elected will be installed, that party will have forty-six Aldermen, almost two-thirds of the City Council. Today they elected twenty-four men in contrast to the twenty-two elected by the Republicans. The total Republican strength in this Council will be twenty-two votes. The Socialists still have two seats.

Considering the bitterness evinced by partisans of Aldermen as candidates in some hotly contested wards, there are few complaints of fraud and illegal voting registered with election commissioners.

There were some charges of irregularity made from the Second, Third and Twenty-second wards, and several poll fights were reported in the First and Eighteenth wards.

Three judges and two clerks of election in the Fifth precinct in the Second Ward were taken into custody and the ballot box seized by investigators from the election commissioner's office this evening when it was learned that twenty-one more ballots had been cast than there were names of registered voters on the poll list. Five ballots folded together as one, bearing the name of George A. Green, the Republican judge, aroused the suspicions of the election board. When the officials of the precinct declared they could not account for the extra ballots in the ballot box they were placed in charge of policemen and sent to the state's Attorney's office to be questioned. A watcher for Jackson, one of the negro candidates for Alderman in the ward, caused the investigation into the alleged fraud.

Negroes in a few instances charged that Third Ward officials had illegally erased names of eligible voters and in one precinct of the same ward it was reported that dead men and nonresidents had been voted. This was the most serious charge of the day.

JAPANESE TONNAGE TURNED TO AMERICA.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

TOKIO, Wednesday, March 27.—The amount of tonnage to be turned over to the United States by Japan under the arrangement made by the Japanese shipping commission is estimated by the press at about 250,000. Of this 150,000 tons will be provided by the government and the remainder by shipbuilders in exchange for American steel. An official announcement will be made soon.

WILL GET THIRTY SHIPS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Approximately thirty ships of 5000 tons each will be obtained from the Japanese government. The deal involves no change in ownership, but gives the United States the use of the tonnage during the war at specified rates. The United States already has obtained 160,000 tons of shipping from Japanese builders by purchase, in which the exchange of steel plates for ships played an important part.

Still other ships probably will be built for the United States in Japanese yards as a joint war measure in the fight against Germany.

LANSING POSTS BOND DODGERS.

Slackers' Names Published After Investigation.

Evaders of Liberty Loan are Forced to Explain.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LANSING (Mich.) March 30.—Residents of this city are being rated according to their patriotism as displayed by willingness to purchase Liberty Bonds. Lukewarm patriots are classified as well as those who flatly refuse to purchase. Record is made of those who have grudgingly subscribed for small amounts so obviously out of all proportions to their known ample ability as to make it perfectly clear that they are evading their just obligations and their public duty as loyal American citizens.

When the volunteer workers of Lansing found difficulty with various citizens during the first campaign it was decided some steps should be taken to remedy the situation. A committee was appointed to devise ways and means and that body later reported to the committee chairman with the plan at present being put in operation here.

The idea is to have a special committee which handles all cases where the volunteer workers report refusals to purchase bonds on request. The committee makes a special investigation. Personal calls are made upon those who have refused. The person under investigation is requested to attend a public meeting of the committee. He is given every opportunity to explain his motives. His resources are considered, and, in case of final refusal to do what the public considers his duty as an American, his name is published with the full particulars so that acquaintances will be fully informed regarding the lack of patriotism.

COMMITTEE REPORT.

In its report suggesting the investigating committee, the first body said, in part:

"The statements made to the conference based on the experience of the volunteer workers who are selling Liberty Bonds proved conclusively and beyond any possibility of doubt that an appreciable number of persons in Lansing who possess substantial means are refusing to support the Liberty Loan. Such persons constitute only a very small fraction of the total population which has rallied splendidly and enthusiastically to the call, but nevertheless they are sufficiently numerous and their resources large enough to render their attitude of nonsupport toward the loan a matter too serious to be overlooked at a time when the nation is engaged in a terrible struggle with a powerful and unscrupulous enemy whose aim and purpose it is to destroy the very institutions upon which the life of the nation is founded. The present is no time to mince words or spare feelings in dealing with persons who are obviously slacking in this desperate crisis.

"The motives which prompt these persons to hold back from doing their manifest duty should be searched out and disclosed. If their attitude is the result of careless indifference and failure to perceive clearly the needs of the hour, then for their own good and the good of the city and the nation they should be awakened to a more complete realization of the true situation and of their personal obligations to it. If their nonsupport of the loan is due to exaggerated selfishness, careless disregard of their patriotic duty and a disposition to put their private interests first, no matter how urgent the public demand may be, then to such persons the responsibilities of their citizenship should be presented so strongly and so persistently that they will at last be quickened into a sense of their real duty.

SLACKERS.

"Finally if certain persons in our midst are refusing to support the loan by giving it only trifling, technical support because of sympathy with the enemy and disloyalty in sentiment toward their own country and its government, then such persons should be made to face the issue squarely and declare themselves in their true colors that their fellow-townsmen may know who they are, where they stand and judge them accordingly. We are at war and in time of war men cannot shilly-shally and temporize with the imperative demands for the personal loyalty and financial support which was imposed on every one of us. We believe the way to deal with such persons and with all who manifestly and beyond any question of doubt are evading their just responsibilities as American citizens is to focus upon them the inquiring scrutiny of their fellow-citizens, reveal their attitude to the community at large and thus cause them to feel the full weight of an adverse and outraged public opinion working through all the social and business activities of the community life. If such persons elect to stand aloof from their fellow-citizens and have no part in sharing the burden created by the national crisis, then their position should be made clear to all in order that they may also be set apart in respect to those other community activities in which they want to share and the benefits of which they want to enjoy equally with their fellows. The greater the number who are permitted to dodge their duty and escape their share of the common sacrifice, the heavier will be that sacrifice for the loyal majority who are meeting the emergency squarely and without shirking. We contend it is manifestly unfair that a certain few should evade their responsibilities as citizens, while at the same time claiming all the privileges and enjoying the success which their citizenship and residence in the community have made possible for them. A condition like this should not be permitted to continue unchallenged any longer."

INVESTIGATION.

The report of the committee of investigation is in part as follows:

"The first step of the committee was to define and reach a clear understanding of its own status and the scope of its activities. There is no law which makes it an offense punishable in the courts for a man to play the part of a slacker and refuse moral and financial support to his government in this war, yet it seemed intolerable that these persons should enjoy all the privileges of their residence among us while shamefully evading their evident duty.

"From the start the committee was resolved to give every man requested to appear before it the benefit of all reasonable doubt, to assume that he was a loyal citizen, trying to do his duty until by his own words and attitude he proved himself otherwise.

"Furthermore, it seemed evident to the committee that both the individual and the nation are better served by converting an indifferent or selfish man into a good citizen than by heaping contempt upon him and branding him a slacker without making every effort to show him why he is wrong, and giving him every chance to vindicate himself. On the other hand, the committee did not lose sight of the fact that the issue which every man must face is simple and clear-cut. In time of war no man may stand apart and plead selfish or trifling excuses in extenuation of his failure to give active and whole-hearted aid to his country. There can be no such a thing as a neutral citizen in a nation at war. Every citizen must uphold his government actively and voluntarily to the best of his ability, and in proportion to his means. Only by so doing can this war be carried through to final victory. Recognizing the tremendous significance of these fundamental truths, the committee did not hesitate to speak plainly when urging their acceptance. No man who appeared before the committee and by his own statements convicted himself of being a laggard in his duty failed to carry away a definite, and we hope an indelible, impression of what the committe thought of his attitude, and what the community will think of it later when loyal sentiment has been intensified by the suffering and sacrifice that must attend the progress of the war.

"The procedure followed by the committee in doing its work was simple. Four hundred men and women voluntarily and with splendid enthusiasm gave unstintingly of their time and effort to the work of selling the bonds. When any one of them encountered a person whose response to the appeal and attitude toward the war was clearly unsatisfactory, the case was reported to the committee with a brief statement of the circumstances. Many of these persons were called upon a second and even a third time, and after a more complete explanation of the whole matter were induced to do their part. The remainder who could not be led to subscribe in this manner were courteously asked to come before the committee for a frank and friendly talk along the lines already indicated. Record of these conferences were kept and each case classified on its merits. In this connection it might be stated that over $50,000 in subscriptions which would not have been obtained otherwise were secured as a direct result of the committee's work, and a much larger amount was received indirectly and by reason of the publicity given the committee's activities.

Broadly speaking, the persons who came before the committee may be divided into three groups, as follows:

Group One—Those who had not yet fully realized that we are facing a serious national crisis and had not wakened up to the fact that insistent demands for help were being made upon them as individuals. Incredible as it may seem, after six months of war these men had simply omitted to do their duty because they were so busy with their interests. When the matter was again presented to them with renewed emphasis they freely admitted the justice of the committee's argument, subscribed or increased their subscriptions, and volunteered to help.

"Group Two—Those who yielded under pressure of the committee's argument and subscribed to the loan, but did so grudgingly, and failed to exhibit the spirit of loyalty and willingness to work shoulder to shoulder that should have characterized their attitude.

"Group Three—Finally, there were those who convicted themselves of being slackers; men who were deaf to all reason and argument, and callous to every appeal of patriotism and duty. When asked if they thought it was fair and just that the wage earners of Lansing should sacrifice and save to buy Liberty Bonds and uphold the arms of the nation in this struggle to make the world safe for democracy while they shirked and evaded their obligations, these men persisted in their refusal to take an attitude that would entitle them to be called loyal citizens. The committee wishes it to be clearly understood that it went more than half way in its efforts to find common ground on which to get together with these men, but to no avail. Regretfully and because there was no other course left, it was finally compelled unanimously to judge them recalcitrants, and in accordance with its publicly declared intentions, publish the facts concerning each in the public press."

Attached to the report is a list of names of group three, giving full particulars regarding each case.

WAR RISK INSURANCE EXCEEDS ONE BILLION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—More than 200,000 applications for war risk insurance have been filed by officers and men of the naval service on March 31, it was announced today. The average policy was for $7300, making a total of more than $1,500,000,000.

INDIAN BUGLER GETS "CIGARETTE MONEY."

ROCKFORD (Ill.) April 2.—One dollar and ten cents a day, the pay of a bugler in the Three Hundred and Fiftieth Machine Gun Battalion at Camp Grant, is barely "cigarette money" for Sidney Kernal, a half-breed Creek Indian from Muskogee, Okla., who at the end of each twenty-four hours adds $177 to his bank account as income from oil land royalties. He is the richest man in his division.

SAN JOSE, April 2.—A marriage license was issued here today for Miss Hermina Gardner Lathrop, 22, of Palo Alto, and Robert du Rand Harden, a first lieutenant in the United States Army, stationed in San Francisco.

Miss Lathrop is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Lathrop, sister of Mrs. Leland Stanford, whose husband was the founder of Leland Stanford (Jr.) University.

One Army Now

garded as certain that the American War Secretary would not have gone empty handed to the conferences.

The strength of the American army actually in France was not sufficient to warrant more than a plea for new measures to meet the German onrush. With the whole man power of the United States made immediately available to play its part in the ranks of the Allied armies, as well as in the purely American forces, however, it was argued that Mr. Baker could speak with compelling force. There are many who believe he crossed the ocean authorized to make this great sacrifice of pride in national achievement upon the altar of world democracy.

Whatever may have been the original purpose of the Secretary's mission, the complete unification of Germany's three most powerful enemies has been accomplished. The effect, officers believe, will be seen shortly at the battle front.

INTELLIGENT MEN.

British and French officers here agree that the American soldier who has had from sixty to ninety days' instruction is fully ready to go to the front, provided he is surrounded with veteran experience. They have been greatly impressed by the intelligence and quick perception of the Americans. There are hundreds of thousands of men now available both here and in Europe who physically and mentally are ready for the battle, they say, and it is these men who are to be used. Associated with British and French veterans, they will pick up the finer points they lack in a matter of weeks or even days, these officers say, and they confidently predict that the showing of the men in battle will more than justify their use without waiting for their full training course to have been completed.

The German General Staff has combed Germany to find reserves for the present drive, information from the front shows. The physical standard has been almost abandoned. Judging by prisoners taken, and the intelligence of the new men called to the colors is frequently of a low order. Compared to these recruits, the American units to fill up depleted British or French brigades are seasoned and selected troops, according to the British officers.

GERMAN SPIES' WORK; PUNCTURE GAS MASKS.

SENATOR THOMAS CALLS ATTENTION TO RECENT FACTORY DISCLOSURES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Charges that German spies are interfering with the manufacture of gas masks intended for use in France were made in the Senate today by Senator Thomas of Colorado, who declared that in one factory 2900 out of 5000 were found defective. Even after the defective ones had been discarded a number later were found packed with those that had passed inspection, he said.

Senator Thomas declared the masks had been damaged by small perforations and asserted the work was done by persons in the factory.

Senator Thomas declared the United States now faced a serious situation. The German drive, he declared, has not ended.

"Is there any significance in the fact that these labor conditions exist now, or is it only a coincidence?" the Colorado Senator asked, referring to the reports of strikes in various parts of the country. He added he believed them to be a part of German propaganda.

"I contend that the man who incites strikes at this time is an enemy of the United States and should be treated as such," Senator Thomas continued. "That is equally true of our profiteers."

In declaring that union labor is responsible for the Kansas City labor trouble, Senator Reed of Missouri said it will be "a very dark day for organized labor" if it interferes with war industry.

Denouncing the I.W.W., Senator Pomerene of Ohio said they were a "fertile field" for professional agitators.

RETURN OF ALSATIANS DESIRED BY GERMANS.

OVERTURE MADE THROUGH HOLY SEE TO BARON COCHIN REFUSED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 2.—The Germans have made overtures through the Holy See for the return by France of inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine, who have escaped from these regions, offering in exchange an equal number of civilians from the invaded districts of France.

Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, transmitted the offer to Baron Denys Cochin, a prominent Catholic leader and recently a member of the Cabinet. He refused to act as intermediary in the negotiations on the ground that to do so would be to recognize Alsatians as German subjects.

Conspiracy.

HART TERMED GERMAN AGENT.

Federal Attorney Accuses Wealthy Ship Broker.

Defendant at Hindu Trial Denies Disloyalty.

Court Refuses to Expunge the Charge from Record.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Harry J. Hart, wealthy San Francisco shipping man, was characterized as a German agent by John W. Preston, United States District Attorney, here today in the trial of a group of Hindus, German consular agents and others, on the charge of conspiring in this country to overthrow British rule in India. Hart is a defendant.

Counsel for Hart endeavored to get Preston to admit that he acted in good faith in arranging the sale of the steamer Maverick to the West Indies Sugar and Molasses Company. The prosecution contended that Hart bought the Maverick under the direction of the German government in order that she might participate in some of the activities of the proposed Indian revolution.

Hart contended that he purchased the vessel for speculative purposes after his alleged revolutionary scheme had ended, and the entire transaction was handled in good faith.

Hart's counsel endeavored to have the court declare Preston's remarks "improper and prejudicial." The court responded:

"If I took such action every time it has been asked of me in this case, most of the counsel on both sides would be in the County Jail, and I would have had to conduct the case practically alone."

The trial was halted temporarily late today on request of counsel for two Hindu defendants, Narajan Das and Dhirendra Nath Sarkar, who were reported to be in a state of nervous collapse. They were to be examined by physicians on order of Judge Van Fleet to determine whether their further attendance in court was possible.

The trial resumed later, after the physicians had reported that the attendance of the Hindus at the trial would not result in their sustaining serious breakdowns.

COUNTRY FALLS DOWN ON EXPORTS OF CORN.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Only 14,000,000 of the 100,000,000 bushels of America's 1917 corn crop needed by the Allies has gone forward, as shown in export figures compiled today by the Food Administration.

Last year at this time 64,000,000 bushels had been shipped. The decrease is attributed to lack of rail and ocean transportation.

DISCUSS ADJOURNMENT PLANS WITH WILSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Adjournment plans for Congress were discussed in the House today and Democratic Leader Kitchin predicted that unless something unforeseen developed Congress would adjourn between July 1 and July 15. Many other members however, do not believe an early adjournment possible.

Ten Years to Pay

No principal payments for six years.

This is an opportunity for farmers or fruit men.

You can make the land pay for itself before the first payment on the principal becomes due.

A reasonable amount of capital is necessary to properly farm and develop the property, of course.

The land is sandy loam, in the San Fernando Valley, between Van Nuys and San Fernando.

Part of it is in the citrus belt.

It is adapted to alfalfa, beans, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, peaches, apricots and practically everything grown in this vicinity.

It is good poultry land and in one of the most successful poultry districts.

Most of it is within a mile of the electric car line and boulevard and one hour's ride from down town Los Angeles.

The land is in parcels of ten, thirty and forty acres.

It is all under the Los Angeles Owens River Aqueduct and adjacent to trunk lines with good pressure.

It is in the midst of a wide fertile area in which nearly every kind of fruit and vegetable known in Southern California is grown.

The price is $450 an acre, with only the interest to pay and no payments to be made on the principal for six years. Then you pay twenty per cent. a year for five years, completing the payments at the end of ten years.

The value of the land has been greatly increased by the aqueduct and the high prices for all products, but land prices have not yet advanced. They are as sure to go up as water is to seek its level.

The rapid improvement on all sides also will greatly increase the worth of the property and you will receive the benefit of that increased value while only paying interest on the present price for the next five years.

You can devote your capital to the improvement and development of your place and let the land pay for itself.

Call early in the day to go out and see the land.

SHIPS WANTED; NOT EXCUSES.

Shipping Board Disappointed by Lack of Tonnage.

Responsibility for Failure is Placed on Yards.

Chairman Hurley Demands Increased Output.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—American shipbuilders were called upon tonight to explain why their output for March fell behind schedule.

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board and General Manager Piez of the Emergency Fleet Corporation telegraphed heads of all the yards in the United States, saying they were "keenly disappointed" in the tonnage delivered and placing the responsibility of turning out ships squarely on the men in control of actual building operations.

"Keynote of present situation is management—leadership," the telegram said. "Money, material and men have been supplied without stint by the nation. The American people want ships, not excuses."

Suggestions were requested and the officials said they wanted to know if the fault lay with the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

"Please don't overestimate," the telegram urged, after asking for the prospects during April. It was said that the March estimate of 197,075 tons had been made on the promises of shipbuilders, who delivered only 166,700 tons. In discussing the telegram the chairman said it was his intention to find out exactly where the fault lay.

CORRECTIONS.

"Perhaps it lies with reports of the fleet corporation, who are cooperating with the builders," he said. "If so we want to know it and promise to correct it.

"Every man engaged in building ships ought to keep in mind all the time that he is working to back up the boys over there, and that it is up to the shipbuilder and shipworker to feed those boys, who are giving their all in this war. If we all could get the idea there would be no loss of production at any time."

HURLEY'S MESSAGE.

Chairman Hurley's telegram to the yard managers follows:

"We are keenly disappointed in the amount of tonnage delivered by American shipyards during the month of March and the slow progress made in many yards. Only twenty-one steel vessels, aggregating 166,700 tons, were delivered during that month, and our minimum estimate was for 197,075 tons. Instead of this reduction from our estimate we should have had an increase.

"This estimate was made on promises of shipbuilders. Thirty steel ships were launched, with a total tonnage of 219,586. Eleven wooden ships were launched, amounting to 46,000 tons.

"We are particularly anxious that you and your organization should put forth a special effort during the month of April. We are anxious that you should keep us fully informed concerning all causes of delay encountered in building ships during this month daily by wire if necessary.

"We are concerned with the entire programme, but we want April to break all records.

BREAK RECORD.

"We are holding you personally responsible for the successful management of your property. If you fail to maintain your schedule of production, which schedule the country is expecting you to meet, and which we must have, in order to win the war, the country will charge you and us with not doing our part. Our country is holding every foreman and every workman in the shipyards, and especially every shipyard owner, stockholder and manager, as well as every officer and employee, of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, responsible for the work of building ships. They are needed badly and the American people want ships, not excuses."

CANADIAN FLIERS ENTRAIN IN TEXAS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) April 2.—Trains are being assembled here for the British Royal Flying Corps, commanded by Brig.-Gen. Hoare of Indian jungle campaign fame, which will soon start to Toronto, Can.

DEPARTMENT REVOKES BELL'S ASSIGNMENT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The War Department order assigning Maj.-Gen. J. Franklin Bell to command the Western Department and to relieve Maj.-Gen. Arthur Murray has been revoked.

Gen. Bell will be assigned temporarily to command his old division, the Seventy-seventh, at Camp Upton, N. Y., leaving Gen. Murray in command at San Francisco.

The order was rescinded because of the desire of the War Department to have in command of the Seventy-seventh an officer acquainted with the unit. Gen. Bell's assignment to Camp Upton is only temporary, however, and does not indicate that he will lead the division when it goes overseas.

CRITICS DRIVE NAFTZGER OUT.

Resigns as Vice-chairman of the Defense Council.

Six Thousand Yearly Salary Cause of Trouble.

Cannot Afford to Serve Unless Paid, He Says.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A. H. Naftzger of Los Angeles, vice-chairman of the State Council of Defense, announced here tonight his resignation from the position because of published strictures against his drawing a salary of $6000 per year.

His letter of resignation to Gov. Stephens said:

"Weary of the persistent criticisms regarding my compensation as vice-chairman of the State Council of Defense, and not being financially so situated as to devote my entire time to the cause gratuitously I hand back the commission you gave me almost a year ago, and ask to be relieved by the end of the current month.

"Thanking you for your confidence and many courtesies, I am,

"Sincerely yours,

[Signed] "A. H. NAFTZGER."

Naftzger's reference to criticism of his salary recalled the resignation from the State Council of Defense of John Francis Neylan, December 28 of last year. Neylan, in his letter of resignation, criticised this allowance and complained that he, a member of the Executive Committee, first learned about it from an audit of the council's finances under date of December 18.

After Neylan had announced his resignation, Gov. Stephens announced that Neylan had been removed from the State Council.

NO HARBOR STRIKE, DECLARES O'CONNOR.

NEW YORK LONGSHOREMEN WILL NOT HAMPER THE WAR, SAYS OFFICIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Prosecution of the war will not be hampered by a strike of 60,000 marine workers at this port, even if a wage agreement is not reached between representatives of the unions involved and the adjustment committee of the United States Shipping Board, according to an announcement made here today by T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoreman's Association.

"There will be no harbor strike," Mr. O'Connor declared. "Talk of 60,000 tidewater workmen going to tie up the port of New York is rot. There will probably be an adjustment, but whether there is or not there will be no strike."

What IS Economy in Clothes?

Some clothes, like some men, promise what they cannot fulfill. They start with flying colors but they don't make good at the finish.

In an all-wool suit and in a hundred-point man are found those staying qualities that win out when put to the test.

All-wool clothes are economy clothes. Part-cotton clothes are an imitation of real clothes—camouflage—they promise what they cannot fulfill. All-wool clothes are an investment.

The Hart Schaffner & Marx label is your guarantee of all-wool.

They cost more this year but quality considered they are the lowest priced clothes you can buy.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, spilling headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick, or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Lemon Juice is Skin Beautifier, Also a Whitener

Many women use just the juice of lemons to bleach or whiten the skin, but pure lemon juice is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to bring back to any skin the whiteness, the sweet freshness and flexibility of which it has been robbed by carelessness or trying atmospheric conditions.

ARTFUL DODGER HAS NO CHANCE

Put a few drops on that old touchy corn then lift it out without pain

Ouch! ? ! ? ! ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain. A delightful surprise awaits all who try this.

He says freezone is a sticky substance which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissues or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone which will cost very little at any drug store, is said to be sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

TWO DISMISSED AT UNIVERSITY.

Profs. Forke and Hackh are Summarily Ousted.

"Enemies of the Republic," the Reason Assigned.

Statement on the Subject by the Authorities.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, April 2. — Declaring that their actions were "inimical to the United States government," the Executive and Finance committees of the Board of Regents, University of California, today summarily dismissed Prof. Alfred Forke, head of the department of Oriental languages, and I. W. D. Hackh, an assistant in chemistry, from the faculty of the university.

According to a statement issued from the office of the president of the university, Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, the men were dismissed following information against them submitted by United States Naval officers stationed at San Francisco.

The following statement was given out by the regents' committees which ordered the dismissals.

"At a joint meeting of the executive and finance committees of the regents of the University of California, held today, Alfred Forke, Agassiz professor of Oriental languages and literature, and head of the department of Oriental languages, and Mr. I. W. D. Hackh, assistant in chemistry, were summarily dismissed from the faculty on account of actions inimical to the United States government.

"Prof. Forke has been for four years a professor in the University of California. He was first appointed to the faculty on May 12, 1914. He is a noted Chinese student and has acted as adviser to the Chinese Legation.

"Mr. Hackh has been an assistant in the department of chemistry during the current half-year."

The regents who effected the dismissals were Guy C. Earl, Rudolph J. Taussig, Rev. Charles S. Ramm, A. W. Foster and James K. Moffitt.

The university authorities stated that they were bound to strict secrecy regarding the charges brought by the naval officers against the two faculty members.

According to the university records, Prof. Forke was born in Germany and was educated at the University of Berlin and at Geneva, Switzerland. He spent twelve years in the German consular service in China. He was with the faculty of the Oriental Seminary, an educational institution in Berlin, previous to assuming his position here.

Hackh was born in Stuttgart, Germany, March 25, 1890, according to these records. He came to the University of California in 1916 from the Untereskund Real Gymnasium in Stuttgart, and graduated in December, 1917, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He was appointed an assistant in the chemistry department upon graduation.

THE PRIZE COW.

Two Hundred Dollars a Month, Dairy Product Yield of Holstein.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—The cow that yields dairy products worth $200 a month has arrived.

Word today reached Clyde Seavey of the State Board of Control that a Napa State Hospital Holstein cow has broken the world's record for milk production in thirty days. Her record was 3794.6 pounds or 1897 quarts in a month. Her record closed Saturday night.

The cow, Raphaella Johanna Aiggie, was purchased in Washington last year. A few weeks ago it was announced that she had made the second best record for milk in a week.

The highest previous figure for thirty days is given by the owner as 3767.3 pounds, so the Napa cow has a good margin.

Her production for the month at current prices would total $208 in value.

RUSS DENY LANDING REDS IN FINLAND.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT REQUESTED TO FURNISH INFORMATION, SAYS REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 2.—The Russian government, according to a Russian wireless statement received here, has addressed the following to the German government:

"Neither the councils of the central government, nor the local authorities are sending Red Guards to Finland. If the German government has in its possession information that Red Guards are arriving in Finland from Russia, the Russian government will make inquiries and take most severe measures against it. The Russian government will be very grateful to the German government for an indication of the points on the Finnish frontier at which Red Guards have entered Finland."

FIERCE FIGHTING.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, Monday, April 2.—Fierce fighting has broken out in the districts of Batoum, Kars and Ardaham, in the Caucasus. The Armenians and Georgians have formed a large army for the defense of the territory against the Turks, who have begun military occupation of the three districts by virtue of the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty.

The Georgians have seized most of the Russian warships in the harbor of Batoum and have taken them into the Black Sea. The entire population of Georgia has been mobilized to oppose the invaders.

SECRETARY OF WAR RECEIVED IN ROME.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, April 2.—Newton D. Baker, the American Secretary of War, arrived here this afternoon.

The Secretary, accompanied by Thomas Nelson Page, the American Ambassador, was received by Gen. Zupelli, Minister of War; Francesco Nitti, Minister of the Treasury; Col. Vachelli, head of the division of the General Staff; Robert P. Perkins, American Red Cross commissioner to Italy, and the personnel of the American Embassy at the consulate.

Mr. Baker arrived in Rome too late to keep his engagement to witness the marriage of Miss Augusta Grover of Princeton to Hart Anderson, secretary of the American Embassy. The marriage was celebrated in the embassy this morning.

GREATEST NUMBER ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

In Los Angeles The Times regularly prints, week in and week out, year after year, not only a larger volume of advertising, but a greater number of separate advertisements, than any other local newspaper.

This persistent day after day leadership demonstrates that The Times is far and away the most popular advertising medium in Los Angeles.

On March 31, 1918, which was another banner day for The Times, the three local newspapers printed 19,704 inches of paid advertising. Of this volume The Times columns contained 9297 inches.

The following is a tabulation of the advertising printed in the morning newspapers on the day indicated, to wit:

THE TIMES	9,297 inches
Second newspaper	6,674 "
Third newspaper	3,722 "

Of 5608 inches of popular, quick-action classified advertisements published in local newspapers last Sunday, The Times printed 3232 inches, which is 1534 inches more than the second newspaper and 2533 inches more than the third newspaper.

The foregoing facts and figures, as usual, prove beyond controversy that The Times has the greatest purchasing influence, and is used by more intelligent, discriminating and ready-buying readers, than any other one of this city's newspapers.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand copies of the incomparable Times were printed on Sunday, March 31, 1918. They were read by approximately 350,000 persons.

SENDING "POP" TO AMERICANS.

Five Million Bottles of it will go this Month.

Indiana's Prohibition Law Argued in Court.

Senate of the Bay State Ratifies Amendment.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Five million bottles of "pop" will be sent overseas this month to the American soldiers in France, it was announced today by the Young Men's Christian Association.

The soda water will be part of a shipment which will include 10,000,000 sheets of note paper and 5,000,000 envelopes, 2,000,000 pounds each of sugar and flour, purchased through Federal Food Administrator Hoover; 2,500,000 packages of chewing gum; 200 moving picture machines, 100 talking machines, 2500 phonograph records, and coffee, condensed milk, crackers, shaving sticks and tooth paste.

RATIFICATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, April 2.—The Senate today by a vote of 27 to 12, ratified the Federal prohibition amendment, concurring with the House, which took similar action a week ago. An effort was made to substitute a referendum measure for the ratification resolution, but the motion was lost, 25 to 14. After the defeat of the first referendum measure the opponents of ratification moved to have the matter referred to "all persons qualified to vote for school committee," which would have included both men and women. This was defeated on a viva voce vote.

IN NEBRASKA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) April 2.—The Nebraska State Senate, having voted yesterday to decline to consider the question of ratifying the national prohibition amendment at the present special session of the Legislature, there apparently is little chance for the measure's consideration by the legislators until the regular legislative meeting next January.

IN CANADA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TORONTO (Ont.) April 2.—While the new Dominion regulations prohibiting the shipment of liquor into or through any province where prohibition is in force became effective today, it does not affect any shipments which were actually in the hands of the express companies at the point of shipment prior to the law coming into force. Quebec is the only province in the dominion that is not under prohibitory law.

INDIANA GOES DRY.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) April 2.—Indiana became "dry" tonight at midnight, the State-wide prohibition law, so written that intoxicating liquor may not be manufactured, sold, given away or shipped into the State, except for medical and sacramental purposes, taking effect at that hour.

Members of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League estimated that 3400 saloons in the State closed their doors. They estimated that thirty breweries in the State were affected and twelve to fifteen distilleries. The amount of money the league members say has been spent annually for intoxicating liquor in the State is $25,000,000, which they say under the prohibition law will be "saved."

CHICAGO, April 2.—Gains for the Prohibitionists were recorded in today's township elections on the wet and dry issues throughout Illinois.

Of the large cities of the State, Bloomington gave a dry majority of 2119, which was attributed to the overwhelming dry vote of the women.

Rock Island, which has been the center of a campaign by government agents to eliminate vice conditions, voted out forty-one saloons by a majority of 800 votes.

The saloon proposition was an election issue in more than 600 townships. The returns from the first five wet townships showed 433 in the dry column.

REVENUE LESS FROM COPPER.

Guggenheim Says Dividends are in Jeopardy.

Smelting Company Earnings Show Big Drop.

Fixed Price for Metal is Blamed for Loss.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Declaring that operation of the American Smelting and Refining Company under the direction of governmental commissions will "seriously jeopardize" the ability of the company to pay a fair return to its stockholders, President Daniel Guggenheim today in his annual report announced that earnings of the company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1917, were $206,358 less than for the preceding year.

The decrease was due, he said, to the government fixing of prices of metal products and the fact that the cost of labor and supplies was not fixed. The company's earnings for 1917, after deducting general expenses, fixed charges and taxes, aggregated $25,035,936, and earnings applicable to the common stock equalled 22½ per cent.

"The company is now suffering from the entire lack of economic basis," Mr. Guggenheim says. "Owing to the various governmental commissions for shipbuilding and other construction of great magnitude which have been made on the basis of cost plus a commission, the contractors have no interest in holding their costs at a point where a profit can be made, and in fact their own interests are in favor of such a high cost as can be in any way justified.

"By these two governmental actions, first by reducing the value of our product and second by constantly increasing our cost, this great corporation, producing what is absolutely necessary to the government in carrying on the war, is having its ability to pay a fair return to its stockholders seriously jeopardized."

The company last year paid 6 per cent. dividend on its common stock and 1 per cent. Red Cross dividend. Mr. Guggenheim says that while the profits heretofore made by the company may have been "excessive, yet it not been for such profits the company would not have been able to enlarge its works and increase its plant" in meeting the necessities of the government. The enlargement referred to cost approximately $30,000,000, all of which were taken out of earnings.

MANY SHEEP DEAD; MYSTERIOUS AILMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 2.—With the bodies of dead and dying sheep, part of a shipment received today from the Portland Feeder Company of Ida Grove, Iowa, strewing the pens of the Union Stock Yards, veterinary surgeons were summoned to solve a mystery surrounding the ailment which has already caused the loss of $30,000 worth of mutton.

The theory was that poison had been mixed with the feed at Belvidere, Ill. The pens were placed under quarantine.

LONG TERM IN PRISON PROPOSED FOR SEDITION.

Senate Committee Favorably Reports Bill Imposing Penalty on Disloyalty.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—In favorably reporting a bill to impose drastic penalties on spies, the Senate Judiciary Committee today adopted an amendment by Senator Poindexter of Washington prescribing imprisonment for twenty years and $10,000 fine for "whoever shall by word or deed support or favor the cause of the German empire or its allies in the present war or by word or act oppose the cause of the United States therein."

The committee also approved the Poindexter penalties for persons obstructing government war bond issues or actually "attempting" as well as "conspires to obstruct recruiting or enlistments in the army.

SEDITION.

The Poindexter amendment would make unlawful "for any person or persons in the presence or hearing of any to utter any disloyal, profane, scurrilous, contemptuous or abusive or seditious language about the government of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the uniform of the army or navy of the United States, or the good and welfare of the United States, or any language calculated to bring the United States, or the United States government, or the President of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States, or the flag or navy or soldiers or sailors of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the good and welfare of the United States into contempt, scorn, contumely and disrepute, and any language calculated to cause or inflame resistance to the lawful constituted Federal or State authority connected with the prosecution of war; or threaten the good or welfare of the United States or the United States government; or to advise, urge or incite any curtailment of production in this country of any thing or things, product or products necessary or essential to the prosecution of the war in which the United States may be engaged, with intent by such curtailment to cripple or hinder the United States in the prosecution of such war."

COMMITTEE UNANIMOUS.

The committee was unanimous in its action. Other amendments written into the bill by the committee with the same drastic penalties provided prohibit disloyal or abusive utterances or writings, display of enemy flags or any acts tending to curtail production of essential war products or "to advocate, teach, favor or defend" such acts.

Transmission by mail or otherwise of any matter published in the language of any nation with which the United States is at war, would be prohibited after July 1, subject to penalties of five years imprisonment and $5000 fine, under an amendment introduced today by Senator King of Utah to his bill proposing repeal of the Federal charter of the National German-American Alliance.

CAMP LEWIS LEADER HAS FAITH IN ALLIES.

FEELING OF CONFIDENCE IS UNSHAKEN DESPITE BIG OFFENSIVE, HE SAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMP LEWIS (Tacoma, Wash.) April 1.—"My feeling of confidence in the French and British armies remains unshaken in the face of the present offensive," Maj.-Gen. H. A. Greene, commander of the Ninety-first Division, said in the course of an address tonight at a dinner given in honor of the Allied officers assigned to the division. The general paid high honors to the soldiers of the Allies whose efforts he viewed on his recent visit to France.

Private Pinckney, who served under Maj. Frank J. Sullivan on the Mexican border in 1916 as a member of the California Signal Corps, is back in Maj. Sullivan's organization again. He came here last week from the Island of Guam, where he was employed as cable operator, and joined the Three Hundred and Twenty-second Field Signal Battalion and was assigned to Co. A.

Alfred W. Hall, supply sergeant, first class, of the Three Hundred and Twenty-second Field Signal Battalion, died of heart disease last Wednesday night, it became known today. Sergt. Hall attended a meeting at the camp and returned apparently in good health. When he failed to appear Thursday morning the supply-room in his quarters was broken open and his body was found beside his bed where he fell.

Hall came here from San Diego. He was born in Dublin, Ireland, where his father is now collector of customs and he has a brother who is a newspaper publisher there. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and held a government position in the Bureau of Posts at Manila for a time. He was at one time employed as a newspaper man at Honolulu and was a candidate for a commission as an officer when death overtook him.

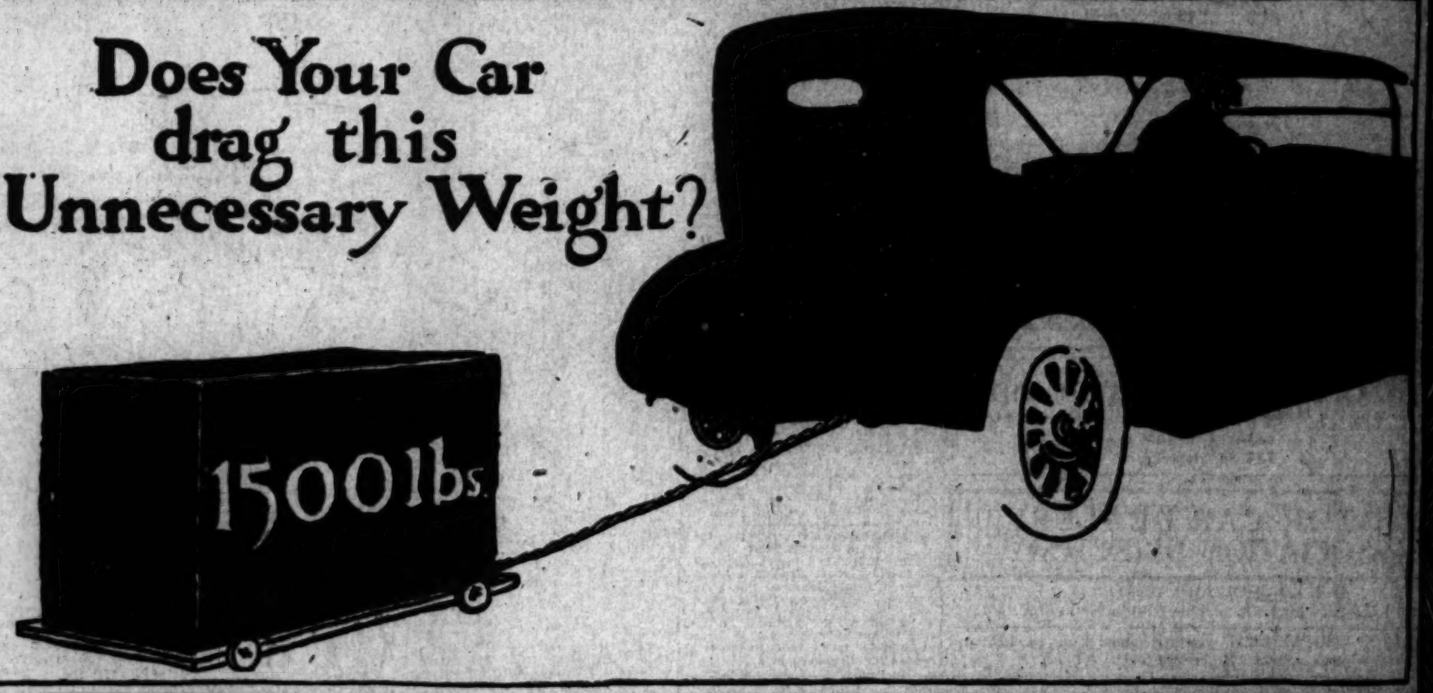
Does Your Car drag this Unnecessary Weight?



The Truth About Weight

THIS PICTURE TELLS A STORY. It's a vital story. For the average heavy car, weighing more than its purpose requires, is literally dragging unnecessary weight—1500 pounds in many cases.

People are getting curious about this weight question. People are getting tired of lugging around an excess burden—and paying for it. And the fact that they are curious, the fact that they are tired, is the real reason why sales of Franklin Scientific Light Weight Cars increased last year 135%, against the 12% increase of all other fine cars.

Take this matter of weight right up by the roots. See what it looks like.

J. Edward Schipper, the well-known authority, addressing the Cleveland Society of Automotive Engineers, said:

"Weight of car per pound of passenger-weight is too heavy in America. For a designed load of 750 pounds (5 passengers) a car weighing 2250 pounds is about right."

The plain fact is: it costs money to move weight. The car that is too heavy for a man's needs makes unnecessary demands on his and the Nation's pocketbook. Heavy weight is long on sustenance, and short on service. It burns up fuel—it has to—to move itself; it pounds out tires prematurely — weight and rigidity make that inevitable.

The Scientific Light Weight Franklin weighs 2380 pounds—full-size five-passenger car. It is free from cumbersome non-essentials. It has attained the ideal of Lightness and Strength. The result is that it does exactly what a car should do.

Franklin Cars deliver—

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline, instead of 10;
10,000 miles to the set of tires, instead of 5,000;
A high resale value, instead of a fire-sale price.

That's why, no matter where you go, you'll find people talking Franklin. That's why you'll find Franklin Cars running thriftily on every road in the country.

You may be different from the average motorist. You may be more careless and less conscious of costs than he is. But we don't think so. We believe you're just about as anxious to Hooverize your motor car's rations as anybody else. And if that's the case, you have plenty of company, as evidenced by the 135% Franklin Sales increase.

You have heard strong claims for the Franklin, but not a bit stronger than the facts back of them. Drop in the Franklin Salesroom. Ask for those facts. Go into them as closely as you like. Examine the

FRANKLIN CAR of TODAY

—with particular attention to the latest Features—significant features that take the Franklin to a still higher level of motoring perfection.

Is War-time Gasoline Poor?
The Franklin owner has the new Electric Primer, which makes war-time gasoline act like the high-test grade of years ago.

Good-bye Grease Cups!
Every try to take hardened grease from an oil hole with a nail or wire? Not on today's Franklins! New Oil Reservoir and Wick System now in use obviates this trouble.

Strained Air.
Franklin Air Intake keeps road dust, grit, etc., out of internals of engine. Prevents wear in cylinders, pistons, valves, etc. Repair bills kept down by this Franklin device.

Tire Mileage!
32x4½ inch cord tires on all Franklin types assures astonishing mileage. Larger tires mean even greater tire reliability which on Franklin Cars always was remarkable.

"Low" Battery?
In cold weather, the Franklin owner simply cuts in the heater on his Mastervibrator, boosts the voltage and gets a fat, hot spark that fires the mixture.

Quick Warming-up.
Intake Valve Heater uses exhaust gases to warm the mixture—original with the Franklin. Perfected in today's car. Smooth, even action assured in least possible time.

Responsiveness.
Franklin retains snap of a well-worked in car, even after long running. Latest construction automatically takes up cylinder wear, which in average engine usually means leaks in compression.

Big Reserve Capacity.
Larger Starter and Battery. Engine turns over without hesitation when you switch on the starter. Starting device has vigorous action and battery has a big reserve.

All These Latest Features Now on Exhibition in our Salesrooms. The Franklin Car is designed to meet the big preponderance of motoring requirements—eight types

PAPKE MANAGING BIG BOXING TOURNAMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 2. — Billy Papke is back in the boxing game, this time as manager of a big athletic entertainment for the benefit of several war funds. It is to take place Saturday in Kewanee, Ill., and from the advance reports will be a huge success. Papke himself will box in the main event, Eddie McGoorty having agreed to be there that night as an opponent. In addition there will be several other bouts, Al Stuhley meeting Steve Herrick at 145 pounds for six rounds and Tom Brady, a Kewanee boy now at Great Lakes, taking on Kid Martin of La Salle, at 125 pounds. During that afternoon there will be several raffles of automobiles and other expensive articles and the town confidently expects to donate $12,000 when the whole thing is over.

COAST SEASON GETS STARTED

Large Crowd Sees Salt Lake Trounce Seraphs.

Governor and Mayor Shine Before Fans.

Unpatriotic Spectator Meets Sad Fate.

BY JAMES DE CAMP.

It happens once every year, day or two after dad climbs to the kitchen chair to tear [illegible] from the big calendar that has been under the doorbell. Its coming heralded by the demise of some [illegible] fictitious grandmother, the mysterious "rush engagement" necessitate the boss's dashing early out of the office about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, only to return about 5 p.m., red-faced, husky-voiced, with hair awry and an [illegible] answer. In other words, it's the annual opening of the Coast League season.

It happened yesterday at Washington Park.

Everybody within personable distance of Los Angeles who had acquired possession of two-bits or more or jitney for war tax sifted through the gates of Johnnie Powers's emporium to witness the [illegible] sight. The Governor of the State was there to give the initial frolic between the Angels and Salt Lake, the official OO with the [illegible] torial optics. Mayor Woodman and the City Council padlocked their official chambers and [illegible] thoughts of ordinance-making and budget-slicing into oblivion to get to the whank of hickory and [illegible] stuffed horsehide.

An hour before the game [illegible] natured, smoke-spouting, [illegible] suming humanity banked the [illegible] green dandelion-dotted [illegible] with its prim white lines and [illegible] new bases, that stood out in [illegible] perspective like huge marshmallows. Koogan's Bluff, the popular [illegible] nance just t'other side of the [illegible] field fence, accommodated a [illegible] lation that would have baffled [illegible] census clerks.

Promptly at 2:20 o'clock the Angels and Bees emerged from their dugouts, preserving as strict a brave insouciance toward the battery of cameras lined up along the plate. A huge floral horseshoe, [illegible] essed of some mysterious but [illegible] visible means of locomotion, [illegible] died onto the field and presented itself to Manager "Killefer" of the Angels. When the plate hounds and crank twisters had dislocated their lenses the two clubs [illegible] around a huge American flag, led by a brass band, marched to the flag pole in right field, hoisted the national emblem to the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner." At this point of the proceedings some pimple-brained [illegible] the bleachers refused to [illegible] uncover his head and receive practical demonstration of the consistency and grief-producing properties of a good old-fashioned American lunch hook.

With the anti-American element ejected, Ump Frary deemed it [illegible] to start the game. Gov. Stephens donned the catcher's mask, [illegible] protector and proved himself a [illegible] sport by posing for the camera in a series of athletic poses that caused the swallowtails of state to flap and the plebeian dust around Rose Bowl and must have seriously strained the executive suspenders. Mayor Woodman sauntered into the catcher's box, ambled out toward pitcher's box. The effete citizenry cut loose with an involuntary gasp upon discovering that their chief dignitary had chosen to display a patent [illegible] ing vest of startling triangular design.

The Mayor sailed his last [illegible] turf and started the winding-up [illegible] erations necessary to send the [illegible] toward the plate. But Hon. Chas. Stephens stepped forward, [illegible] hand dramatically raised, called a halt on the windmill and [illegible] tripped out to the box for a [illegible] conference. What passed between the big chief of the Red State and the head of our promising [illegible] was not made public, but it is [illegible] have been extremely confidential since the Governor nearly stuck [illegible] into Woodman's ear while making his remarks.

"Speed" Woodman and "Chas." Stephens retired again to their respective positions, and the [illegible] began anew. This time Woodman got the sphere off, slicing the [illegible] for a clean strike. Hon. Chas. tried to spear the pellet with his talented right thumb, much to the mortification of that worthy member used in signing pardons and endorsing the weighty matters of the State. Later he was informed that the glove on his left hand had been invented for the fall purpose of stopping the ball.

The ceremony at an end, Walter Boles, Angel catcher, stepped up to the plate armored like a [illegible] tank. Fittery draped himself on the mound, and Farmer of Salt Lake walked to the platter. Ump Frary stepped into his airy [illegible]

"Batter up."

SEALS BEGIN BY WALLOPING OAKLAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 2.—The Seals began the 1918 season where they left off in 1917, by making the Oaks take a joke. The last day of the 1917 season the Seals downed the Oaks twice. Today they blasted open a new season by defeating them, 5 to 1.

There were the usual ceremonies. Mayor Rolph pitched the first ball as usual and Chief of Police White caught it as usual. These two seem to have a monopoly on being the battery opening day here.

After the moving picture fellows had snapped everyone in sight decks were cleared and the battle began.

It was too one-sided to furnish many thrills, for the Oaks whipped themselves in the very first inning. Pop Arlett fooled the first ball hit in the game, giving Hunter a life, and Pick walked. Hummel bunted and Martin threw the ball away, scoring a run. Koerner banged the ball up against the right-field fence, scoring two more and the game was wrecked for the Oaks.

Casey Smith justified the faith Jerry Downs has in him by pitching a strong game of ball. He blanked the Oaks in every round except the eighth, when a pass to Mensor followed by a two-base drive by Miller put over a run.

The Seals played air-tight ball behind Smith, Pick in particular, turning in some flashy plays. Herb Hunter, the shortstop playing in Corhan's boots, got only one chance and he started a double play on that. He cut in once and headed off a throw from John Hummel that would have pinched Rube Gardner at third base by yards, if he had not crabbed the play.

The Oaks made three hits in the third inning, yet could not score a run. It was not good work on the part of the Seals that prevented them, but they simply gummed up the cards themselves. With one hand down Martin got a hit and after Mensor had expired, Middleton and Leifer got hits.

Middleton thought Martin would score from second base on Leifer's hit so he put on a full head of steam and pit-a-patted for third base. Arriving there he looked into the handsome face of Speed Martin, with a look of intense astonishment on his features. There was nothing for Middleton to do but hike back toward second.

Casey Smith got the throw from the outfield and while he was bluffing Middleton scurried back toward the second station. Smith kept his eye on Martin to see that he did not score, finally getting Roxy trapped and threw to Downs for the out.

After that bad first inning, Speed Martin got along pretty well, but a two-base hit by O'Doul was cashed into a run in the fourth and hits by Downs and Goldie scored Hummel in the fifth. It took a swell throw by Middleton to cut Goldie down at the plate in the eighth or another run would have counted.

The Oaks looked shaky and nervous, for they are not used to playing to a big house. They can play better ball than they showed today, or Del Howard will have to hang up the S.O.S. signal right away for help.

TIGERS BEAT SOLONS IN INAUGURAL.

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—Sacramento came back into the Coast League society today with a vengeance, but not with a winning score, as Bill Rodgers and his board of directors would have wished. The shoe was on the other foot, and the Vernon Tigers got away to a three-run lead and finished by 4 to 2.

Bill Essick's Tigers made a good impression with the baseball fans of the Capital City, and got lots of applause when they deserved it. Sacramento fans are a very unbiased bunch and appreciate good baseball no matter who plays it. De Vormer got a good hand from the crowd for his batting.

The usual hurrah-boys' celebration was held on the field, and the two squads paraded about, to the satisfaction of Sacramento fans, who seemed overjoyed to have the game right at home once more.

When the business session was announced Quinn held the Senators safe and was never even threatened until the later stages. And thereby hangs the tale of the Sacramento overthrow. Quinn used a fast one and a good crook. Brenton was nearly as good, but not when it came to averting runs.

Eldred doubled in the fourth for Sacramento's only hit until the seventh, when Rodgers smashed one and went to second on a wild pitch. Wille advanced the chief, but was out himself, and Grigg's sacrifice scored Rodgers. Rodgers's playing set the fans in the bleachers wild.

In the eighth, Brenton doubled, but died at second. The ninth saw Rodgers shoot for two bags, and he tallied on a single by Griggs.

Vernon scored mostly in the start. In the first they were helped largely by two walks, a single by Mathes and Rodgers's boot of a smash by Borton.

The second brought another for the visitors after De Vormer hit one through Elliott to score Chadbourne. Again in the ninth the boys registered on De Vormer's double and bunts by Quinn and Daley.

PORKY TO FIGHT JACK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—"Porky" Flynn, a Boston heavyweight, has been signed to fight Jack Dempsey here on the night of April 8, substituting for Bob Devers of Kansas City.

REDLANDS IS OUT AFTER CROWN CITY.

REDLANDS, April 2.—The Redlands High School track team is preparing to give Pasadena a tight rub for the honors in the All-Southern track meet for prep schools at San Bernardino on Saturday. Coach Daniels figures that twenty points will take the meet and he believes that Redlands is capable of getting the twenty.

KILLEFER SIGNS PEPE BEFORE GAME.

Pepe, who played third base in the last few innings of yesterday's game, was signed by Manager Killefer just before the game. His work in practice at Washington Park around the third sack had been of the sensational order, and if he can make good with the bat he may be used instead of Wilson at the difficult corner.

GOVERNORS TO HOLD MEETING AT CAPITAL.

EFFORT TO BE MADE TO MAKE GOOD CITIZENS OF MILLIONS OF FOREIGNERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 2.—National in scope and determined to the last degree, one of the most important meetings ever held in Washington will begin tomorrow morning at the office of the Secretary of the Interior.

Governors of practically all the States in the Union will be present, and an effort will be made to make useful and loyal citizens of 13,000,000 foreigners who now reside in the United States.

California will be represented by Lucien N. Brunswig of Los Angeles, who is called here by Secretary of the Interior Lane because of his special knowledge and also on account of his great interest in the war questions. Gov. Stephens will be represented by Simon J. Lubin, president of the Board of Commissioners of Immigration Housing of the State of California. Gov. Hunt of Arizona is here, and all other executives of the Western States will be here when the meetings open at 10 o'clock.

Germans and Austrians who are waiters in the best hotels and clubs in this country, to the exclusion of all other nationalities except in rare instances, are to be gradually eliminated and the dangerous ones interned. All others will be watched, and plans will be perfected for checking up every German-speaking waiter in this country.

Non-German-speaking foreigners in this country number many millions, and in many cases they have been made the victims of German propaganda. Farm labor in California and other Western States have been especially prone to listen to this poison and anarchistic action of the I.W.W. element. This situation is to be met with vigorous action. Dangerous men and women are to be interned, and the others are to be taught the elementary things in American ideals of liberty and justice.

Many foreigners within our gates are literally men without a country, and these men, who have renounced the land of their birth and have not taken any new responsibilities as citizens of the United States, are to be educated and tabulated for the purpose of giving the United States an inventory of every human being inside its borders that is neither by birth nor legal process a citizen. This meeting promises to be the most important in its ramifications and results of any held here since the war began, and will do more than any one agency to uncover and reform or intern every foreigner who may be disloyal.

Mr. Brunswig, who arrived here this morning, on this and many other matters connected with the Federal prosecution of the war, had a conference with Secretary Lane at noon, and this afternoon was received by the Ambassador of France, M. Jusserand.

GOVERNMENT MAY EMPLOY CORPS OF PHYSICIANS TO STOP THE DELAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 2.—A corps of physicians to maintain health among more than 100 leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, on trial for alleged violation of the espionage act, may be engaged immediately by the government to prevent further delays in the case through illness, Dist.-Atty. C. P. Clyne announced tonight.

When the way had been cleared late today for the selection of a jury, counsel for the defense announced that adjournment would be necessary because of the illness of Walter T. Nefl of Philadelphia.

W. B. Cleary of Bisbee, Ariz., attorney, who, with several hundred Industrial Workers of the World was deported from Bisbee during serious mining disorders last year, arrived in Chicago tonight and announced he would aid the defense. He said he had received no financial retainer from the I.W.W.

Anton Johannson, one of ... men active in the defense of ... Mooney bomb plot case in San Francisco, and a representative of the International Workers' Defense League, arrived in Chicago today to attend the trial.

"Oh, my job was raising more ... and hell," he said in answer to a query as to his part in the aid of Mooney. "The persecution of Mooney is simply another evidence of where the power in America is centered—like your own I.W.W. trial.

"I'm a red hot patriot because I stand against the Kaiser and all other autocrats—even if they happen to be in the industrial field."

They're Off.

COAST SEASON GETS STARTED.

Large Crowd Sees Salt Lake Trounce Seraphs.

Governor and Mayor Shine Before Fans.

Unpatriotic Spectator Meets Sad Fate.

BY JAMES DE CAMP.

It happens once every year, a day or two after dad climbs up on the kitchen chair to tear "March" from the big calendar that hangs under the doorbell. Its coming is heralded by the demise of countless fictitious grandmothers and mysterious "rush engagements" that necessitate the boss's dashing madly out of the office about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, only to return about 4 p.m., red-faced, hoarse-voiced, with hair awry and tie askew. In other words, it's the annual opening of the Coast League season.

It happened yesterday at Washington Park.

Everybody within perambulating distance of Los Angeles who boasted possession of two-bits or so and a Jitney for war tax sifted through the gates of Jacobs Foore's sweet emporium to witness the first sight. The Governor of the State was there to give the initial fracas between the Angels and Salt Lake the official OO with the gubernatorial optics. Mayor Woodman and the City Council padlocked their official chambers and threw their thoughts of ordinance-making and budget-slicing into oblivion to listen to the whack of hickory against stuffed horsehide.

An hour before the game good-natured, smoke-spouting, pop-consuming humanity banked the front green dandelion-dotted diamond with its prim white lines and pure new bases, that stood out in the perspective like huge marshmallows. Keegan's Bluff, the popular eminence just t'other side of center field fence, accommodated a population that would have baffled the census clerks.

Promptly at 2:20 o'clock the Angels and Bees emerged from their dugouts, preserving an attitude of brave insouciance toward the battery of cameras lined up about the plate. A huge floral horseshoe presented by some mysterious but invisible means of locomotion wobbled onto the field and presented itself to Manager Killefer of the Angels. When the plate hounds and crank twisters had dislocated their lamoes the two clubs grouped around a huge American flag and, led by a brass band, marched around the flag pole in right field and hoisted the national emblem to the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner." At this point of the proceedings some pimple-brained Teuton in the bleachers refused to stand uncover his head and received a directional demonstration of the consistency and grief-producing propensities of a good old-fashioned American lunch hook.

With the anti-American element ejected, Ump Frary deemed it time to start the game. Gov. Stephens donned the catcher's mitt and protector and proved himself a good sport by posing for the cameras in a series of athletic poses that caused the swallowtails of state to dip into the plebeian dust around home plate, and must have seriously strained the executive suspenders. Mayor Woodman sauntered into the calcium and ambled out toward pitcher's box. The effete citizenry cut loose with an involuntary gasp upon discovering that their chief dignitary had chosen to display a patent expanding vest of startling triangular design.

The Mayor sailed his hat to the turf and started the winding-up operations necessary to send the ball toward the plate. But Hon. Catcher Stephens stepped forward, with hand dramatically raised, called a halt on the windmill stunt and tripped out to the box for a short conference. What passed between the big chief of the Bear State and the head of our promising pastime was not made public, but it must have been extremely confidential since the Governor nearly climbed into Woodman's ear while making his remarks.

"Speed" Woodman and "Squire" Stephens retired again to their respective positions, and the wind-up began anew. This time Woodman got the sphere off, slicing the plate for a clean strike. Hon. Stephens tried to spear the pellet with his talented right thumb, much to the mortification of that worthy member used in signing pardons and indorsing the weighty matters of the State. Later he was informed that the glove on his left hand had been invented for the fell purpose of stopping the ball.

The ceremony at an end, Walter Boles, Angel catcher, stepped behind the plate armored like a British tank. Fittery draped himself on the mound, and Farmer of Salt Lake walked to the platter. Umpire Frary stepped into his airy office.

"Batter up."

The Fatal Parallel.

AMERICANISM ALLEGED BY "PURE GERMAN FIRM."

Friendly Act of Kaiser's Foreign Office Reacts Against New Jersey Concern.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 2.—A cable message from the German Foreign Office at Berlin addressed to Count von Bernstorff, former Ambassador to the United States, relating to the Forstmann-Huffman company, Passaic, N. J., woolen manufacturers, as "a pure German firm," was read into the record when State Attorney-General Lewis's inquiry into an alleged German wool-hoarding conspiracy was resumed today.

Introduction of the cable message, which was intercepted by British authorities and never reached Count von Bernstorff, closely followed protestations of thorough Americanism by Julius Forstmann, president of the Passaic company, which has been taken over by the Alien Property Custodian.

The reopening of the inquiry was requested by attorneys for the Forstmann-Huffman Company, who said they desired an opportunity of answering and explaining disclosures made during the first part of the investigation several weeks ago. The company was one of several American importing concerns which the Attorney-General said were suspected of being concerned in a scheme to evade American and British embargoes on wool and other textiles during the early days of the war by making shipments of this contraband sent to "dummy" consignees, although they knew the goods were intended ultimately for German consumption.

The intercepted cable message, furnished by the British Embassy at Washington, was introduced. A translation of its text follows:

"To Herr Count von Bernstorff,

"Rye, N. Y.

"Your Excellency: Interested parties here have repeatedly made representations for preferential treatment of the firm of Forstmann & Huffman, in Passaic, N. J., in connection with shipment of coal-tar dyes to the United States of America since this pure German firm, as is well known on your side, undertook last year the wool supply for Germany, and therefore claims it has been especially badly treated by England. It is most respectfully recommended to Your Excellency should there be no reasons to the contrary, to arrange for the greatest possible consideration for this firm in the later distribution of shipments to consumers which are now in prospect."

Forstmann said the only reason he could assign for the Foreign Office seeking preferential treatment for his company was that former business associates in Berlin might have requested such consideration in connection with negotiations carried on through the State Department at Washington, whereby Germany was to release shipments of dyestuffs and chemicals to the United States in exchange for cargoes of cotton and wool urgently needed in Germany. The transactions, he said, had the approval of Secretary of State Bryan.

Hitting Them Hard.

FIGHTING AT HANGARD FAVORABLE TO BRITISH.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, April 2.—The British yesterday improved their position by an attack south of Hangard and later repulsed German counter-attacks which aimed to restore the situation. South of Hebuterne the British conducted a successful local attack and repulsed a counter-assault.

According to prisoners, the Two Hundred and Eighth German Division has suffered losses of 70 per cent. since the beginning of the offensive. The Twentieth Division lost 50 per cent.; the Eighty-eighth Division lost 30 per cent. the first day, and 40 per cent. in an attack on Mezieries March 29.

In the first division the average strength of the companies was reduced to forty men by March 23. The Guard Ersatz division suffered 25 per cent. loss between March 21 and 23.

The Fifth Division had 50 per cent. casualties at Ham and additional heavy losses in crossing the Somme. In an attack south of the Scarpe River one regiment of the Twenty-sixth Division lost twenty-four officers.

Efficiency.

STRICTER DISCIPLINE REQUIRED OF TROOPS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 2. — Stricter discipline in order to bring the men to the highest possible state of efficiency is to be required by the American commander in France. The following general order has been issued to one of the American units which is to go to the battle front:

"The character of the service this command is now about to undertake demands the enforcement of stricter discipline and the maintenance of higher standards of efficiency than any heretofore required.

"In future the troops of this command will be held at all times to the strictest observance of that rigid discipline in camp and on the march, which is essential to their efficiency on the day of battle."

A Flareback.

COLD WAVE WITH SNOWS IN MIDDLE WEST STATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER (Colo.) April 2.—A cold wave last night was followed by snow in a wide area of the plains and Rocky Mountain states today, some points reporting a fall of ten inches tonight.

Central Wyoming, Northern Utah, Southern Colorado and Western South Dakota are covered with from six to ten inches of snow tonight. Western Nebraska also was visited by rain and snow flurries.

Lander, Wyo., reported ten inches of snow tonight. Edgemont, S. D., five, and the Weather Bureau has received reports that there were heavy falls of snow throughout Central Utah and Northwestern Colorado. The storm does not extend far south from Denver.

Railroad traffic has not been affected by the storm, according to local railroad officials.

The Weather Bureau predicted further storms Wednesday.

SICKNESS AFFECTS I.W.W.'S ON TRIAL.

GOVERNMENT MAY EMPLOY A CORPS OF PHYSICIANS TO STOP THE DELAYS.

Robert Johannson, one of the men active in the defense of the Mooney bomb plot case in San Francisco, and a representative of the International Workers' Defense League, arrived in Chicago today to attend the trial.

"My job was raising money for the I.W.W.," he said in answer to a question as to his part in the aid of the defense. "The persecution of I.W.W. is simply another evidence of the power in America is against labor—like your own I.W.W. is a red hot patriot because I am against the Kaiser and all his associates—even if they happen to be in the industrial field."

FISH REGULATION DELAYED ONE MONTH.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS WRIT OF PROHIBITION IN PALADINI CASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The State Supreme Court today granted a writ of prohibition to A. Paladini, one of the largest wholesale fish dealers of this city, delaying until May 6 the attempt of State Market Director Harris Weinstock to examine Paladini's sales and account books in an attempt to regulate the price of fish.

The court on that date will hear evidence on the question of permanently restraining the market director.

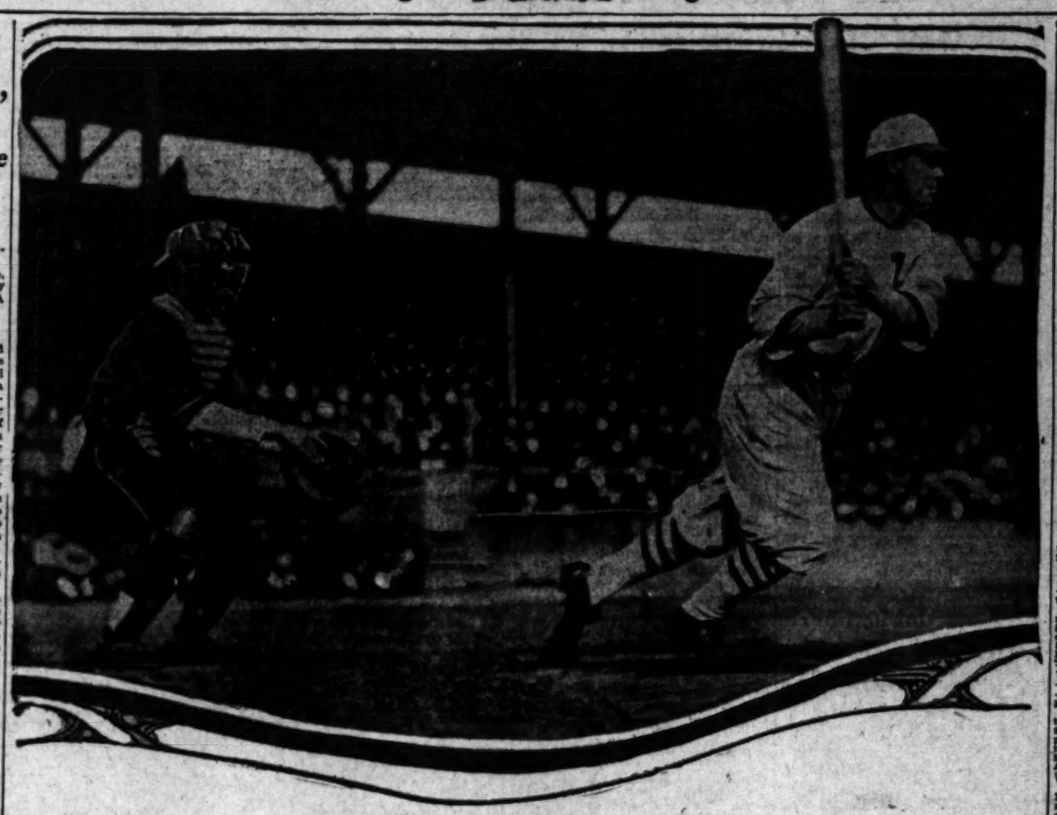
The writ was granted on the argument by counsel for Paladini that V. Quartararo, an employee of the State market director, was a relative by marriage of Paladini's chief competitor, and that the submission of his books to the market director would result in this competitor learning his business secrets.

AMERICAN TROOPS AGAIN BOMBARDED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 2.—Northwest of Toul the American troops have again been subjected to heavy bombardments on various parts of the sector. The American artillery retaliated enthusiastically.

The usual patrols were out last night, but no clash was reported. The weather prevents aerial activity.



"Wahoo Sam" Crawford lands on one.

"Poor Old Sam" had a bad day yesterday. All he did was to souse out two hits and make two perfect throws, both of which cut off Bee runners. The big Angel right fielder looks like the best outfielder in the league by a big margin.

KANSAS CITY STRIKE ENDED BY UNIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) April 2.—The general strike in progress here for nearly a week was ended late tonight when the union-labor organizations accepted a proposal of the Kansas City Employers' Association that all the workmen who walked out in sympathy with striking laundry employees return to work in order "that confidence in labor contracts may be re-established."

CAMMANN'S BROTHER IN NEW YORK TO WED.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 2.—Announcement has been made by Mrs. Riley Miles Gilbert of No. 563 Park avenue, of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Anne Gilbert, to Donald Fairfax Cammann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Cammann of this city.

Miss Gilbert was introduced to society a few years ago and joined the junior league. Her sister, who was Miss Mary F. Gilbert, was married to Edwin Norman Hickman, and Riley Miles Gilbert, a student at St. Marks School, is her brother.

Mr. Cammann is a member of Squadron A, New York S. G., and is a brother of William C. and Oswald M. Cammann of this city and Henry H. Cammann of Pasadena, Cal.

MAYOR RE-ELECTED AT PHOENIX ELECTION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 2.—The city election was a victory for the present Mayor, Peter Corpstein, who was elected by 111 majority. J. A. R. Irvine and Charles Barnett were elected Commissioners. The vote was the heaviest ever locally polled.

KANSAS CITY ELECTS DEMOCRATIC MAYOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) April 2.—James Cowgill, Democrat, was elected Mayor of Kansas City today, according to returns late tonight, which showed his plurality nearly 8000 over Cyrus Coane, Republican candidate.

WAR FINANCE BILL REPORT IS ADOPTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2. — Congress today disposed of the War Finance Corporation Bill when the House adopted the conference report agreed to by the Senate yesterday. It makes possible the organization of a $500,000,000 corporation with power to issue $3,000,000,000 of bonds with the Secretary of the Treasury and four others as incorporators.

NEED OF AIRCRAFT SHOWN BY RECORD.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) How necessary and rapid building of airplanes is, can be gathered from the official reports of losses on all battle fronts during February. These totaled 361, of which 268 fell on the western front, eighty in Italy, three in Palestine, three in Macedonia and one in Mesopotamia.

The Allies report that 273 German and Austrian machines were brought to earth by Entente airmen, while the German headquarters claim to have brought down eighty-eight Allied machines on the various fronts. Losses for December on the western and Italian fronts alone were 390.

CREDITS TO THE ALLIES EXCEED FIVE BILLIONS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Credits to the Allies in the last year were raised today to more than $5,000,000,000 by a loan of $200,000,000 to Great Britain. That nation's total credits from the United States now are $2,720,000,000 and all the Allies' $5,160,000,000.

CRANDALL RETURNS TO THE BEE HIVE.

Walter McCredie signed Crandall just before the game yesterday afternoon. He used Karl at third base, where the holdout showed to fine advantage. Crandall is a natural second baseman, but may be retained at third as long as Paddy Biglin does well around the keystone sack.

BOSTON, April 2.—In a hard-fought boxing bout tonight, Frankie Britt of New Bedford defeated Jimmy Duffy of New York. Britt led in ten of twelve rounds and was awarded the referee's decision.

WORKMAN KILLED.

William C. Beatty, a workman in the signal department of the Pacific Electric, was instantly killed yesterday when the moving car from which he had alighted ran over him at Elstman, a station on the harbor line. According to advices from the railway Beatty was a new employee, and little was known about him. He was middle-aged, and leaves a widow. The remains are at Pierce Brothers undertaking parlors.

BOLO PASHA'S APPEAL REJECTED BY COURT.

FRENCH TRAITOR PLAYS HIS LAST CARD TO ESCAPE DEATH PENALTY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 2.—The Court of Cassation today rejected the appeal of Bolo Pasha from the sentence of death imposed by court-martial for treason. The court also rejected the appeal of Darius Porchere, an accountant, who was tried with Bolo Pasha and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

The appeals were based on the argument that French military justice was incompetent in the case of a Frenchman committing a crime in a neutral country. The appeals of Bolo Pasha and Porchere were denied March 13 by the Court of Revision.

SALVADORE GETS VERDICT IN BOUT WITH MURPHY.

BY EDWIN F. O'MALLEY.

AN ARMY of twelve hundred sprained ankles wended its way to Jack Doyle's last night. The removing of brass-rail, underpinning props in Los Angeles last Saturday night played havoc with a certain bibulous gentry, who finally found relief in the American Prince of Monaco's domains. Rumor went the rounds that this convivial contingent's vernacular was difficult to understand when spilled at a number of buttermilk booths about town.

Jack, however, had a bunch of white-aproned minions on tap who understand their jargon, even though it was to be delivered in Volapuk. Doyle didn't have room in his boxing pavilion for these worthies. Addressing them in a neatly-turned speech in his cafe, he apprised them of this fact. In a chorus, as if by one spontaneous outburst, they chortled, "Never mind, Jack, don't lose any sleep over it. We want here." Oh, boys, do you suppose that Jack really lost any winks over it?

Just before the wind-up, Jack's manager sent a request to Referee Donald as follows: "Say, Dick, for the love of Mike, delay the main event for half an hour. We have a hell of a play at the bar."

Young Gene Murphy, formerly Young Fritz, a big local favorite, met Phil Salvadore in the main setto of the evening. They scrapped at 125 pounds. The boxing was rather dull for the first two rounds. At the beginning of the second both lads warmed up to their work. It was give and take from then on, the boys showing good lefts. The judges gave the decision to Salvadore, but it looked as if a draw would have been about the proper thing.

Leo Lee, a celestial, hooked up with Charlie Blair in the night's opener. Lee's coach, evidently a relative, swung his words in his native tongue and had Blair up in the air. Things were going bad for Charlie, until a friend shouted, "In the laundry." There it went, and from then on Blair evened matters. It was called a draw. The boys milled at 118 pounds.

Gene Watson, known to local pugilism as the Smithy Kane of the ring, crossed gloves with Kid Denby at 128 pounds. The lads fought fast. Watson landing the most blows and gaining an easy decision.

Kid Mende and Ted Titus furnished the sport for the third set-to. This was a slugging bee pure and simple. Mende dropped his man in the first round with a clip to the chin, but Teddy was up in a jiffy. It was the Kid all the way, and he earned an easy verdict. Catch-weights.

Cliff Jordan had no trouble in tatooing Sailor Hill's face with all the signs of the zodiac. It was Cliff all the way. The sailor appeared to have left everything in his training camp but gameness. They beamed at 158 pounds.

The semi-windup found Louis Reese and Joe Miller facing each other at catchweights. This bout was a good exhibition of fisticuffs. It was a humdinger affair from start to finish. Miller landed the cleaner blows and looked to be the winner, but the judges called it a draw.

The famous Kid McCoy was introduced and was received with hearty acclaim.

SPEEDING UP PLANS FOR ATHLETIC MEET.

Arrangements are speeding for the monster army and navy athletic carnival to be held at Maier Park on the coming Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Boxing, hand-grenade throwing contests, steer-lifting matches, brass band concerts, and the taking of motion pictures will be among the amusement features offered, according to Eddie Maier, well-known Los Angeles sportsman, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements. The park and all other necessities are being donated by Maier, so that the gross receipts will be turned over by the Liberty Loan committee, under whose auspices the affair is being staged, to the lads from Camp Kearny and San Pedro for an army and navy athletic fund.

George Blake, athletic instructor at Camp Kearny, is here to arrange the boxing end of the entertainment, and Tim McGrath and Wad Wadhams are supervising the details. Jim Jeffries is to referee.

One of the big cards will be the match between Kid McCoy and Willie Meehan. McCoy while in the service of Uncle Sam spent a year on the Mexican border.

Tickets are on sale at the R. H. Dyas Company, and at numerous banks and mercantile houses. An already heavy advance sale has started.

CUBS WALK OVER THE SUN MAIDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, April 2.—The Chicago Cubs handed a terrible wallop to the Sun Maids here today when they defeated the raisin growers by a score of 12 to 1. Howard Ehmke, former Detroit American star, Brant and Pete McKenry, former Cincinnati Red stars, pitched for the Sun Maids, and Grover Cleveland Alexander and Walker pitched for the Cubs.

Famous in a Day for Her Beautiful Complexion Oatmeal Combination Does It

A Free Prescription Does Its Work Overnight. You Can Prepare It At Your Home.

New York: It is my own discovery and it takes just one night to get such marvelous results, says Mae Edna Wilder, when her friends ask her about her wonderful complexion and the improved appearance of her hands and arms. You can do the same thing if you follow my advice she says: I feel it my duty to tell every girl and woman what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it! All this change in a single night. I never tire of telling others just what brought about such remarkable results. Here is the identical prescription that removed every defect from my face, neck, hands and arms. Until you try it you can form no idea of the marvelous change it will make in just one application. The prescription which you can prepare at your own home is as follows: Go to any grocery and get 10 cents worth of ordinary oatmeal, and from any drug store a bottle of derwille. Prepare the oatmeal as directed in every package of derwille and apply night and morning. The first application will astonish you. It makes the skin appear transparent, smooth and velvety. I especially recommend it for freckles, tan, sun spots, coarse pores, rough skin, ruddiness, wrinkles, and, in fact every blemish the face hands and arms are heir to. If your neck or chest is discolored from exposure apply this combination there and the objectionable defect will disappear as if by magic. It is absolutely harmless and will not promote or stimulate a growth of hair. No matter how rough and ungainly the hands or arms, or what abuses they have had through hard work and exposure to sun and wind, this oatmeal-derwille combination will work a wonderful transformation in twelve hours at the most. Thousands who have used it have had the same results I have had.

Note: To get the best effect be sure to follow the complete directions contained in every package of derwille. You have only to get derwille and oatmeal. You need nothing else and it is so inexpensive that any girl or woman can afford it. The manufacturers and druggists guarantee that there will be a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money. It is sold in this city under a money refund guarantee by all department stores and by all druggists, including Logan, McKay & Menkman, Vocelsel and all Owl and Sun Drug Co. Stores.

ORIENTAL INCENSE LEADS TO ARREST.

PERFUME CAUSES CAPTURE OF WOMAN ON CHARGE OF SHOPLIFTING.

Absence of mind and presence of a strong odor of oriental incense late yesterday led to the arrest of a woman who gave the name of Mrs. K. E. Milne, and who is charged by the arresting officers with being one of a ring of shoplifters whose recent activities added hundreds of dollars' loss daily to Los Angeles stores. In her room at a downtown hotel Operatives Borchard and Williams of the Nick Harris Detective Agency say they found several hundred dollars worth of goods, said to have been stolen from local stores, and great quantities of oriental incense.

The suspect was being shadowed by Miss Borchard for several weeks, but without success. According to the arresting officers, statements that the odor of oriental incense always was detected shortly after the loss was discovered were made to the detectives. Yesterday, while in a department store near Seventh and Olive streets the suspect picked up a package belonging to Miss Borchard and an expensive purse, and later claimed the articles as her own.

Mrs. Milne's arrest came within less than twenty hours after the arrest of another prisoner by the same agency, in which an automobile load of alleged stolen goods was recovered and a woman giving the name of Tiny Thompson arrested.

ESCAPES THREE TIMES, BUT NOW'S IN JAIL.

MAN CRANKS UP POLICE AUTO AND FLEES, BUT IS CAPTURED.

Richard Dixon, 28, apparently was walking less than he likes Chief Butler's various detaining establishments, it was demonstrated last night, when, five minutes after he was released from the City Jail where he was brought after his second escape from the East Side blockade, he was speeding along in one of the police department automobiles, and in another five minutes he was arrested for stealing the car and brought back to the Central Station, charged with grand larceny.

Dixon yesterday was given a 180-day suspended sentence in Police Judge Chambers's court for escape from the East Side jail, where he had fifteen more days to serve. This was his second escape, the police say, but that did not prevent the man from taking another chance. After obtaining his property at the property clerk's window Dixon walked out into the street, cranked the metropolitan squad's automobile and drove off. He disappeared around the corner just about the time that squad members dashed into the street. Having reported their car stolen, the officers went to work on foot.

The stolen automobile's number was telephoned to the different stations and ten minutes later Patrolman Vail of the East Side Station arrested Dixon, inside the stolen car, at Avenue 19 and Pasadena avenue.

With the French.

ROUT GERMANS WITH BAYONET.

French Hurl Crack Guards Pell-mell from Village.

Three Attempts of Teutons End in Disorder.

Desperate Efforts to Reach Amiens are Failures.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, April 1.—The Germans continued their desperate efforts today to open a road toward Amiens, their objective since the starting of the battle, but they made little if any progress. In fact, the Allied troops were able to recapture the town of Hangard-en-Santerre. Most of the enemy forces were hurled in the course of the day on the British, the French lines on the left being more or less quiet.

The first German guard division yesterday suffered a most severe beating at Grivesnes. At 11:20 o'clock in the morning the guards attacked with the greatest fury, and after hours of the closest fighting they succeeded in getting a footing in the village. Two hours later the Germans were ejected pellmell by a magnificent counter-attack at the point of the bayonet.

FRENCH ARE VICTORS.

This was not the end, however, for the Germans came back again time after time, preceded by a heavy artillery barrage. In the grounds of the Grivesnes Castle the Frenchmen went to meet them and fought them back with bayonets and rifle butts, making them retreat in disorder under a grilling fire from automatic rifles, mounted on armored motor cars. Once more this morning the guards, not satisfied with their defeat yesterday, returned to the assault, but the attack was in vain and the enemy had to seek shelter in his positions, leaving the French the masters of the situation.

In their great race to attain the communications connecting the north and south at Amiens, the Germans had the advantage of knowing exactly where they were going, and when the British and French troops retired before the immense volume of German troops, the enemy again was favorably placed for rushing reinforcements from one part of the line to another owing to the fact that he occupied the interior line of a semicircle in which the battle was being fought.

FEWER PRISONERS.

In the first few days of fighting the Germans naturally were able to pick up many groups of prisoners which had become isolated from the main bodies during the receding movement, but recently their haul of captives has been comparatively small.

The French did remarkable feats in connection with the transport of troops when called upon to support their British allies in holding the southern part of the line in the first stage of the battle. One army corps came from a long distance to be thrown immediately into the fighting as the men debarked from motor lorries with their packs. This same corps now has been in the fighting lines ten days without relief, and has requested permission to remain there, although it has borne a great part in barring the route towards Paris through the valley of the Oise.

Other French corps have entered the struggle since, but none has earned a greater amount of praise than this first reinforcement.

The reserves of the Entente Allies still are virtually intact.

BANKERS TO TESTIFY IN LUNACY HEARING.

J. A. Dean, who was recently declared insane by the Lunacy Commission, demanded a jury trial and yesterday the jury was selected in Judge Houser's court, but the trial continued until this morning to enable Mr. Dean to have in court fifteen witnesses, representing prominent bankers and business men.

The witnesses who will be subpoenaed include Stoddard Jess, W. D. Woolwine, Judge Charles Wellborn, Fred Howard, Harry L. Parks, E. J. Marshall, S. S. Salisbury, W. E. McVay, M. N. Avery, former United States Senator Flint, Charles R. Drake, County Clerk Lelande, W. E. Dean and J. H. A. Kerr.

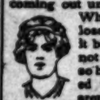
CLOTHING WHITE WITH DANDRUFF
Scalp Itched and Burned. Cuticura Healed at Cost of $1.00.



"I began to lose my hair and it kept coming out until I was almost bald. When I combed it I would lose a double handful, and it became so thin I could not fix it. I had dandruff so badly that when I combed my hair my clothing around my shoulders would be white. My scalp itched and burned so I could hardly stand it.

"I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised so I sent for a sample. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Soap and my head is healed." (Signed) Mrs. M. McWherter, Eagle Hill, New Mexico, Sept. 20, 1917.

For every purpose of the toilet Cuticura Soap and Ointment are supreme.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c.

AN ABUNDANCE OF HAIR IS A MARK OF HEALTH, VIGOR AND BEAUTY.
COCOTONE stops the hair from falling out. It is a scalp and hair food which is absorbed quickly and stimulates a vigorous growth of new hair.

There is no need of being troubled with eczema, itching scalp, dandruff, scale or hair trouble of any kind, as the use of COCOTONE corrects this condition and promotes a healthy scalp.

COCOTONE is a scientific, NON-ALCOHOLIC, antiseptic scalp and hair food preparation, that cleanses the scalp and nourishes the roots—thus assuring a continuous and abundant growth of soft, glossy hair.

COCOTONE does not make the hair dry or brittle, oily or sticky, but leaves it with the appearance of natural luxuriance.

Men and women, get a BOTTLE OF COCOTONE, give it a trial, and you will be convinced that your days of scalp and hair troubles are over. Your scalp will be free from dandruff and you will enjoy a wonderful growth of new hair—thus displaying your health, vigor and beauty.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, April 2.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 8 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.86; at 5 p.m., 29.90. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 54 deg. and 61 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 96 per cent.; 5 p.m., 60 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 10 miles. Highest temperature, 61 deg.; lowest, 52 deg. Rainfall for season, 13.43 inches; last season, 14.59 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The western area of low pressure still controls the weather east of the Mississippi River. Heavy rain fell at New Orleans, 1.92 inches being reported this morning. The far western extension of this low area is central over Nevada and Utah and caused showers throughout Southern California, except in the extreme south. The greatest amount in this district was .20 of an inch at Pasadena. The proximity of this depression will give Los Angeles and vicinity showers tonight or Wednesday.

ORCHARDS REPORT.—Minimum and maximum temperatures from orchards reported to the Los Angeles office of the U. S. Weather Bureau yesterday are as follows:

Stations—	Max.	Min.
Mt. Wilson	57	30
Pasadena	60	31
Pomona	60	31
Redlands	64	29
Riverside	63	31
Santa Barbara	58	32
San Bernardino	60	31

"Spirit of '76."

SAYS BOPP WAS TO BACK THE INTERDICTED FILM.

Scenario Writer Also Swears Goldstein Told Him He Meant to Cater to German Turnvereiners.

NAMING Franz Bopp, ex-German Consul at San Francisco, who escaped from Angel Island after being convicted of conspiring to blow up munition ships, as a prospective backer of the production of "The Spirit of '76," George L. Hutchin, the writer of the scenario, threw a thrill into the trial of Robert Goldstein before United States District Judge Bledsoe yesterday on a charge of violating the Espionage Act. The organization which produced the film, known as the Continental Producing Company, of which Joseph Goldstein was president from early in December until his resignation December 1, a few days after Goldstein's arrest.

Mr. Hutchin testified that he was informed Bopp would become financially interested in the production of the picture. He asserted further that Goldstein had made a statement that he had an idea of producing one and two-reel films that would appeal to German Turnverein members throughout the country, and that in this connection he was led to believe by Goldstein that Bopp would be interested in the productions.

Continuing, Mr. Hutchin testified that he had had conversations with Goldstein and Charles Swikard, the latter a well-known director of the motion-picture world, regarding the production of a picture that would depict patriotic scenes in the days of the Revolution, and Goldstein had asserted that it should be of the kind that would appeal to all classes.

CHANGED SCENARIO?

Though Mr. Hutchin admitted that he wrote the scenario of a picture to be called "The Spirit of '76," he stated that it had been changed by Goldstein and other names substituted. The witness referred to the scene of the butchery at Cherry Vale as among the changes that had been made by Goldstein. This had reference to the butchery of women and children by the British soldiers. The witness said it as his opinion that these changes had the effect of exalting the part that Germany was playing in the war, and that the scenes showing the British in an unfavorable light had been garbled by Goldstein.

The witness had first seen Goldstein in December, 1915, he stated, when the latter called him from the Clark Hotel to the Goldstein costume establishment, where the idea of a Revolutionary War picture was first broached. Goldstein, Swickard and himself discussed the matter, he stated.

W. L. Brock, a motion-picture worker, who was the second witness, testified that he was engaged in research work for the production of "The Spirit of '76," working on the job from August to November, 1916, and that he was told to get all the pictures and facts he could gather in relation to the Indian massacre in Cherry Valley, especially the doings of the English troops on that occasion. The witness said that he secured a number of the pictures desired, including that of the murder of Capt Boyd by the English soldiers.

Mr. Brock asserted that Goldstein wanted him to get all the pictures he could showing that the British soldiers were guilty of atrocities and murders, the defendant saying, he testified, that the Germans in the present war were no more guilty than were the English in the War of the Revolution. The witness declared further that Goldstein was very bitter toward all Englishmen, and had given him orders that he did not want "any d—n Englishman employed about the place."

The greatest latitude was allowed by Judge Bledsoe in the examination of the witnesses, it being the evident intention of the court to give the jury all the light possible on the transaction. Attorneys for Goldstein were on their feet about half the time objecting to the questions of Assistant United States District Attorneys Palmer and Lawson, only to be turned down.

NO TIME WASTED.

Judge Bledsoe did not waste much time on the preliminaries. J. H. Ryckman, of counsel for the defense, sought to throw a monkey-wrench into the judicial machinery by interposing a motion to quash the three counts of the indictment against Goldstein. He argued that it was necessary, for a successful prosecuting of the charge of violating the sections of the espionage act, which forms the basis of the indictments against his client, for the government to charge and show that members of the United States Army or Navy saw the motion picture, and were moved to acts of disloyalty, sedition, rebellion, etc., thereby.

With a wave of the hand the court disposed of that argument by stating

Six Months.

FAKE AIR HERO NOW TO SWEEP JAIL CELLS.

DEBONAIR Daniel Edwards, who dressed well, lived well and won considerable local fame for his alleged activities as a British airman who had been "shot down several times by Boche anti-aircraft guns," was sentenced yesterday to serve 180 days in the City Jail by Police Judge Chesebro on a charge of vagrancy.

Edwards, immaculate in a tailored suit of English cut, was arrested Saturday night by Special Agent Fred C. Boden of the Department of Justice, and taken to Central Station for investigation. At the time of his arrest, which occurred at No. 600 South Main street, Edwards was "ballyhooing" for an alleged Red Cross benefit exhibition of relics from the battlefields of the Marne, Soissons and Verdun. In Edwards's exhibition were a number of shell cases, broken bayonets, discarded British, French and Italian uniforms, useless and obsolete rifles, and a large number of pictures of scenes at the battle front.

Chief among the pictures displayed was an enlarged photograph of Edwards, dressed as a captain of the British aero service.

Edwards is alleged to have told Special Agent Boden that he had never seen the French front, had never made an airplane flight in his life, and was not connected with the Red Cross in any way, but was merely "working a gullible public for all it would pay."

Edwards charged no admission to his exhibition, but had a large receiver stationed at the entrance to his hall, where patrons dropped in whatever contributions they considered appropriate. Edwards is said to have admitted that he received more than $200 a week from his show.

He is also alleged to have been connected with an alleged bunko man, Mike Golan, of San Francisco, in a scheme in which the two swindled several persons of considerable sums under the guise of Red Cross work.

"Debonair Dan" now will be engaged in peeling potatoes and sweeping the floors of cold steel cells for a while.

Coming Here.

AGASSIZ PRISONERS MAY BE TRIED FOR PIRACY.

WITH the expected arrival here early this morning of United States District Attorney O'Connor, bringing the evidence in the case of the auxiliary cruiser Alexander Agassiz, as developed at the prize court proceedings at San Diego, yesterday, the question of whether Miss Maud Lochrane and the five German prisoners will be tried on a charge of piracy, will be decided by United States Commissioner Hammack.

Dist.-Atty. O'Conner is expected to confer with Commissioner Hammack on the case this afternoon. Miss Lochrane and the five Germans who were taken when the Agassiz was seized by an American war vessel off Masatlan (Mexico) March 19, will be brought here by Federal officers from San Diego some time today.

At the prize court proceedings at San Diego yesterday, the commanding officer and the paymaster of the American war vessel which made the seizure contradicted the statements of the German prisoners that nothing had been thrown overboard from the Agassiz between the time the American vessel gave chase and when the alleged piratical craft was overhauled and boarded by American bluejackets.

LOST ROADS LOSE THE BATTLE OF OLIVENHEIM.

CAMP KEARNY, April 2.—Radios buzzed and Signal Corps men flashed messages from hilltop to hilltop today in the battle of Olivenheim Valley; but the fight, though fierce in its theoretical application, was bloodless. The battle was fought by different units of the Eightieth Infantry Brigade. At all times Brig.-Gen. Herman Hall, commander, was in touch with the two contending forces, either by wireless or by wig-wag signals.

Theoretically, the old Seventh, the One Hundred and Sixtieth, lost the day's battle, but this was due largely to conditions of terrain and the fact that roads which had been mapped out were plowed up after the map was made. As the orders were to stick to roads and keep off cultivated land, of which there are several thousand acres in the San Dieguito rancho, the Los Angeles and Southern California regiment had to make a long detour to work out the intricate battle problem, and in doing so was "covered" by the other regiment.

Col. L. M. Farrell directed his men of the winning forces and Col. Charles F. Hutchins, the One Hundred and Sixtieth. The One Hundred and Fifty-ninth was designated as the White regiment and the men of that unit had to turn their olive-drab shirts inside out. The One Hundred and Sixtieth men were designated Reds, and were supported by Cos. A and B of the Machine Gun Battalion, while Cos. C and D of the same unit supported the other regiment.

probably could not be seen from an airplane flying at a height required by battle conditions.

The battle of Olivenheim lasted only about an hour, but in that time the One Hundred and Fifty-ninth and its supporting machine gunners got the "head" on two companies of the opposing regiment, and had the "drop" on the others should they march over the brow of a hill. The reserve and support of the opposing regiment was fighted by the One Hundred and Fifty-ninth men and the battle was called off.

Maj.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong, commander of the Sunshine Division, his chief of staff and others visited the scene of activities and watched the battle from afar.

SENTENCE ROBBER.

A sentence of from one to five years at San Quentin was imposed yesterday on Manuel Bega, 22 years old, after he had entered a plea of guilty before Judge Willis of having robbed the house of Louis Vasquez at El Monte on February 26. The defendant was denied probation.

WOMAN SUED FOR AUTO ACCIDENT.

MRS. GLADYS BILICKE MADE DEFENDANT BY BROKER OF PALMDALE.

Mrs. Gladys Bilicke was made defendant yesterday in an automobile collision suit filed by H. M. Sheehan, a farm land broker of Palmdale, in which he claims $11,680 damages for injuries he alleges he sustained.

Mr. Sheahan asserts in the complaint filed through Attorney W. C. Fetchner that the Bilicke machine was being driven at the rate of forty miles an hour by Mrs. Bilicke's chauffeur on the State Highway near the Conejo ranch on December 20, 1917.

When the autos collided, Mr. Sheehan states that he was left helpless, suffering from three broken ribs and shock. Subsequently he was brought to Los Angeles and taken to a hospital. He alleges that he has sustained internal injuries and was confined to his house for eight weeks.

Mrs. A. C. Bilicke's secretary at the Alexandria stated that he had not heard of the suit. Inquiry by telephone at the residence of Mrs. A. C. Bilicke, No. 699 Monterey road, South Pasadena, brought the response that Mrs. Bilicke had not been served with papers, and knew nothing of the suit.

BLACKMAILING PLOT?

Woman Charges Husband Tried to Poison Her When She Refused to Send Threatening Letter.

That C. A. Barrett, now in the County Jail on a charge of attempting wife poisoning, placed antimony in the medicine of his wife after she had refused to blackmail a prominent San Diego business man was among the charges made in the case by Mrs. Barrett to the District Attorney yesterday.

Barrett was arrested several days ago and will be arraigned in the Justice Court this morning.

Mrs. Barrett told of having met a wealthy business man of San Diego while estranged temporarily from her husband and of having been befriended by him. When her husband learned of it, she said, he insisted that she write a blackmailing letter to the man but she refused.

She declared she had been in constant fear of her husband since this episode and has a premonition that he will harm her if released from the present charge against him.

Here to Seek Food.

MILLIONS SAID TO BE STARVING IN FINLAND.

THE chaotic industrial conditions and serious food situation in Finland were described yesterday by J. Lailila, vice-president of the Finnish Co-operative Wholesale Society of Helsingfors, who is at the Alexandria. He is a member of the Finnish food mission to America.

"The society I represent is the official purchasing agent and distributor for over 500 stores in Finland," he said yesterday. "It is licensed by the government, which has sent a party of three men to the United States to find some way by which our people may secure food.

"America has no idea of the true situation in Finland. We are practically starving, and political conditions are such that it is impossible for us to plant anything. Last year the Socialists forced all farm labor to strike and even prevented the owners from planting or cultivating their properties. The result is that there is practically no food at all in Finland today.

"The National Food Administration of this country has promised us 40,000 tons of corn and oats, but for some reason it has not been sent, and I am not sure that it will be. There are 5,000,000 of my countrymen waiting to hear from this mission. They look to us to find some solution of their hunger. We have offered to pay the expenses of anyone the United States may send to see that this food goes to the Finns alone and is not re-exported to Germany, as England asserts we will do."

Mr. Lailila said that, while the present government of Finland is not making a good showing, yet his country has been recognized by Russia, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, France and the Central Powers, and that if left to itself it will eventually work out its own destiny and become a stable republic.

FRIENDSHIP OF JAPAN AVOWED.

Nipponese Admiral Addresses Countrymen Here.

Declares Nations Must Work Together to Win War.

Naval Cadets are Guests at Many Entertainments.

"All Japanese must work hand and heart with America to win this war," said Vice-Admiral K. Suzuki, commander of the Japanese training ships Iwate and Asama, now at the harbor, yesterday, in an address to several hundred of his countrymen in the Buddhist Temple at No. 123 Jackson street.

"Relations between Japan and the United States are becoming more and more cordial as a mutual understanding grows among the people of both nations," he continued.

In addition the admiral, who yesterday was entertained by the local Nipponese colony, reviewed the part that Japan has played in the present crisis, speaking of the way she cleared the Pacific of German raiders at the beginning of the war, and how ever since the Japanese navy has assisted the British and French marine forces to protect shipping in the Mediterranean by acting as convoy to merchant vessels and transports. From the Buddhist Hall the admiral and his staff went to the home of Consul U. Oyama, No. 1512 Hobart boulevard, where they were entertained at dinner by the Consul and his wife.

Admiral Suzuki visited the Griffith studio yesterday and was presented with a strip of the film "Hearts of the World" by Dorothy Gish. The admiral remarked that he had heard much of the picture and made arrangements to attend a matinee of the film tomorrow.

Today Consul Oyama has arranged an elaborate luncheon at the Alexandria for Admiral Suzuki and his suite, to which about fifty well-known Angelenos, together with several prominent Japanese, have been invited.

At the speakers' table will be seated Consul Oyama, Mayor Woodman, K. Tashiashi, president of the local Japanese Chamber of Commerce, Dr. A. J. Scott, representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; Prof. K. Inui of Occidental College, Dr. James A. B. Scherer, president of Throop College of Technology, and Admiral Suzuki. Commander Sata will interpret for the admiral. At the beginning of the banquet toasts to Japan and America, will be exchanged between Consul Oyama, J. B. Elliott, Admiral Suzuki and Capt. Poundstone.

In addition to the entertainment being tendered the officers of the training squadron, the cadets in addition are being feted. Yesterday about thirty-five, together with several officers, visited Mount Lowe. Today, however, the cadets will be brought from the harbor in sightseeing automobiles, and after visiting points of interest in the city, will be taken to Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica. Returning via Sawtelle they are to be driven to the University of Southern California, where they will be served with luncheon. Following this the group will pay a visit of inspection to Exposition Park, leaving from there for the harbor on the Pacific Electric in the late afternoon.

Tomorrow Admiral Suzuki and several of his staff accompanied by Consul Oyama and a city official will travel to Mount Wilson by automobile.

Friday morning will see the officers of the Asama and Iwate on a visit of inspection of the shipbuilding plants at the harbor and the Long Beach canneries. Returning to the Iwate, Admiral Suzuki is to be host at luncheon to seventeen prominent Japanese and city officials. Following the meal the officers and cadets will be "at home" to about 250 members of the Japanese colony here.

REPEATS CHARGES.

W. F. Eldridge, sales manager for a sash and door concern, who filed a charge with the Fire Commission several weeks ago to the effect that threats were being made to firemen who refused to contribute to a fund being raised, he said, to help defray the expense of the trial of suspended Fire Chief Eley, yesterday appeared before the Public Safety Committee of the Council and reiterated the charge. He said he could produce a number of firemen who heard the threats and the committee asked that they appear for interrogation two weeks hence.

Rush Order.

WANTED, THOUSANDS TO MAN ARMY TRANSPORTS

Government Declares it will Send a Huge Army Over at Once—Need Urgent for Officers, Crews.

A FRANK statement, for publication, of the purpose of the government to immediately send a great army to France is contained in a telegram received by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday from Henry Howard, director of recruiting for the United States Shipping Board.

The board declares that the projected great movement of transports makes it vital that there be immediately recruited thousands of ship's officers, trained seamen and untrained men between 21 and 36 who can be quickly schooled under emergency pressure to serve in transport crews and otherwise.

Every graduate of the Los Angeles free government navigation school is ordered to report at once. Exemption boards are asked to exempt any men who can be of service in the merchant marine. The Shipping Board pays railroad fares East of graduate officers assigned to ships and also secures their exemption from the army draft. There are now about forty students in the navigation school, located in the old Los Angeles High School building on Fort Hill.

Following is the Howard telegram sent from Boston:

"Immediate and drastic action to man the new merchant ships now coming from the ways and the Dutch ships taken over by the United States has been imposed by the great German drive, and steps to that end were taken today at an important conference of Shipping Board officials and representatives of mariners' organizations.

"'We are going to send over to France in the next three weeks every man from the camps that we can find ships for,' said Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's organization. 'This means ships and more ships to take supplies and soldiers, but man must be found to man these ships. There is no time for dallying; they must be found now.'

"The conference voted to push nation-wide recruiting for ship's officers and men, and plans were discussed for impressing on local exemption boards the need of granting immediate exemption to all men known to be mariners, as provided by recent regulations, in order that they may at once be sent aboard ships.

"Henry Howard, director of recruiting for the Shipping Board, told the conference that the checking of the German drive emphasized the shipping crisis.

"'Service on a merchant ship is now as important as in the trenches,' he said, 'and takes the place of military service from which merchant marine sailors are especially exempted.

"'The Shipping Board wants to hear from every licensed deck officer and engineer in the United States. Experienced men without licenses will be given intensive training in any of the forty-three free navigation or engineering schools to qualify them for officers. Any man who can serve as an officer and does not come forward is deserting his country in time of need.'

"Men without seagoing experience between the ages of 21 and 36 will be accepted for the new merchant crews and not only will be exempted from draft but will be given proper preliminary training on the Shipping Board's training ships. The national headquarters for recruiting officers and men for the merchant marine are in the custom-house, Boston, Mass."

ACTOR'S ESTATE SMALL.

Estate Joseph A. Galbraith, One-time Matinee Idol, Leaves Only Two Hundred Dollars.

Two hundred dollars and some personal property was the value of the estate left by Joseph A. Galbraith, former actor and matinee idol, who died here on Monday, according to a petition to the Probate Court for special letters of administration filed yesterday by Helen Loeffler, his former wife.

Letters of guardianship were also asked for Allmon Rose Galbraith, their 9-year-old child. The estate of the former wife was taken in order to conserve the property, it was stated.

DROP THEFT CHARGE

Grand Larceny Action Against Smith and Wife is Dismissed in Justice Court.

James B. Smith and Freda Smith, his young wife, were released from the charge of grand larceny by Justice Palmer yesterday afternoon on the recommendation of Deputy District Attorney Glover, who said the evidence was insufficient to hold them.

The complaining witness was Della Brown, who conducts a rooming-house at No. 414½ North Main street, and who alleged that on March 21 the defendants took from her room four gold rings of the value of $60.

SEEK PURPOSE IN EAGLE RAID.

Police Wanted to "Get" Someone, Woolwine Thinks.

Other "Carnivals" had not been Interrupted.

Grand Jury will Continue its Investigation.

That the early Sunday morning raid on the hall of the Fraternal Order of Eagles on South Main street was undertaken by the police for the ostensible purpose of "getting" somebody was intimated yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, following a grand jury investigation into the matter.

Whom the police had been instructed to "get" has become a much-mooted question. No police officer appears to have been on the list, as from ten to fifteen officers were present at the time of the raid and were unmolested, it was pointed out.

The gambling equipment used at the Eagles' carnival was imported from Calexico, and was the property of a prominent gambler on the border, it was disclosed yesterday before the grand jury. Several police officers were questioned in regard to the inception of the raid with the object of attempting to arrive at a reason for it.

WHY "PICKED OUT?"

It was pointed out that other organizations in the city have conducted similar carnivals with the apparent acquiescence of the police department, and were not bothered with. So far the members of the grand jury have been unable to learn just why the Eagles were "picked on." The inquisitors will continue the investigation tomorrow with a view of raking down something tangible in the form of evidence.

It developed yesterday that the police knew at 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon that a raid was contemplated. One officer is said to have received written instructions from Chief of Police Butler at that time "to investigate the Eagles and to use his judgment with regard to undertaking a raid."

SAW FROM ROOF.

This officer told the grand jury yesterday that he had gone to the roof of an adjoining building in order to obtain evidence that gambling was going on. He then returned to police headquarters, and shortly afterward the place was raided and four men were placed under arrest.

Questioned yesterday by the grand jury as to why four men only had been arrested in the raid, police officials replied that evidence only had been gathered with respect to these four men. When told further that a number of police officers were known to have been present and were not molested, the reply was made, under pressure, that the police would prosecute all officers known to have been present.

B. J. Cohn, Grover Lynch, George Kimpel and Edwin Williams, the four men arrested in the raid, were arraigned before Police Judge Chesebro yesterday afternoon and their cases set for plea on the 16th inst.

The quartette are out on bail. Time was asked for by both the prosecution and defense. According to the police, the District Attorney's office is still investigating the affair. The four men are charged with a misdemeanor.

OFFICER CITED FOR SEDITION.

Patrolman to be Suspended Pending Hearing.

Wouldn't Arrest Slackers, Alleged Statement.

"Wilson no Better than the Kaiser," Another.

Charged with uttering seditious remarks, such as "President Wilson is no better than the Kaiser" and "I do not blame boys for being slackers; I would not arrest one of them," Patrolman Jacob Hartnagel yesterday was cited by the Police Commission to appear on Friday afternoon for trial. The commission further ordered Chief Butler to suspend the officer pending the trial.

At least four persons have made affidavits to statements they allege Patrolman Hartnagel made in their presence. They are F. W. Frame, proprietor of an oil filling station at North Main street and Mission road; W. S. McKay, proprietor of a drug store at No. 3607 Pasadena avenue; L. O. Larson, motorman on a Los Angeles Railway car, and James L. Faunce, a tourist of Philadelphia.

Mr. Frame said he heard Patrolman Hartnagel, who was in his station, say he did not blame the boys for being slackers—he would "be damned" if he would want to go over there either, and he "would not arrest a fellow that was a slacker."

WOULDN'T BUY BOND.

Mr. McKay said: "The patrolman said he would not purchase a Liberty Bond; that this war was in the interests of Wall-street bankers; that President Wilson was no better than the Kaiser; that the American people had been warned to keep out of the war zone in the Atlantic Ocean, and "why in hell didn't they do it."

Mr. Faunce said he overheard a conversation on a street car between Patrolman Hartnagel and Motorman Larson. He said the officer's remarks were very seditious. The motorman corroborated the statement made by Mr. Faunce.

Hartnagel is 42 years old, born in New Corydon, Ind., and prior to his becoming a policeman in Los Angeles was a railroad brakeman.

May 9, 1910, according to the police records, he resigned. He was reappointed as a patrolman November 1, 1915. Nothing in particular appears in his record from the date of his last appointment until July 18 of 1917, when charges were filed with the Police Commission and with Chief Butler by R. Belcher of No. 2111 Mozart avenue, charging Hartnagel with brutality and conduct unbecoming an officer.

According to the Belcher charges, Hartnagel, on June 12, 1917, assaulted the former in front of his home on Mozart avenue and brutally struck and twisted him into silence.

Mr. Belcher further charged that Hartnagel falsified a report to a superior officer concerning the arrest of Belcher, and also that on June 18, in Police Judge Richardson's court, the former patrolman perjured himself.

These charges were heard before the Police Commission on July 24 and the case dismissed, as the matter was settled between Mr. Belcher and Hartnagel, police officials say, before the trial.

The Police Commission has summoned the four men to appear against Patrolman Hartnagel.

APARTMENT-HOUSE OWNERS WIN SUIT.

Clarence W. and William Riley, owners of an apartment-house, were given judgment by Judge Avery yesterday in a suit for $5000 filed by Mrs. Margie Choollock for an alleged attack upon her in the house. She declared that she had attempted to telephone for the police after a quarrel with another woman and was attacked by Harry Randolph, manager of the place, where Mrs. Choollock had been residing. Judge Avery held that a case of responsibility had not been made out against the owners of the apartment-house.

War Necessity.

PERMIT TO SELL FLOOD CONTROL BONDS ASSURED.

RETURNING yesterday from San Francisco where they appeared before the subcommittee of the Capital Issues Committee of the Federal Reserve Board, appealing for permission to issue $2,250,000 worth of flood control bonds, representatives of the city and county asserted that they were given encouragement. In fact they believe there is no question about the action of the subcommittee, that it will recommend that the request be granted.

The subcommittee of which I. W. Hellman is a member, made it plain that no bond issues will be approved by the Federal Reserve Board unless they are to be classified as war measures. The local persons endeavored to impress upon the committee that the flood control bonds are a war necessity because in the event there is another flood in Los Angeles county similar to the disastrous one of 1914, Los Angeles Harbor would be filled with silt and the shipbuilding plants would be damaged.

Those representing the county were Frank P. Flint, H. W. O'Melveny, J. H. Reagan, County Counsel Hill and C. H. Windham. Clarence H. Matson, traffic manager for the harbor department, represented the city.

The subcommittee will report at once to the Capital Issues Committee in Washington, and a reply may be expected within a few weeks. The bonds have been authorized by the people, and if the Federal Reserve Board approves their sale the work may be taken up at an early date.

It was pointed out to the members of the subcommittee that at the Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors, approximately $31,000,000 worth of shipping is under construction and that ships to the value of about $35,000,000 more is contracted for.

If the recent rain had put an additional foot of water in the Los Angeles River, it was stated, this construction work would have been seriously interfered with; that the expenditure of the bond money will be a tremendous aid in carrying off the flood waters and keeping the harbors open for the launching of ships.

PACT FAILS TO ABSOLVE.

Man Must Support Wife Despite Any Pre-nuptial Arrangement.

Declaring that it was "vicious and against public policy," Judge Wood yesterday refused to approve a pre-nuptial agreement offered in court in the case of Salvatore Caliva and Anna Mae Kaylor Caliva. The couple were married in Santa Ana on January 22, last, and separated three hours after the ceremony. The agreement stated in effect that the youth and the girl were to be married, but the youth was absolved from caring for his wife or for the child to be born.

Salvatore's father, George Caliva, consented to the marriage and agreed not to attempt to "wean the thoughts" of his son from his bride and agreed to recognize the child to be born. Jennie B. Gardner, an aunt of the bride, agreed to care for the wife and child.

Judge Wood ordered Salvatore to pay his wife $7 a week for six weeks and $6 a week after that. The husband had been cited into court to show cause why he should not provide for his wife.

that he would look over the opinions at his leisure.

The examination of the prospective jurors, including the panels of both departments of the Federal Court, demonstrated two facts. One was that nearly every member has a relative either in the army or navy, or that they had been drafted and were awaiting call to the service. The other, was that the lure of the "movie" is universal, and that every man examined was addicted more or less to the "movie" habit.

Goldstein had a battery of lawyers to look after his interests, including J. H. Ryckman, S. E. Vermilyea, William T. Blakely and I. Rubin.

SILVER LOVING CUP GIVEN MME. MELBA.

MUSIC DEALERS SHOW APPRECIATION OF DIVA'S NOTABLE WORK.

Wearing badges presented her by three different European rulers, and bemoaning the fact that the ribbon to a fourth insignium was so frayed that she could not wear it also, Mme. Melba, famous prima donna, was presented at her concert last evening with a silver loving cup by five music dealers of this city. The cup, the donors of which are the Andrews Talking Machine Company, Barker Brothers, the George J. Birkel Company, the Wiley B. Allen Company and the Southern California Music Company, was tendered Mme. Melba in recognition of her recent appointment as a dame commander of the British Empire, and in appreciation of her notable contributions to the popularizing of music through phonograph records of her voice and otherwise.

The cup, an elaborate silver affair, was presented to the diva by L. E. Behymer from the stage of Trinity Auditorium immediately after she had finished singing Tosti's "Good-by." In his presentation, Mr. Behymer thanked her for the work she has done in the war and for the pleasure she has given with her voice through the medium of the phonograph.

JURY DISAGREE.

A jury in Judge McCormick's court was unable to agree yesterday in the case of Perus J. Gould against the Pacific Electric Railway Company for injuries received while getting off a car at Sixteenth and Figueroa streets, and was discharged. The jurors stood 8 to 4. Mr. Gould asked for $10,000 damages.

For Arrest.

NOT IN COURT; WARRANT OUT.

Alleged Bigamist Fails to Answer Charge.

Barringer's Attorney Also Does not Appear.

Many Similar Cases Here, it is Asserted.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Melvin A. Barringer, also known as Carl Ray, by Justice Hinshaw yesterday, upon his failure to appear in court for his preliminary examination on the charge of having contracted a bigamous marriage.

The case had been continued thirty days on motion of the defendant's attorney, W. J. Ford, who asked for a writ of prohibition in the Appellate Court. This phase of the case is got yet decided.

When the hearing was called at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon neither Barringer nor his attorney appeared and Justice Hinshaw, in ordering a bench warrant issued, made the statement that he would refuse to make further continuance in the case.

Barringer at one time was a well-known motion-picture producer in Los Angeles. The charge of bigamy, preferred by his second wife, Victoria Korne Barringer, was an aftermath of Barringer's third marriage, with Mrs. Nora Lowell at Santa Barbara, on September 28, 1916, just one day after he had secured a divorce at Cheyenne, Wyo.

The District Attorney contends that the Wyoming divorce was in error because of the alleged fact that Barringer at the time he was declared to have maintained a residence in Wyoming lived and voted at the same time in Los Angeles.

Justice Hinshaw issued a bench warrant on February 9 for the arrest of Barringer, who on that date was in Cheyenne. He came voluntarily to Los Angeles and gave himself up several days later.

Officials of the District Attorney's office declare that upon the Barringer bigamy charge hinge hundreds of similar cases in California, in which divorces were obtained outside the State and other marriages consummated within a few days of the granting of the decrees.

Barringer is alleged to have been married three times, his first wedding having been at St. Paul, Minn., on June 6, 1913. He later secured a divorce and he married Victoria Korne, from whom he was divorced. Mrs. Victoria Korne Barringer is the complaining witness in the present case. She is living at San Bernardino.

CLERK'S ERROR COSTLY.

City Attorney Completes Answers to Questions Regarding the Broadway Opening.

The City Attorney yesterday completed his answers to a list of questions asked by Councilman Conway in reference to the error made by someone which resulted in the abandonment of proceedings in connection with the proposed opening of Broadway from Pico to Washington streets. The City Attorney said the error cost the city $4422 and if a clerk in the City Clerk's office is responsible that he may be removed, providing he is adjudged incompetent.

Finlayson-Forve Wedding.

Before an altar of peach blossoms, Easter lilies and ferns, Miss Beatrice Finlayson and Charles Forve, son of Philip Forve were married yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. Frank G. Finlayson of No. 500 South Gramercy place.

The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Francis J. Conaty of the Church of Our Lady of Guadeloupe in the presence of members of the two families. Judge Finlayson gave his daughter in marriage, and Miss Mary Forve, sister of the bridegroom, was Miss Finlayson's maid of honor. Philip Forve, Jr., was his brother's best man.

The bride, a beauty of the brunette type, was stunning in her wedding gown of white embroidered silk, made en train and trimmed in seed pearls. She wore a long tulle veil caught to her dark hair with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white orchids. Miss Forve made a lovely picture in her spring frock of orchid colored organdie, with picture hat. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white flowers.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. Forve and his bride left on a honeymoon trip, after which they will go to Wilkesbarre, Pa., to make their home.

Engagement Announced.

Society will learn with pleasurable surprise today of the engagement of Miss Frances Isabel Richards and Lieut. Ford Collins, which was announced yesterday by Mrs. Charles Richards of No. 500 West Adams street, mother of the young society girl. The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Miss Richards is a graduate of Marlborough school and is a typical college girl, although she is as well known in the ballroom as she is on the golf links or at the wheel of her own machine. Mr. Collins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. C. Collins of Pasadena, and is a well-known young Los Angeles attorney. He is a graduate of the University of California, where he received his degree. He is a fraternity man, and both he and Miss Richards are as well known at the Coronado set as they are here. Mrs. Richards, in company with her mother, has traveled extensively in the East.

Lieut. Garner Weds Tomorrow.

Lieut. John L. Garner of Los Angeles, now stationed at Quantico, Va., and Miss Celeste Dorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dorr of Denver, will be married in Boston tomorrow. Mrs. Kenneth Grant (Odette Garner,) whose husband, Lieut. Grant of the Signal Corps, is stationed at Langley Field, Va., will go to Boston with her brother, Lieut. Garner, to be Miss Dorr's matron of honor. The ceremony will take place at the home of Miss Dorr's aunt, Mrs. W. H. Hayes, where Miss Dorr arrived yesterday.

Lieut. Garner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Garner of No. 745 West Adams street, and is a social favorite here. He and Miss Dorr met a year ago last winter, when she was a house guest of Miss Marion Wigmore. It was a gay season, and the young couple were noticed and admired at numerous functions. Lieut. Garner is a member of the University Club, and was one of the first to enlist at the beginning of the war. At first he was stationed at Mare Island, later going to San Diego, and again being transferred to Quantico, Va., where he is in the Marine Corps. For the past two weeks he has been at a machine gun school in Utica, N. Y. He and his bride will live at Fredericksburg, Va., until he goes overseas.

For Mrs. Lefmann.

Mrs. J. H. Lefmann was honor guest at a handsomely-appointed dinner and dancing party, at which her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lefmann, were hosts last evening. Covers indicated places for Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Getty, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Dellamore, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lefmann, Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Isom, Mr. and Mrs. Gnase Richard Lefmann, Misses Pearl Isom and Cecelia Dellamore and Messrs. Charles Hutton and Delbert Lefmann and the hosts.

By Mrs. Raphael.

Mrs. R. H. Raphael of No. 1425 Alvarado Terrace assembled twenty-four guests at a sumptuous dinner last evening in compliment to her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. L. Morris, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a large reception in the afternoon. The central piece and other table and dining-room decorations were designed in golden acacia and jonquils, while about the rest of the house baskets of gay blooms lent a festive air.

Battalion Ball.

Mrs. S. H. Leonard is chairman of the committee of women at the Bryson apartments which is giving a ball Friday evening in the ballroom of the Bryson in honor of the soldiers of the Second Battalion, Battery B, now stationed at Fort Rosecrans, but expecting to be sent overseas at any time. Assisting Mrs. Leonard will be Mmes. D. S. Rucker, Mrs. J. B. Sterner, Mrs. D. R. Bacon and Misses Grace Tremaine and Marion Denovan.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-datest:

The white hat of fine straw, trimmed with white gros grain ribbon put on tailoredly, or with white wings or grebe breasts. These for wear with white silk or satin skirts and blouses, will constitute informal dress for street dress, as smart as it is informal.

The shirt of silk in either white or stripes of brilliant hue, which will be made quite mannishly, for wear with tailored skirts. Some of the new colorings are stunning in effect. Even the tricolor appears in somewhat modified tones, as though seen through a blur of mist.

New buckles for adornment of the summer pumps are in beaded surfaces, copper, gilt, silver, steel, the "buckles" being easily bent to conform to the shape of the shoe and made to stand upright, giving a smart effect.

Pumps will be worn with more dressy summer frocks, the oxford—in all probability—being used with tailorish clothes.

Now is the time to buy:

The plants, seeds and vines for the summer gardening. There are many lovely new kinds for use in beautifying—for beautification is still a use, let us not forget—even though we wax more and more enthusiastic over war gardening. A bit of space devoted to flowering shrubs, bulbs and plants should be quite as much a part of doing our bit, as planting potatoes, carrots, tomatoes, peas. The roses—bless their glowing hearts—require but a tiny space in which to plant their feet and they will uphold their blossoms in the sky, where space does not require Hooverizing.

The decorated work basket, knitting bag, or basket for any purpose, at that shop where actual selling out is taking place and such things of use and beauty are for sale at the mere cost of materials for making. The art put into their construction and the work of putting together are not counted in this cost, nor is the addition made for increased price of materials during the past few months of the war, when already in-stocks have become more precious.

Government Help.

Having followed exactly the government rules for canning, the Good Housekeeper has tomatoes in glass jars, today, as fine as when first plucked from the vines. Her family declare the flavor to be even finer than when the fruits were first gathered. Bright scarlet are they, and quite whole, having been canned with no hint of seasoning, save a teaspoonful of salt to each jar. This summer enough will be put up to last several families during the coming winter, and possibly some to spare—and all from a tiny plot in a garden where the soil is less than ordinary! How's that for warrish gardening?

* * *

Mo' Hair!

"Do you s'pose we shall ever wear such things again?" asked and at the same time exclaimed a lady gazing at that hairfully decorated window on lower Broadway. She was speaking of the Spanish study in scarlet, with the chignon piled skyward and in-thrust with combs, jeweled pins and so on. "Most of these elaborations," she continued, looking them over, "require more hair than any of us possess." "That's the point," replied her companion. "You may purchase all you need—and you'll need it, from what I've read about incoming hair fashions—you can purchase at special prices during the hair sale herewith set forth."

But let us devoutly hope we shall never need as much as did Queen Isabella!

* * *

Woosted is not Worsted.

That woosted will not be gainsaid is proven by its use decoratively upon summer wearables. Noticeable was a white silk suit, shown in that exclusive shop, whose arcades are always filled with gazers. The sash ends and here and there a merest touch were formed from crochetted woosted in turquoise tints.

* * *

Buttonish.

At that upstairs shop I was interested in a novel dress of jersey. Beige it was, almost this goes without saying—yet not quite. The trimming consisted of diamond-shaped tucks in narrow effect, and at each diamond point was placed a button, covered in the jersey. The buttons were lozenge-shaped, which added to the singularity of the effect.

* * *

Interesting.

On that celebrated third floor—not "back"—I saw a jersey suit of exceptional interest. It was of a fine weave—and, by the way, unless it is fine jersey can look extremely less than ordinarily well—and it was in the new stone gray shade. The jacket, an eton, was collared in jersey of the same tint and it had a very tiny stripe of royal purple! Cuffs of the stripe gave an added chic to this unusually smart suit.

* * *

No Hoovering Waists.

To extend the width of our waists is not un-Hooverish, as proven by the corset expert, who talked with me recently upon the subject.

"One of our most difficult tasks," said she of corset intelligence, "is to persuade our patrons to allow to themselves large waists. The tradition of beauty—that prevalent during the days of our 'wise' forebears—was for the attenuated waist; and it seems more firmly fixed in feminine minds than any other." Then she explained how foolish it was, from every point of view, to pinch in the waistline. I did not need convincing, but there are many who—apparently—do.

"If we could only turn their attention to the Greek idea of feminine beauty, as depicted in the Venuses which have survived every test!" sighed the corset lady, as she dilated anatomically and artistically upon the large waisted advantages.

So Clever!

A portrait artist of world-renown, now located in our city for war reasons, did such a clever thing the other evening! She had painted a portrait of a well-known and very popular gentleman, and was asked to exhibit it at an evening "party." After the unveiling speech, when the curtains were removed, the audience gasped to behold a perfect horror of a face! Bristling whiskers, goggle eyes, huge protruding teeth—awful! After the gasp, a laugh and then a pause—during which came further unveiling—or rather expurgation. Rub! rub! Off came the camouflage and behold the verisimilitude of the beloved hospitabler—a likeness sure enough! The "camou" had been water-painted upon the protecting glass above the real portrait. By the way, this artist, who has done a number of excellent portraits of well-known Angelenos, is to make lightning sketches of whoever comes, for the Red Cross benefit at the Y.W.C.A. affair on Wednesday—today.

GETS PERMANENT JOB.

Superintendent of Public Employment Bureau Lauded for His Efficient Work.

The Municipal Industrial Commission yesterday notified the Civil Service Commission of the permanent appointment of William L. Clark as superintendent of the Public Employment Bureau. Mr. Clark having successfully passed an examination for the position. He has held the office for the past eight months. Concerning the appointment the commissioners made the following statement:

"Mr. Clark's services have been highly satisfactory. Since he assumed charge of the bureau the operating expense has been steadily reduced and the cost of filling jobs lowered proportionately. The bureau has never been conducted with more satisfaction to the general public and our list of patrons is larger and more representative than ever before.

"During the eight months closed March 31 the bureau filled 19,341 positions. This is an increase of 10,341, or 26 per cent. over the business done during the same period of the preceding year. The three divisions of the bureau—men's, household and commercial—each show substantial gains, and before the end of the fiscal year the percentage of increase will be higher."

FUNERAL OF WOMAN.

Funeral services for Miss Annie E. Hanscome, descendant of one of the first families to settle in Maine and a resident of Los Angeles for five years, will be conducted in the chapel of Bresee Bros. at 3 p.m. today with Dr. James A. Francis of the Baptist Church officiating. She was 76 years of age and the daughter of Oliver and Ruth Hanscome of China, Me., but had lived for a number of years in La Crosse, Wis., before coming here.

MOROSCO MAKES CUTS.

PRODUCER WILL MAKE NEW PLAY CRITIC-PROOF.

By Grace Kingsley.

After all, Oliver Morosco's new play, "The Little Belgian," won't be seen here until after some changes have been made in it. While the play went on in Philadelphia a week ago Monday night, and had been booked for a long run, it was announced for withdrawal on the following Saturday.

While Mr. Morosco is known to be the most patriotic of gentlemen, he being one of those managers who has given most freely of both time and money in the great cause, yet there were those who saw the piece who professed to see in it certain subtle pro-German propaganda, and these persons at once concluded that the usually keen Mr. Morosco had had something slipped over on him. It is reported that when certain British army officers called on Mr. Morosco, pointing out to him what appeared to them unpleasantly like German propaganda, Mr. Morosco at once decided to withdraw it and make drastic cuts in the text. One scene which was objected to, it is said, was that showing a Belgian girl being assaulted by a British army officer.

A representative of Mr. Morosco said to a New York Telegraph reporter, in regard to the matter: "There is really nothing pro-German in the piece, and it isn't so intended."

"Isn't there an assault by a British army officer upon a helpless Belgian girl?" the representative was asked.

"Yes," replied the representative, "but everything is squared at the end of the play by the officer marrying the girl."

In the cast of the piece are Ethel Stannard, a Morosco find, Charles Stevenson, Malcolm Fawcett, Henry Sherwood, Frederick Esmelton, Mrs Edward Graney, Emmett Shackelford, Janet Travers, Estelle Townsend and June Hawthorne.

Joe Was with Charlie.

Joe Galvin, the "wop" comedian at the Orpheum this week, last played Los Angeles with Charlie Chaplin on the same bill, at a 10-20-30 house here. Now, it is different with both of them.

Bert Grassby Hurt.

During the making of a scene of Theda Bara's forthcoming Fox production, "Salome," last Saturday afternoon, the leading man, Bert Grassby, was severely injured, and will probably be confined to his home for two or three weeks.

The accident to Mr. Grassby occurred when the actor was being borne on a palanquin by four negroes. Mr. Grassby being seated in a chair. The action of the scene demanded that the palanquin be borne up a stairway, and the angle at which it was carried caused the chair to topple over backward, carrying the actor with it. Mr. Grassby struck on the back of his head and neck, and was rendered unconscious. He was taken home and will not be able to resume work for several weeks, according to the word of his physician. It was necessary to secure a double for him to continue the work of filming "Salome."

Dorothy's Back-fire.

You simply can't get ahead of that Dorothy Gish, who is the little tough French girl in "Hearts of the World," at Clune's Auditorium. She was relating her adventures while in Europe, the other day, and incidentally was telling what a hard time she had getting into England and France, on account of the severe examination of her passports.

"Why," asked a by-stander, "did Mr. Griffith go over there at all if it was so hard to get into Europe?"

"Well, I suppose," said Miss Dorothy, demurely, "it was because it was easier for Mr. Griffith to go to the war than for Europe to bring the war to him."

Metro's New One.

Edith Wharton's famous novel, "The House of Mirth," is to be filmed, with Katherine Harris, a well-known New York actress, in the leading role. Metro promises a splendid production of the tale, with Lottie Briscoe, Joseph Kilgour and Henry Kolker in the leading roles.

Prize Beauty Scores.

Lovely Lucille Zintheo, who a year or two ago won a Photoplay Magazine prize in a "Brains and Beauty" contest, has been engaged by Lasky, and is playing a part in a production now being made.

Will Take an Orphan.

That Otis Skinner, appearing at the Mason this week in "Mister Antonio," is considering adopting a Belgian orphan—in fact, that he and Mrs. Skinner have several promising young Belgians at present under consideration—was discovered yesterday.

Mrs. Skinner is one of the most active workers in that famous organization, the Stage Women's War Relief Society, and is accompanying Mr. Skinner on his present trip in the West.

We Get Mary First.

Before anybody else in the world has a chance to get a peep at Mary Pickford in Bret Hart's "M'liss," Los Angeles film fans are to have that privilege. The Kinema Theater announced yesterday that we shall see the photoplay a whole month before New York views it, viz., April 7.

REVIEWS.

Original.

"THE LAND OF PROMISE."

BILLIE BURKE IN A PHOTOPLAY AT CLUNE'S BROADWAY.

At last we have a fresh and original photoplay. It is "The Land of Promise," and Billie Burke appears in it this week at Clune's Broadway.

It may be true that the charming Billie failed in her latest stage play this year, but she can never fail in the movies, at least, so long as she remains as appealing as she is in the role of the down-trodden young English girl, who goes to Manitoba to escape the life of a domestic drudge, but there runs into even worse slavery. The film, as it traveled on and on, revealed new and unthought-of wonders. Mary Alden, for instance. Again this sterling actress graces the screen, and each and every moment of her performance is a revelation.

What is the most surprising thing about "The Land of Promise" is the fact that it has a real climax. Heretofore a true has been as scarce as molars in a hen. True, you do see the struggle of a great many souls in distress thrown upon the screen, but they remain nothing but banal struggles. In this picture, however, the climax is genuine, well worked out, intense, subtle and sudden.

In addition to all the other photodramatic good things in "The Land of Promise," Thomas Meighan is there. Enough said. He is always good, and we expect him to be. But in this play he is superlatively good. He'd have to be, to live up to the rest of the picture—and especially to Billie Burke.

Pantages.

Headline honors are divided at the Pantages this week between Bill King and his company of wild women in "Exploits in Africa," and the Denishawn Dancers, the offering of Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn. "Exploits in Africa" is a frivolous musical comedy with the action taking place in the jungles of Africa, filled to the brim with comical situations and high-class musical numbers. The Denishawn Dancers offer a number of original terpsichorean creations that take the audience by storm. The beauties in this act are all Angelenos, and their numbers show the excellent training they received from the noted Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn. Both classic and interpretive dances are included in their "programme within a programme."

Countess Verona, the gypsy queen, holds her audience spellbound with her offerings on the gypsy harp. Owen and Moore, "the smart little couple from Broadway," have a unique singing and dancing act that goes over big. Lawrence Johnston, ventriloquist, makes the very walls of the theater talk. The Steiner Trio furnish thrills with their sensational aerial performance. The fourteenth episode of "The Hidden Hand," the Pathe serial starring Dorris Kenyon, completes the programme.

Hippodrome.

Good, clean comedy, a cracker-jack dark-face laugh-maker, musical songs and pretty girls make the headline act at the Hippodrome this week a desirable one. "Marcelle" is the musical story, and it boasts some beautiful girls and clever comedians. Probably next in favor are Stein and Snell, who offer no set routine, but just "play around" as their fancy dictates.

"The More I See of Some People the Better I Like My Dog" might be the title of the skit of Robert and Robert. One of the Roberts is a dog, with an almost human brain. Billy Kimball and Betty Kenneth are artists when it comes to banjo playing. Their imitation of the Hawaiian steel guitar is excellent.

A last-minute call brought Johnny Young with his nimble feet to the boards this week, and the hearty welcome attested to his popularity. "The Three Haigs" are comedians who combine acrobatic acts, pantomimic work and a lot of pep into a pleasing and energetic act. A touch of childhood pleasure and a feature stunt that will make you sit up and take notice is the offering of Leo Irving and Josephine Montrose. Irving's barrel jump is a wonder.

MUSICAL.

Eternal.

MELBA'S MAGIC.

PACKED HOUSE HEARS WORLD'S GREATEST SOPRANO.

By Jeanne Redman.

Melba packed Trinity Auditorium to standing room last evening, and brought that storm of spontaneous applause which only Melba of the velvet voice can bring. It is still true that there is no trill like hers, and no voice which holds so much of hope and aspiration in it, and the curious thing is that there are few voices so expressive of the genius of youth. Melba is eternal, and to those who fear for her, that her best days are over, I can only suggest that they hear her sing the modern French songs which she sang so vividly—of Chausson, of Bemberg and especially of Debussy, the exquisite Frenchman, one of the most influential of modern composers, and one of the greatest. His researches into the subject of harmonics have done as much as have Schoenberg's researches in rhythms and counterpoint, in turning the modern musical mind away from the academic formalisms of the past into the fields of free and unhampered musical conceptions.

Melba sang Debussy's Aria for Lia from "L'Enfant Prodigue" with a rare appreciation and intense dramatic power, and the other French songs, of which there were two Chausson and two Bemberg, called her so many times that she gave two encores, the unfailing "Good-by" of Tosti, and "Comin' Through the Rye." For her last group she hang Grieg's "Swan" and "Se Seran Rose" of Arditi, which gave her an opportunity to display her pyrotechnics and her marvelous technical skill; and the last song was, happily, the only thing the singer did for the sake of display. Her taste is perfect, and her phrasing and ease are still the wonders that have been a cause for comment among the music-loving public for—who shall say how long? Is it true that Melba is saving herself? Not one of us who heard her last evening can believe that her powers are less, or that the always great voice can call for allowances.

Melba was admirably accompanied by Frank St. Leger, and assisted by Axel Simonsen of this city, who, as a cellist, is too well known and admired to need other mention than to say that he played with his usual robust alertness and sincerity. He played the ever-popular Boellmann "Variations" and a prayer from "The Jewels of the Madonna." "Hungarian Rhapsodie" of Popper and Kreisler's "Scherzo."

Miss Stella Power, pupil of Melba's, and coloratura soprano, sang "Una Voce Poco Fa," from the "Barber of Seville," and while her voice is not full nor powerful, still it has a clear quality and pure presentation.

Mr. Behymer presented Mme. Melba with a loving cup given her by the Victor companies of Southern California, in appreciation of the perpetual gift of her voice to the world through that medium.

THE GAMUT CLUB'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Tonight the Gamut Club will celebrate its fourteenth birthday with a banquet at the club headquarters on South Hope street, to which the entire personnel is responding, and at which a number of interesting artists will appear.

Among the guests of honor who have promised to participate in the programme are George D. Baker, the director of the most recent Nazimova picture; Arthur Alexander, the American tenor, whose self-accompanied song recitals have been in great demand throughout the East the last two years; Mrs. Frank Dershon, contralto; Mrs. Helen Thorner, mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Norman Robinson, a singer of decided appeal, and incidentally sister of our own Carroll McComas; Olga Grey, a most original young artist, who sings songs and stories to Tschaikowsky and Debussy compositions; Jessica Dixon, soprano soloist with "The Mission Play;" Rowena Blincoe, a dramatic reader, and Margaret McKee, the well-known whistler.

The programme, it will be seen, is highly diversified.

MASKED AND ARMED, BANDITS ROB MAN

Armed with revolvers and masked, two bandits last night held up A. Penderton of No. 1619 Third avenue and robbed him of $30. Mr. Penderton was approaching the corner of Third avenue and Seventeenth street when the bandits drove up and commanded him to throw up his hands. One man climbed out of the automobile and searched the victim, while the other one added the menace of his revolver to the gun already close to Mr. Penderton's face. The report was made to the University police.

"IN MIND."

"Our Lord," says the Kaiser, "has certainly something in mind for the German people." Possibly it is the same thing that the Allies have in mind—a good licking.

"GERMAN PEACE."

German peace still means what Tacitus said of the Teutons nearly nineteen centuries ago—"They make a solitude and call it peace." The Teutons have not progressed in aught but cruelty.

SAD, BUT TRUE.

The blossoming out of sundry thirst parlors as soft-drink dispensaries, where near-beer is a tipple, brings to mind the comment of the colored citizen who was asked for his opinion of that beverage. "Well, Ah'll tell you, boss," he said, "it looks all right, and it taste all right, and it smell all right, but when you got it down it just sacherally ain't got the authority."

SPREADING THE LIGHT.

China may be somewhat shy on railroads and munitions of war, but light is being let in on other lines. After fifteen years of sustained work by a missionary at Shanghai a Chinese Concordance has finally been compiled and published. It is in three bulky volumes of more than a thousand pages each and contains over five million Chinese characters. It is not yet listed as one of the six best sellers in Peking, but give it time. A new China may find a Concordance of the scriptures a potent and important work. It is not a waste of time to have one ready, at any rate.

MATTER OF REMEMBRANCE.

Heard of one of our thrifty millionaires who has an ingenious system of remembering his relatives. He has quite a raft of them and some of them are quite remote. Every four years he goes to a photographer and makes a contract for about three dozen pictures of himself. Then he mails a copy to each of his kindred. The photographs soothe his vanity and his sending them proves that he has not forgotten his folks. Then at Christmas time he can send a dollar bill to the cousin who writes the most eloquent letter of gratitude for the remembrance. It is no trouble for him to satisfy his conscience that he is on good terms with his people, and what more can he want?

ADVICE TO ADVERTISERS.

If a man wants a house or a room or rooms, furnished or unfurnished, the governing factors that will control his selection are locality and price, and he naturally consults the advertising columns of The Times to ascertain what is offered. If an advertisement says "terms reasonable" he disregards it, for what appears reasonable to the landlord might be unreasonable to the tenant. If it says "within walking distance of the street cars" he pays no further attention to it, for what is walking distance to a long-legged, thin man fond of pedestrian exercise might not be walking distance to a short-legged, fat man who loathes calisthenics. If the advertiser would particularize and say location 927 feet four inches from the corner of Bungay avenue and Hellotiaplit street, terms $4 a week, his advertisement might secure him a tenant.

HARRY WILLIAMS'S MESSAGE.

Pictures of pen or brush, even the realism of photography, are inadequate to convey a full conception of what is actually happening "over there." We, in peaceful and blessed California, cannot see and cannot hope to understand the whole tragedy with the same intensity of feeling as those who have come in direct contact with the image of the horror.

Harry Williams's stirring appeal to the heart of America arrives at an especially opportune moment. For already patriotic and painstaking fellow-citizens are arranging for the next great Liberty Loan drive—through which every one of us will have a chance to do each his best to absolve ourselves from the charge of having so long "left England and France alone in this unequal struggle."

So in the revelation of the manifest duty to make up for lost time, every loyal citizen will not pause to ask whether he can buy any more Liberty Bonds—he will buy them first and consider what he can afford to do after. He will firmly resolve that American cities shall never witness such scenes as Harry Williams witnessed under the leaden skies of London—that our hearts be not torn with anguish or our souls tortured with forebodings. So Los Angeles will give, not till it hurts, but to the far better purpose, till it heals and saves and blesses.

America has been late in getting into the fight, but she is in to win—the spirit of the republic will allow nothing less. But if, when a treacherous cowardly enemy murdered our women and children on the Lusitania, or if, when an outlaw nation tore up a sacred treaty and started to trample the peaceful soil of Belgium into a bloody pulp, Columbia had drawn at once the righteous sword of law and justice—we should not in these spring months of 1918, nearly four years after the trap was sprung, be still reading cables of death and suffering from our American war correspondents in Europe.

HAIG, THE STONE WALL.

Ten days of fighting in the open have demonstrated clearly the superior mettle of the British and French troops on the western front and the German divisions are now feverishly "digging themselves in." The glare of the sunlight and the gleam of steel are bad for German eyes. The submarine is the ideal German seacraft; on land it is the underground trench. The experience of those ten days in the open have been sufficient to last the Hun for a while.

Splintered is the wedge that penetrated the British line thirteen days ago, Von Hindenburg and the Kaiser are raging with their division commanders because there are no further advances; but the rank and file of the German troops have lost the elan of the early days of the drive. They are flinching before British pluck and British powder. For the first time in the war Haig's forces have borne the brunt of an attack by the whole of the mobile forces of the Central Empires. The blow was planned for the express purpose of crushing the British army in France. The Kaiser struck with every ounce of power in the German war machine. The British champion staggered but did not fall; the line bent backward before the force of the impact, but it did not break. For every British soldier sent to the Great Hereafter there is an escort of at least three Huns.

Well done, Britain! Well done, Sir Douglas Haig! The voice of the scoffer is dumb. The reproach that "England will fight till the last Frenchman dies" has forever lost its sting. For six days at the beginning of the drive only British troops were engaged. During the whole of that time Haig's men were outnumbered at least three to one. But not a division broke. Retirements were rendered necessary because the supply of ammunition could not last. The troops fell back only at the order of their division commanders, always with their face to the foe. There was no precipitate retreat. Of the 70,000 prisoners claimed by the German staff more than half are dead men; not one in ten is unhurt.

Field Marshal Haig takes his place in the galaxy of Anglo-Saxon heroes. He is a worthy successor of the Black Prince, of Cromwell, Marlborough and Wellington. If he proves as able in attack as in defense, he may yet be looked upon as the greatest of them all. Before him is the future—and the Hun.

TOO MUCH POLITICS.

Press reports of the sessions of Congress continue to record that the greater portion of the time of that body is devoted to personal recriminations and partisan animosities. The administration leaders seem imbued with the idea that it is not enough that the world shall be made safe for democracy; it must owe that safety solely to the Democratic party. To permit a Republican to have aught to do with that regeneration, except paying for it and fighting for it, is regarded by some Democratic orators in the light of party treason. It is the part of Republicans to pay the taxes and fill the ranks of the Liberty Army; that of the Democrats, it would appear, is to spend the tax money and play the part of military and naval strategists. Not all the politicians, however, are in the Democratic party; there are Republican politicians as well; and while the Republican statesmen are content to serve where they once commanded, there are others who do not hesitate to dispute possession of the flesh pots with the traditional party enemy.

American institutions are themselves on trial in this crisis. Our Constitution is not immutable. Great Britain has kept party spirit in abeyance by refraining from holding general parliamentary elections while the war is in progress. Too much interference by partisan politics may force this country to adopt a similar constitutional device in order to avoid a division of energy in the face of the enemy. The Morning Post (London) states in a candid editorial why such action was deemed necessary by our great Anglo-Saxon ally. "We are perfectly aware that the one way to political advancement," observes the Post, "lies along the broad and easy road of assuming a technical knowledge that does not exist, and on the strength of that imposture proceeding to find fault with the professional service and to recommend the 'emancipation' of military affairs from the control of seamen and soldiers. It is nevertheless true that the politicians who adopt these methods are a curse to the country." This criticism applies with marked aptness to recent harangues in Congress.

The administration leaders certainly must not expect to escape from honest criticism; neither must they pretend that all the virtue and the ability of the country is to be found within the ranks of the Democratic party. On the other hand, Republicans must remember that it is the will of the majority that selected the President and the Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress. "Vox populi, vox Dei." The President is the symbol of the nation, and it is only in supporting the President that we can support the common country. The Republican party directed the destinies of the nation during the eras of our greatest prosperity, but that does not absolve Republican spokesmen from following where once they led. They will be found in line. They have been, and, yes, they will be! In the great white battle line behind the great red battle line, acknowledging the leadership of the Democratic chieftain.

Republicans of the next generation will refer with pride to the record of their leaders during the present conflict; for it is a patent fact that by far the greater part of the condemnatory criticism in Congress has been uttered by Democrats who failed to keep step with the administration. It is perhaps asking too much to expect to have it otherwise; the records of the Republican party show that it has always been the party of organization and construction, while the Democratic party has been the party of criticism and destruction. The Democratic party has served a good purpose in the past in calling attention to political and social ills in the country; it makes a good wrecking crew, but it is lamentably weak on construction. Democratic politicians cannot refrain from destructive criticism, even when it is their own house that they are demolishing. If the Democratic chiefs would display more statesmanship and less partisanship, more interest in the welfare of the country and less in that of the Democratic party, there would be less unrest in the country at this time. Gentlemen, not all the deserving patriots in the country are "deserving Democrats"—not all!

No President within the memory of man has been less harshly criticised by the opposition leaders than President Wilson; yet few have shown themselves more restive under criticism. Under a free government all aspire to the same common ends—peace, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—but there are bound to be differences of opinion concerning the methods to be pursued, just as military strategists differ over a plan of campaign. Honest difference of opinion, however radical it may be, is not treason, for treason consists in specified acts and utterances. Treason begins when the individual refuses to obey the laws enacted by the majority. Believing a law unjust is no defense for breaking the law. Under universal suffrage there can be no law other than the will of the majority. Constitutions and statutes are forced by frequent amendment to follow the course of the popular will. But to hold opinions different from those of the majority does not constitute an offense, and to observe the will of the present majority does not entail the surrender of one's convictions. President Wilson is a profound student of history; but it is to be surmised that he reads that history at times through biased glasses; otherwise he would be fully aware that Republicans cannot be influenced by strategic phrases to renounce the convictions of a lifetime or to cease to hope for the return to power of the party of their youth and their fathers.

Finally, it is the nation and not Congress nor the President that must sustain and conduct the war, and no set of men has acquired a franchise to be the sole custodians of the people's rights and liberties. Our government is one of ideas, not of men; and under such a government institutions are greater than individuals. A man earns the right to the title of statesman through the ability he displays in guarding those institutions, not in wrecking them. The major purpose of every party and every individual must be to win the war. No special dispensation of providence can spare this country from the consequences of defeat. The Old Guard of the Republican party can be depended upon to be patriots before they are politicians and to fight, shoulder to shoulder, with their political opponents against the common enemy. No sacrifice will be too great for them.

MUCH SPEECH.

We Californians have been accused of not knowing the country is at war. We can conscientiously testify that our speechmakers are not to blame if this indeed is so. For the speechmaker dogs our steps. We find him at the theaters, at the hotels, in every club, masculine or feminine, in the drawing rooms of private houses; wherever two or three people are gathered together, there will the speechmaker be also. And sometimes he is eloquent and brief, convincing and concise, but all too often he is verbose, bromidic, tireless, tiresome, rabid, melodramatic, ill-informed, and, worst crime of all, tedious.

A wise government knew what it was doing when it sent forth four-minute men. Four minutes is time enough in which to deliver a carefully considered, heartfelt message with the ring of sincerity that stays in the memory. But there are others, patriotic zealots carried away with the eloquence of their own rhetoric, inebriated with the exuberance of their own verbosity, bloodthirsty noncombatants slaying Germans with their mouths, with no sense of the fitness of time and place and occasion. They will be courteously conceded five minutes in which to deliver a war talk, prior to a large Red Cross entertainment, for instance, and, wallowing in the luscious sound of their own voice, intoxicated with the thrilling limelight, they will talk for an endless hour regardless of the rest of the programme, regardless of the informed intelligence of their audience, impervious to the rankling ennui which that inner knowledge of the tragedy of war they are understood not to have appreciated, prevents them from showing.

Such speakers seem ever convinced that they alone have war-awareness and, in the name of a patriotism which they regard as their exclusive possession, they invariably insult their audiences with accusations of indifference, of waste, of niggardliness, of heartlessness, in an avalanche of gratuitous impertinence that is an affront to patriotic citizens.

But just because these are war days they meet with quiescent tolerance, for to show resentment would lay one open to a charge of pro-Germanism, would seem to point to a lack of sympathy. There are war speakers and war speakers. The man who comes to us with knowledge and authority, to bring us a living message—to inform us, to confer WITH us as intelligent patriotic citizens, rather than to shout at us as "slackers" and hogs," is a man to inspire our deepest, finest service. But the exuberant amateur who constitutes himself our violent admonisher, who hurls invective at our heads and insults at our hearts, who encroaches upon precious time and exhausts our patient devotion, is a public nuisance, exploiting the war for his own aggrandisement, his own vanity in exactly the same measure as a greedy profiteer.

At one such occasion the great theater was filled with earnest Red Cross and Liberty Loan workers, was filled with the relatives of fighting men, was filled with people who were there for no other purpose than to support a big Red Cross enterprise, yet the speechmaker, spreading his ten minutes into more than an hour, yelled at them, abused them, exhorted them, retold the thrice-told conditions of war, worked himself up into such a state of emotional rhetoric that he finally left the platform weeping for their sins. And his bewildered and chagrined audience, which had paid $2 a seat for a widely-advertised programme, got precious little else for their pains.

Yet who is there that could dare protest? Imagine the effect on the rest of the city that wasn't there when it heard that the audience had left the theater rather than sit through a passionate war talk! Of course they stayed, of course they respectfully applauded, of course they took it with that gentlemanly patience in the cause of patriotism for which these United States are famous. And they will go right on heroically enduring this sort of thing to the end—a gratuitous war burden that none dare repudiate.

ONCE BEFORE.

"There was a nation in the world which, at its own expense, with its own labor, and at its own risk, waged wars for the liberty of others. And this was performed, not merely for contiguous states, or near neighbors, or for countries that made parts of the same continent; but they even crossed the seas for the purpose, that no unlawful power should subsist on the face of the whole earth; but that justice, right and law should everywhere have sovereign sway."—[Volume No. 3, page 1474, Livy's "History of the Roman Empire," translation by Cyrus Edmonds. The Chief Munition Maker.

THE ONLY MAN I HATE.

[By Ed W. Howe, in Howe's Monthly.]

I hate this fellow Trotzky, just now in the world's eye as a leader in Russia. He has been a disturber since he was old enough to crawl; he was educated and trained as a disturber and has always preached and written mischievous Socialism.

Although it has been said of him that he looks like Lincoln, his picture looks more like a Jew clerk in a clothing store in a country town and who is a bore because he talks of the superior manner in which things are done in New York and Chicago.

A year or two ago he was a cheap newspaper writer in New York, being denied permission to live in his native land.

But he has Arrived;

He has fulfilled his Ambition.

And is now in supreme charge in Russia, where he is wrecking and blighting everything he touches. Yet this man has been praised as a saint is praised. We have heard of his Great Heart and mind; of the tears he sheds for the oppressed; of the Brighter Day he is working for.

Russia is a great country; it has Natural advantages fairly comparable with our own, yet he has wrecked it as completely as though it were a desert; wrecked it with false notions of Democracy, false notions of Liberty; false notions of Human Rights. He has made Russia so Free its people are on the verge of starvation. This fellow is a trained writer, and his proclamations ring with beautiful nonsense; when his deluded followers are hungry he cheers them on to fresh orgies of destruction and fills with another Great Speech or another Great State Paper.

His more intimate followers—vagrants like himself who have been benefited by folly—flatter his utterances and his policies.

And are waiting for opportunity to cut his throat.

Privately they laugh at his colossal conceit and his grand ways. But they say he has been raised up by heaven to lead his people to a Brighter Day, and he believes it, although every man of sense knows he is a great bull in a great china shop.

A few months ago Kerensky was an equally great man. Where is Kerensky now? Where Trotzky will be in a few months: in hiding to avoid punishment for his brutal crimes. And in a few months Russia will have another hero who will issue Great State Papers and make Great Speeches, the present Hero having been murdered or imprisoned. And this new Hero will fatten for a brief time on too much Socialistic patriotism and Democracy, and then pass into oblivion, in order that a new assassin may enjoy a revel in phrases.

The simple murderer or thief is a cheap scoundrel compared to Trotzky. The murderer or thief injures a family or an individual, and the reflection on the community is not great, but this Trotzky is murdering Russia; he is murdering the world. He is assassinating common sense, industry and the simple principles taught children by good mothers. Under the reign of this Grand Monarch all the horrors we invent to cause each other to shiver are realities in Russia. This Bogus Deliverer is the real Hun of history.

POUND POETRY.

Will people accept them?
(i.e., these songs.)
As a timorous wench from a centaur
(or a centurion.)
Already they flee, howling in terror.

That is the question Ezra Pound asks at the opening of "Lustra," the only book of poems this London-dwelling American has published in this country since 1913. We answer that people will treat his songs as they treat the work of every author, i.e., they will pick out what is good and reject what is bad. And what is good in Pound's work is quite unusually good and what is bad is very bad indeed. We do not "flee, howling in terror," but we do hold our nose as we pick over the muck to find the jewels.

The author shows himself a somewhat stern critic of his own work:

Come, my songs, let us express our baser passions,
Let us express our envy of the man with a steady job and no worry about the future.
You are very idle, my songs.
I fear you will come to a bad end. . . .
. . . .
And I?
I have gone half cracked.

We confess to some sympathy when he says:

Come, my friend, and remember
That the rich have butlers and no friends,
And we have friends and no butlers.

But we are puzzled when he asks the poetic question:

Why does the horse-faced lady of just the unmentionable age
Walk down Longacre reciting Swinburne to herself, inaudibly?

It is a real pity that one who can feel so keenly, and write so beautifully—as can Ezra Pound at his best—should much of the time produce material that is unworthy his pen, and say:

O Mercury, patron of thieves,
Lend me a little tobacco-shop, or install me in any profession
Save this damn'd profession of writing, where one needs one's brains all the time.

UNCLE JEFF SNOW SAYS:

"Food will win the war; don't waste it," says Uncle Sam in a special message to ever' man, woman and child, that he sends postage free, on ever' letter mailed. It's the truth, but only half the truth. The other half is that idle land spec'lators ain't doin' nothin' whatsomever to win the war by holdin' land out of use, and that, for want of the idle land, food, labor, transportation, money and lives is wasted. Uncle Sam should have his legend amended somethin' as follers: "Food will win the war; don't waste it. Land will raise food; don't allow it to be held out of use by spec'lators."—[Oregon Journal.

OUR TOOL POWER TO WIN THE WAR.

BY HENRY FORD.

We Americans can win the war—but only if we throw the whole weight of our industries and tool power into the balance. This war is the greatest engineering feat the world has ever known. The side that musters the best machinery will win.

The United States produces half the steel and half the coal of the world. Converted into machinery of warfare, this would be decisive on the west front.

Russia, with a man power of 185,000,000, was almost entirely lacking in machine power. She mobilized 15,000,000 men, but she sent them into battle poorly equipped, armed with obsolete rifles, small caliber guns, and in many cases only with clubs. This poorly-equipped and poorly-armed army was pitted against the vastly-superior rifles, machine guns and large-caliber cannon which were turned out in vast quantities by great factories and a highly-organized railroad system in Germany. Russia lost 5,000,000 men and her power collapsed.

Trenches can be conquered and the stalemate of the west front broken if we develop and use the right machinery. A small tank can be made for attack that will carry two men and a machine gun with armor protection strong enough to resist the hail of machine-gun bullets and shrapnel splinters. Such tanks, if standardized to one model, could be produced at the rate of 1000 or 2000 a day. Once production was started 90,000 tanks could be made in three months.

Distributed equally along the west front this would place one tank every eighteen feet. In each tank two men, shielded by armor plate with a machine gun, would have the offensive power of fifty soldiers with rifles. That advantage would come from possession of the better piece of fighting machinery. Soldiers would stand in line to have a chance to attack in such outfits.

TRACTORS AND FOOD.

In our food problems also we have failed to realize that the solution lies in the increase of tool power on the land. The farms of England, France and America have been drained of their men, first to fill the armies, then to fill the munition factories; so that today food production lags. For three decades men have been leaving the farm to get to the easier work of the factories and on railroads, where engine power has removed the drudgery of heavy muscular labor. The curse of Adam—to "labor in the sweat of thy brow"—still rests upon farm workers.

It remains for America to carry engine power to agriculture. Until 1850 harvesting and threshing were done by human muscles using sickle, scythe and flail. Then America invented the binder and harvesting machine and shifted these two tasks to the animal. Today America must substitute engine power for human and animal muscles on all kinds of farm work.

A tractor engine will plow, harvest, seed, pull binders, make hay, cut ensilage, pump water, churn and do the chores for the farm. It will multiply the power of every farm worker and give him new joy and pride in his work. It will keep the boy on the farm. With the aid of tractors a reduced number of farm laborers can still produce a full crop.

One tractor sent to France or England now will produce fifty times its weight and bulk in wheat and food this year. One ship carrying tractors now is as good as fifty ships carrying food next fall.

We shall get more food not by book-keeping and clerical regulation in the cities, but by the use of more and better machinery on the land.

LEADERS AND LABOR.

Success in producing great quantities of industrial output from our factories depends upon two things: leadership and labor. These must work in confidence and harmony with each other. Absentee control can never get the best out of the factory. The heads of industry must live close to their work; they must know metals and machines and be ready to give every man a square deal.

The ease with which we have been able to increase production at the Ford plant was due largely to the willing co-operation of a vast army of workers. We have had no strike, no wage discussion. Our men have willingly, eagerly turned to every task that has been set for them. They know that the company is not seeking profit from war work. Corporate and business leadership that measures its success by war profits in the balance sheet cannot object if workmen take the same viewpoint. Yet today smooth team work between labor and leadership are needed for the very life of our nation. Today every man must lose himself in order to find, with his fellow-men, his soul anew in the nation.

Our democracy is on trial. Can our institutions bring out the latent energies of our people, and the moral forces of discipline and order? Can we subordinate individual selfishness and profiteering to the welfare of the group? If so—and I am sure that we can—we shall win the war.

"HO-HUM'S" LONG NAP.

An Indiana farm community near Crown Point is much interested, says Capper's Weekly, in a hog that goes by the appropriate name of "Ho-Hum." In June of last year Ho-Hum disappeared. Later he was found sleeping in a snug little hole he had burrowed in a straw stack. Summer passed and still Ho-Hum slumbered. When the bitter winter came Ho-Hum only burrowed deeper into the straw. A few days ago the scent of spring seemed to wake the hog. With a grunt and a squeal he rushed from the stack to the trough and ate a square meal for the first time in eight months and eighteen days. When Ho-Hum began his nap he weighed 270 pounds. The day he emerged he was found to weigh only fifty. His nap almost cost him a pound in weight a day.

A conscientious objector is an animated paradox; he is continually demanding protection from the government he declines to protect.

No liquor can be shipped by Postmaster Clark McClatchie, when informed of the new ordinance opening to the liquor dealers, but regulations not permitting liquor to go into the mails for several days yet and not as the result of new legislation. Shipments may be made either by express or freight.

A new charter for Pasadena which contains an alternative, either dry or with hotel or restaurant delivery for household consumption as it stands at present, is to be voted on at the election next November.

Sergt. Arthur Guy Empey, author of "Over the Top," did not get his hand-to-hand contest with the forces of darkness and the Kaiser. Brought up the corners where you are!

The German Crown Prince appears to be doing well in spite of the lack of food in Germany. He never complains of hunger and his supply of cigarettes appears to be inexhaustible.

Some of the grocers insist that the food administration have control of profits; but the woman who goes to the Dutchman's around the corner for something for dinner cannot be convinced.

It is announced that the new Russian government will accept a war loan from the United States. We do not strike Lenine and Trotzky. They have all the money in the contracted country.

Under the provisions of a bill introduced in Congress death is made the penalty for certain acts of espionage and pro-Germanism. That just about makes the punishment fit the crime.

How many times have you been running through your head a certain tune that you could not identify the label to save your life? You think of it all day and went to bed with it scooting through your thoughts. You get up in the morning and it is still elusive. What is the best thing to take for a condition like that?

The sun was a slacker on the first work day of the daylight saving plan. The luminary was obscured all day and to make it worse it was cloudy Monday, too. When we scrap for work in our war garden, as well as programme of all patriotic events it was too dark to feed the hogs or milk rams. But there are not many foggy and cloudy days in Southern California.

The mark of an actor used to be that he could play Shakespearean roles well, but it is no longer so. Robert Mantell is the only man before the public eye today who is succeeding in the dramas of the world's dramatist of all time. There must be a successor born to the Bard of Avon, but he is nowhere in sight. The masterpieces that he so gloriously wrought will never be equaled.

I may not lift a hand to clear
My eyes of salty drops that sear
(Then shall my fickle soul forget Thy Agony of Bloody Sweat?)
My rifle hand is stiff and numb

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 3.—An epidemic of appendicitis seems loose among the exclusive set, Miss Delphine Dibblee, well known in society circles over the Coast, having been taken to the Cottage Hospital and operated upon today. Her condition is described as satisfactory. Mrs. George Bruce Douglass, who was operated on last week, is improving steadily, and Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield Taylor, who is making a brave fight with a complication of pneumonia, appendicitis and gall stones, is said to have more than a fighting chance.

Commissioner of Immigration to Address Pasadenans.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, April 3. — New sources of supply for cocktail ingredients and distilled liquors were suggested yesterday to prospective purchasers in the Crown City, who were ready to quit the very festive beverages when the wholesale supply was curtailed to the lighter wines and beers in Los Angeles, by an agent, described as wearing a diamond stickpin and representing himself as being from San Francisco.

From the Bay City can be shipped packages of wet goods, said the individual of the diamond pin, and delivered in Pasadena far cheaper than at prices prevalent in Los Angeles before the ordinance went into effect.

The present city charter of Pasadena permits the delivery of liquors, wines and beers from outside territory. This charter was adopted in 1911 and confirms and refers to an ordinance passed in 1911 which prohibits soliciting for the sale of any kind of liquor, according to City Attorney James H. Howard.

AGENT ENCROACHING.

As far as is known to the police the San Francisco agent took no orders, but the fact that he was advertising the fact that liquors could be had and intimated that shortly an agency would be established in Los Angeles for deliveries from San Francisco might be interpreted as nothing, was the opinion of the City Attorney.

The San Francisco business promises wide ramifications in the Southland as business may be conducted in Long Beach and other cities that have dry ordinances. From one source it was learned that liquor interests in the northern city were to use Watts as a base of supply, shipping by express from there.

No liquor can be shipped by mail, Postmaster Clark McClain said, when informed of the new channels opening to the liquor dealers, postal regulations not permitting liquor to be sent by the mails for several years past and not as the result of recent legislation. Shipments may be made either by express or freight.

A new charter for Pasadena which contains an alternative, either bone dry or with hotel or restaurant and grocery for household consumption as it is at present, is to be voted upon at the election next November.

Lieut. Arthur Guy Empey, author of "Over the Top," did not get below Pittsburgh, Pa., with his lecture itinerary, which was to have brought him here during the latter part of this month, under the auspices of the Army and Navy Union, according to information received by Dr. John Willis Baer, who had conducted the arrangements.

At Pittsburgh the doughty lecturer was criticised by the newspapers because of the financial arrangements and he returned to New York, refusing to renew the tour, evading civil suits because of broken contracts, stated letters received in Pasadena. It is said that Empey was willing to give 50 per cent of the proceeds of his lectures to the funds of the organization under the auspices of which he lectured, and that when his manager, Lee Keedick would not agree, he would go no farther.

Keedick wrote to Dr. Baer refusing the latter to use persuasion with Empey, but Dr. Baer declined to do so.

AMERICANIZATION.

Frederick C. Howe, Commissioner of Immigration at the port of New York, is to be the speaker at a mass meeting at the High School auditorium, Thursday night, under the auspices of the Pasadena Women's Civic League and the Board of Trade. His subject will be "Americanization; After the War, What?" Several years close study on the problems of the immigrant have made Mr. Howe an authority and his message is said to be of great interest.

"Night at an Inn," one of Lord Dunsany's latest one-act plays, together with "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France, will be given at the Pasadena High School auditorium as a benefit for the Pasadena Day Nursery and the Pasadena Dispensary next Saturday night.

The productions are to be under the auspices of the Thalia Club and well-known society folk, with considerable ability are taking in the cast. The Dunsany play is a short but amazing tragedy and will be followed by the rare comedy of Anatole France. Among these having parts are Mrs. Samuel Cupples Mrs. Rufus Spaulding, Mrs. L. Krebbs, Dr. Cecil Reynolds, Mrs. Beeds, Eric Douglas and Malt- Bishop.

EPIDEMIC OF APPENDICITIS.

Three Members of Santa Barbara's Exclusive Set are Stricken.

[PRESS WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 3. An epidemic of appendicitis seems loose among the exclusive set. Miss Delphine Dibble, well known in society circles over the Coast, having been taken to the Cottage Hospital and operated upon today. Her condition is described as satisfactory. Mrs. George Brown Douglass, who was operated on last week, is improving steadily, and Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield Taylor, who is making a brave fight with a complication of pneumonia, appendicitis and gall stones, is said to have more than a fighting chance.

FULL YEAR FOR ROBBING ROOSTS.

Four Sentences Imposed on Man for Stealing Neighbor's Hens.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ARTESIA, April 3. — Four separate sentences was the prize drawn by O. C. Daniels in Judge Perry's court yesterday, because of having too great a fondness for other people's barn yard fowls. The first sentence was a $200 cash fine, which he promptly paid; the second a jail sentence of ninety days; the third 125 days, and the fourth and final 150 days, making a total of one year in jail. He was caught red-handed last Friday night by Constable Freeman with a sack containing forty fowls in his possession, which in his plea of guilty he admitted having taken from the yards of H. M. Barcus at Bell Station. He restored the fowls to their owners in hope of securing a suspension of the sentences. He confessed to four offenses and was sentenced on each count.

MODERN DAIRY.

W. F. Holt Improving His Fine Ranch in San Fernando Valley with New Buildings.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VAN NUYS, April 2.—W. F. Holt, known as the Father of Imperial Valley, after having disposed of his handsome estate at Redlands, is making his home on his ranch near Van Nuys, where he has already erected a palatial residence and where he will establish what will be as fine a dairy as there is in the State.

Originally one of the famous great sheep ranches of the Coast in early days, on which some of the historic buildings still stand, this ranch will now take first rank as a model dairy. Mr. Holt expects, as soon as building arrangements are sufficiently completed, to purchase a hundred pure blood Holsteins as a beginning.

The most up-to-date buildings and modern labor-saving devices and equipment are to be installed as rapidly as possible. Already three cottages for the use of managers of different ranch departments have been completed and work on the houses for dairy employees has begun. Grading and drainage work, though delayed by the heavy rains, is well under way.

Farm effort, in the short time since Mr. Holt's occupancy, has been largely concentrated on leveling, checking, and sowing alfalfa, of which thirty-five acres is already up. Alfalfa and silage corn will be the main crops.

The dairy itself will be in charge of C. C. Wooden, a man of wide experience, who sees a great future for the industry in this section.

CHAIRMAN NAMED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LANKERSHIM, April 2.—J. D. Marshal has been appointed head of the Third Liberty Loan drive for the Lankershim district, following his great success last fall when this district subscribed $22,300, far exceeding the maximum of $13,500 asked. The district has fifty stars on its service flag with the unusual proportion of seven already on French soil, several of whom volunteered early in thewar and have seen much active service. Lankershim believes in standing behind these boys in patriotic endeavor.

Location.

BIG EASTERN CANNER SEEKS SITE AT HARBOR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, April 2.—H. E. Nicholas of Eastport, Me., owner of the Sea Coast Canning Company at that place, which is the largest sardine cannery in the world, was in San Pedro today in company with President Gordon of the Harbor Commission looking over available cannery sites here.

Mr. Nicholas stated that his intentions are to locate a big new cannery either at San Pedro or San Diego, wherever the best inducement offers. The party made a trip about the harbor inspecting sites at Fish Harbor and East San Pedro. At present there are no additional sites of land available at Fish Harbor, but the eastern packer may be able to obtain a site which is not now in use there.

On account of the big demand for cannery sites here the Harbor Commission is planning to enlarge their territory at Fish Harbor by moving the jetty on the western side 200 feet for the entire length of the jetty. This will provide space for several canneries, and is believed to be a most practicable plan by President Gordon. Mr. Nicholas was very favorably impressed with the conditions and possibilities here.

HELD FOR ALLEGED SEDITIOUS REMARKS.

THINKS KAISER IS GREATEST MAN IN THE WORLD—BAIL FIXED AT $1000.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, April 2.—Charged with continuing to conduct himself in a disloyal manner by spreading seditious propaganda, Frederick Kallusch, who first came under police surveillance when he is said to have refused to salute the American flag during the recent upheaval in the Unitarian Church of this city over the issue of patriotism, and who last Friday was arrested for alleged disloyal utterances and released on $200 bail, was arrested again today.

Kallusch is charged specifically with making the assertion in public that Thomas Edison, the great American inventor, was a big fraud, and that ultimately the German U-boats will win the present war. He is also said to have made the statement that the American soldiers are only fighting for money.

He was arrested Friday on the charge of giving vent to alleged pro-German views and stating that the Kaiser was the greatest man in the world and would come out victorious in the present conflict.

RECORD BOND FIXED.

Kallusch was released on $200 bail on the first charge, and, pleading not guilty and demanding a jury trial, his case was set for April 17.

After again pleading not guilty today and asking for a jury trial, Judge Hawkins set a new high record for bail for a peace disturbance case by placing bond at $1000, which the alleged pro-German has not raised as yet.

MISS DEATH NARROWLY.

Fred B. Fritz, president of the Long Beach Civil Service Commission, and his wife weathered one of the most unusual automobile accidents in the history of the city today, escaping with but comparatively slight injuries.

The accident occurred at American avenue and Anaheim street. Mr. Fritz was driving his automobile east on Anaheim, intent upon motoring to "The Mission Play" at San Gabriel.

An outbound Los Angeles street car was approaching Anaheim, but Mr. Fritz states he saw a crowd on the corner and presumed the Pacific Electric train would stop for the passengers.

The machine was directly across the tracks when the collision occurred, but, without overturning, the automobile was shoved along the track for fifty feet, grinding the wheels of the motor car off and wrecking it beyond repair. Mrs. Fritz sustained two fractured ribs and Mr. Fritz escaped with slight bruises.

WANT SHOTGUNS.

Members of the Long Beach Council of Defense today, upon the suggestion of Adjt.-Gen. Borree, who stated the government is not in a position to furnish Home Guard units with rifles at this time, decided to investigate the feasibility of equipping the local companies with shotguns. Officials of the Council of Defense expressed the belief that plenty of shotguns could be secured for the Home Guards through the loan of such arms from patriotic citizens.

Long Beach City Commissioners today accepted the resignations of Deputy Tax Collector Clarence Dean and Miss Lena Cook, Deputy Treasurer. Miss Mildred Coleman was appointed to succeed Miss Cook.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR LOAN DRIVE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, April 2.—A house-to-house canvass to place a Liberty Bond in every home in the city is to begin on Saturday, and committees have been selected to do this. The General Committee consists of C. M. Brown, Mrs. Jennie Davis, A. E. Brock, H. H. Ford, Dr. M. J. Sweeney, B. W. Cave, Austin Park, H. W. Seager, D. W. Lefferts and Ben Hodge.

The Executive Committee is H. Garstin, H. W. Seager, C. H. Clock, J. H. Fisher and Ben Hodge. The Finance Committee is Philip Harris, C. A. Rolfe and A. Leipsic. The Corporations Committee is, M. J. Sweeney, H. H. Ford and J. H. Fisher. Nonresidents' Committee is T. H. Doan, Dwight Lefferts. Public Speaking is C. M. Brown and H. H. Garstin. District representative for women, Mrs. Jennie Davis.

Redlands has been given $412,000, and, while this is more than she has ever been asked to raise, the committee is determined to do it.

BREAKS WINDOW IN NIGHTMARE.

Then Wakes up and Surgeon Takes Fifteen Stitches in Leg and Foot.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, April 2.—Dr. E. S. Lawson became deeply involved in a nightmare during the course of his slumbers at his home on Belleview avenue and while coming out of it kicked through a French window near his bed. A surgeon who was called took fifteen stitches in the wounds caused in his foot and leg by the shattered glass.

TRADING IN WALL STREET SHRINKS TO SMALL TOTAL.

Lack of Definite Advices from the Battle Front Chief Deterrent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Transactions on the stock market today amounted to only about 160,000 shares, the most insignificant total for a full session, with one or two exceptions, since the midsummer of 1916. At no time since this country's entry into the war was public participation at such low ebb. This attitude was transmitted to the trading element, where the new tax ruling dealing with short sales imposed additional hazards.

Lack of definite advices from across the water was perhaps the chief deterrent, but the undertone, aside from moderate heaviness of investment rails, indicated no diminution of confidence in the outcome of the German drive.

Pressure against a few special stocks such as Studebaker and kindred issues resulted from recognized trade conditions and resultant doubtful dividend prospects.

Oils, utilities and some minor equipments denoted increased uncertainty regarding new Federal price schedules, and irregular reactions in secondary specialties were ascribed to abatement of pool activity.

Coppers forfeited part of yesterday's gains, Miami losing 2 points of the reduced dividend, and reversals of a point in shippings followed moderate offerings of Marine, pfd. United States Steel forfeited a large fraction with affiliated issues.

Call money was extremely easy by reason of the apathetic stock market, being in plentiful supply at 3 per cent. Numerous time loans for the shorter periods were made at 6 per cent.

The general bond list lost little ground, but Liberty issues, except the 3½'s, were heavy. Total sales (par value) aggregated $4,550,000. United States old issues were unchanged on call.

STOCK EXCHANGE MARKET WEAKENS.

RICHMOND COPPER BECOMES ACTIVE—WILL RESUME ORE SHIPMENTS.

Richmond Mining & Milling Co., a copper property of the Couer d'Alene district of Idaho, has been listed on the local exchange for some months, but was called last Saturday for the first time. Word comes from the mine that shipments will be resumed shortly and ore already blocked out is sufficient to meet eighteen months' shipping requirements. Resumption of dividends is anticipated not later than July. Opening on the local board at 32, Richmond has been active up to 35, and was bid yesterday at 33, with 35 asked.

Yesterday's market was a little more active than Monday, the trading being confined as for some time past to Oatman stocks, oil stocks and Liberty Bonds, with one sale of L. A. Investment in the industrial list at 30. With the exception of Liberty Bonds and Union Oil the market was rather depressed, with a slight decline in the tone of the mining list, industrial list and some oils.

Union Oil is showing decided strength again, advancing yesterday to 104.37½, opening at 104, and stock sold up to the former figure, closing at 104.25, with 104.37½ asked. Liberty Bonds are selling at practically the New York market, 3½s being quoted yesterday at 98 3-8, and all 4s at 96 1-3.

FIND A JOKER IN ORDINANCE.

Master Painters had Made a Closed Shop Pact.

Councilman Mallard Scores Attempt to Deceive.

Vote Shows Five are Against Throttling Measure.

When it developed yesterday that the Master Painters' Association had entered into an agreement with the journeymen painters to make Los Angeles a "closed" town, so far as the painting industry is concerned, the Council, sitting as a committee of the whole, turned down the proposed ordinance providing for the licensing of painting, and their placing under bond. Those who refused to bow to the will of the labor-union gangsters were Messrs. Mallard, Cleaveland, Consaway, Olsen and True.

Several months ago one of the leaders of the Master Painters' Association asserted that the purpose of the proposed ordinance was to protect citizens against unscrupulous contractors and journeymen painters who want to unionize the painting industry. It was stated that a walking delegate of the unionites threatened to tie up the industry unless the Master Painters' Association would agree to "close" the city against nonunion painters and fix the wage scale at $5 per day, with Saturday afternoons off.

Members of the Council accepted the information as truth, and it was stated at the time that a majority would support the ordinance. Yesterday, however, it became known that the Master Painters' Association had accepted the proposition of the unionites, the only exception being that the wage scale was to be fixed at $4.50 per day.

"We would not stand for this agreement," said Councilman Mallard. "I am in favor of allowing any man to accept a contract and opposed to creating a trust. We probably should adopt an ordinance to license all contractors, and take licenses from those who are found to be unscrupulous, but I am opposed to trust methods."

It was said yesterday that at the meeting last Friday of the Painters Union the statement was made that a majority of the Council would vote for the ordinance, but they reckoned without their host.

Starter for bread: 1 lb. mashed potatoes, 1¼ oz. sugar, 2 qts. water, 1 yeast cake.

Let stand over night. Reserve 1 pint to use instead of yeast cake for next baking.

Mrs. E. J. Hastings, San Fernando, Cal.

In the food exhibition of the Los Angeles City Council of Defense there has been much discussion from time to time among those taking part in the home economics demonstrations as to the relative cost of different varieties of bread baked under the government requirements of substitution of cereals, and also the relative cost of home baked bread and bakers' bread.

As a result of this, certain tests have been made, keeping accurate account of weights, quantities and cost of all materials used. The third test was tabulated with the following results:

State Normal School, Home Economics Department.

Barley yeast bread: Unbaked, 13 oz.; baked, 10 oz.; cost, 10c.

Wheat yeast bread: Unbaked, 22 oz.; baked, 20 oz.; cost, 8c.

Rye yeast bread: Unbaked, 26 oz.; baked, 24 oz.; cost, 9c.

Potato yeast bread: Unbaked, 18 oz.; baked, 16 oz.; cost, 8c.

SEES NO DANGER OF MILITARISM.

FORT M'ARTHUR COMMANDER FAVORS UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

"There need be no fear of militarism in this country; the army is simply the bulwark of the nation in time of war and can never affect the conduct of honorable private citizens," declared Col. J. W. C. Abbott, commander of the troops at Fort MacArthur, in an address before the Ad Club at their noonday luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Clark. Col. Abbott also expressed himself in favor of universal military training, saying that just as a volunteer fire department is wholly inadequate, so is an entirely volunteer army.

"Culture is shot through with efficiency," he declared. "Men entering the army with a good high school education, plus a course in a thorough technical school, stand a splendid chance of rapid promotion."

Col. Abbott is inclined to doubt the existence of the much-talked-of German long range gun that is said to have been bombarding Paris, although he said that such a weapon is possible.

Miss Jane Anderson, the woman war writer, who has just returned from the front, spoke on "The Spirit that Wins Wars and Liberates Nations," saying that the remarkable fortitude of the French and British is putting them forward in the struggle. She added that the same spirit to a large extent is being shown in this country, and that it is what will make us win.

Miss Maude Oyler, a teacher at Manual Arts, spoke on "The Psychology of Hiring and Firing" as regards commercial methods.

PRODUCER HELD IN FILM THEFT CASE.

Arthur Horsley, a film producer, was ordered held to answer in the Superior Court in $2000 bail at his preliminary examination yesterday before Justice Palmer on the charge of having received stolen property.

The complaint against Horsley stipulates that on November 3, 1917, he received a film valued at $4450 alleged to have been stolen by Alfred Davies from the Fox Film Corporation.

David Horsley, a brother, was also charged with the same offense, but upon proof having been produced that he had had nothing to do with the transaction Justice Palmer dismissed the case.

Food.

LESS WHEAT IS NEWEST ORDER.

No Bread for Cafe Customer Unless He Asks It.

Hotels with Own Bakeries Must Get License.

Cornmeal Goes Down, Eggs go up in Price.

Sayre Macneil, State chairman of Food Supplies Commitee, held a conference yesterday with Louis M. Cole, City Food Administrator; Frank Suffel, License Administrator, and Chairman Lambert of the Restaurant Central Committe, and explained in detail the new rules governing hotels, restaurants and dining-rooms.

A new addition to the rules says: "Attention is called to the fact that it is unlawful for any hotel, dining-room or restaurant to serve bread, rolls, crackers, spaghetti, macaroni, cakes, pies or doughnuts to any customer without the customer specifically ordering the same. If so ordered, this wheat product must be served with the main meal."

There has been considerable misunderstanding on the part of the restaurant owners over the seeming discrepancy and unfairness of the six pounds of wheat flour per person per month order, and the rule that only two ounces of wheat products may be served with meals in public eating places.

STRIKES AN AVERAGE.

It was pointed out by Mr. Macneil that by subtracting the wheatless days and the wheatless meals, the average of two ounces will apply to the household, as well as to the public eating houses.

Attention is also called to the fact that all hotels, restaurants and dining-rooms which operate their own bakeries and use more than three barrels of flour each month, must take out a Federal license.

In accordance with a recent bulletin from the Milling Division headquarters of the Food Administration, F. S. Coates, manager of the Sperry Flour Company in this city, announced yesterday that the millers will at once begin a canvass of the community for whatever stocks of wheat there may be available for grinding. The bulletin declares that all such stocks must be on the market by May 1 and intimates that a refusal to sell will result in confiscation. Mr. Coates says that there is now perhaps a ninety-day supply.

Mr. Cole said yesterday that he was in receipt of a telegram from the sugar committee of the Food Administration saying that beginning April 1, there will be a reduction of 10 cents on the hundred pounds of sugar to the wholesaler for all dealers in the eleven western States. This, it is believed, will greatly assist the canning industry, as it is the desire of the government that there be a large canning output this year.

EGG PRICES RISE.

The Fair Price Committe yesterday quoted a reduction of 4 cents on ten-pound lots of cornmeal, while selected eggs advanced 2 cents to both retailer and consumer.

Mr. Cole said yesterday that he is in hearty sympathy with the course of lectures being held each afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, and recommended that all interested in garden cultivation or poultry raising attend some of the lectures on these subjects.

This afternoon there will be a meeting of all county administrations at the Chamber of Commerce. It is now believed there is not a locality in Los Angeles county which is without an official representative of the National Food Administration.

HERE ARE FAIR FOOD PRICES.

Quotations Show What You Should Pay Today for Things to Eat.

The following official quotations on foodstuffs, fixed by the Los Angeles Fair Price Committee of the Food Administration as neither a minimum nor a maximum, but as constituting a fair price for the commodities named, are now in effect:

Potatoes—Fancy Highlands, 100 pounds, wholesale, $1.30-$1.40; retail, 1¾-1¾ cents per pound; fancy locals, 100 pounds, wholesale, $1.15-$1.25; retail, 1¾-1¾ cents per pound; fancy Idaho, wholesale, $1.10-$1.20; retail, 1¾-1¾ cents per pound.

Bread—24-ounce, wholesale, 12 cents; retail, 14 cents; 16 ounces, wholesale, 8 cents; retail, 10 cents.

Butter—Creamery, extra, 1-pound carton, wholesale, 44-45 cents; retail, 49-50 cents.

RED CROSS AFFAIRS

The Needlework Guild, which now devotes all its labor of love to Red Cross work under the national recognition of the government, is planning a gala flower day for May 4, which will not be quite like any other flower day, and has already received the blessing of the powers that be.

The big vacant lot at the corner of Seventh and Hill streets has been contributed for the occasion, and it will be transformed into a wonder flower market, bowers of roses, green arbors and radiant masses of bloom, with society dames and debutantes for flower sellers, and every lovely garden in town sending down their contributions. The idea was brought to Los Angeles by Mrs. Maurice Crone of Baltimore, who wanted to see Southern California's wealth of flowers enlisted to war service.

The lot will be laid out for the event by a professional landscape gardener, Miss Florence Yoch, and among other features there will be a floral stage upon which a cabaret entertainment will take place in the open air in the evening. A lunch will be served, strictly on war lines. Mrs. E. P. Johnson will be in charge of this, and Mrs. Michael J. Connell of the entertainment. Orders will be taken the day before for special dollar baskets of flowers, which will be delivered by charming feminine chauffeurs in their own cars.

NINE CHILDREN SO FAR.

But Number is not Conclusive Explains Beneficiary of Brother's Will.

Edward Lawrence Sargent, who died on March 21, 1917, leaving an estate valued at $11,744, wrote his own will, giving the property to his brother, S. B. Sargent, now a resident of this city, in trust for the latter's children.

The will was offered for probate yesterday, and when S. B. Sargent was on the stand, he was asked by Judge Rives:

"How many children have you?"

"Nine, but I want it understood that the number nine is not conclusive."

The will was probated.

CHARGE MAN POSED AS PHYSICIAN ILLEGALLY.

Charged with practicing medicine without a license, A. M. Foote appeared for trial yesterday morning before Police Judge Frederickson at Normal Hill Center. He is being prosecuted by the State Medical Board. According to the State officers, Foote represented himself to be a physician to Evelyn Gary, a young woman, upon whom he performed a delicate operation.

The jury, which will hear the case was chosen yesterday and the case set for hearing for 10 o'clock this morning.

HELD TO ANSWER.

John A. Gibson was held to answer to the Superior Court by Justice Palmer yesterday on a charge of forgery. He was taken into custody today at Ash Fork, Ariz., on a charge of having embezzled an automobile from the Greer-Robins Company of this city. He was held in $1000 bail.

NOW AN INSPECTOR.

Howard Switzer, for five years a clerk in the office of the local post-office inspectors, who was recently appointed an inspector following a civil service examination, has been ordered to report for duty at St. Paul, and he left for that city yesterday.
